10 MEN CHOSEN TO BEGIN PEARL HARBOR PROBE

Barkley Expected to Head Group

BY LAURENCE BURD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14—The inquiry by congress into the Pearl Harbor disaster was scheduled to get under way early next week following today's appointment of 10 members, five from each house, to investigate that catastrophe and other events leading up to the Jap attack.

Sen. Barkley

The joint committee is expected to have for its chairman Majority Leader Barkley [D., Ky.], one of the five senators named by Senate President McKellar. Its membership includes three Democrats and two Republicans from each house.

Senate members, besides Barkley, are George [Ga.] and Lucas [Ill.], Democrats, and Ferguson [Mich.] and Brewster [Me.], Republicans.

House members, named by Speaker Rayburn, are Cooper [Tenn.], Clark [N. C.], and Murphy [Pa.], Democrats, and Keefe [Wis.] and Gearhart [Cal.], Republicans.

Barkley Takes a Trip

Barkley left the capital today for a week-end trip home, but other members said they expect the committee's first meeting will be held as soon as Barkley returns the first of next week. The committee has until Jan. 3 to make its report to congress.

Rayburn's choice of house members gave credence to yesterday's report that the house speaker was seeking by political maneuvering to exclude from the inquiry members of the military and naval committees, who have been among the most astute investigators of the Pearl Harbor fiasco. None of the house appointees are members of these committees.

Rayburn's plan was reportedly directed primarily toward eliminating Sen. Walsh [D., Mass.], head of the senate naval committee, from the chairmanship of the joint inquiry, after administration fears were expressed that Walsh would spare no high officials, living or dead, in seeking out the facts.

Omit Short and Mott

The house speaker succeeded in getting minority leader Martin [R., Mass.] to withdraw Rep. Short [R., Mo.] and Rep. Mott [R., Ore.] as

BUYING RUSH IS ON FOR PEARL HARBOR EXPOSE BY FLYNN

All available copies of John T. Flynn's pamphlet, "The Final Secret of Pearl Harbor," had been sold out before the end of the first day they were placed on sale at The Tribune public service offices, 1 S. Dearborn st. and in Tribune Tower. More copies will be ready for sale Monday.

Many of the purchasers bought several copies and some took 15, saying they intended sending them to friends. The price is 25 cents each, or $1 for six copies. John Gillespie, manager of the public service office, said that nearly all back copies of the Sept. 2 issue of The Tribune, containing results of Flynn's investigation of the Pearl Harbor disaster, had been sold before the republication in pamphlet form was available.

Mail orders for copies have been received from every part of the country. A Rhode Island citizen seeking additional copies wrote in part: "It is unfortunate that a New Englander has to subscribe to a Chicago newspaper to get a true picture of what is going on in the United States of America."

'Death March' General Goes to Surrender

TOKYO, Sept. 15 Saturday—The arrogant Japanese general whose men perpetrated the horrifying "death march of Bataan" appeared in Japanese police custody today and said he was ready to surrender to Gen. MacArthur.

"I am ready to take responsibility for any act of my subordinates," Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, the man who dictated Gen. Jonathan Wainwright's 1942 surrender of the Philippines, told Al Dopking, Associated Press correspondent, at a railroad station.

Homma was high on the list of 47 men whose arrests were ordered by MacArthur.

Death Doctor Held.

Another man on that list, Dr. Tokuda, accused of conducting death-resulting experiments on allied prisoners of war at Shinagawa camp, was turned over to the 8th army today along with six others on the "wanted" list. They were surrendered in a group by the Japanese.

Besides Tokuda, they were:

Paratap Mahendra, president of the "Aryan army," an Indian "Quisling" organization.

Japanese Col. Suzuki, commanding officer of the Shinagawa prison camp, alleged to be responsible for atrocities there.

James Sakaki, chief civilian interpreter at the Ofuna camp, accused of responsibility for mistreatment of prisoners there.

Accused of Mistreatment

Sgt. Tokio Tobata, Shinagawa camp guard, accused of mistreatment of prisoners.

Josias van Dienst, accused of broadcasting anti-allied propaganda in Dutch over Tokyo radio.

Dr. Thein Maung, puppet Burmese ambassador to Japan.

Homma said there was a great deal of confusion after the American surrender of Bataan and Corregidor.

"I, myself, didn't give the details in carrying out orders of surrender," he said, altho he accepted the surrender from Wainwright.

Homma said that Americans and Filipinos were forced to march because of lack of conveyances by the Japanese army at that time. He added that he saw no indications that Americans were abused.

Didn't Know Setup

He said he didn't know what arrangements his staff had made because of the great deal of confusion.

He gave no reason for his retirement from the army in 1943 after 38 years of service.

Homma wept to his home at Sado after the Americans began the occupation of Tokyo and was there, he said, when friends informed him they had heard over the radio that he was wanted by MacArthur.

American army counter-intelligence officers had not made an attempt to pick him up, altho Associ-

Papers Roll Off Japanese Presses for Yanks

BY ROBERT CROMIE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

TOKYO, Sept. 14—The first American newspaper printed since the war's end appeared in Tokyo today. It was the overseas edition of The Chicago Tribune, 3,000 copies of which rolled off Japanese presses.

Donald Starr, Chicago Tribune war correspondent and proud father of previous overseas editions in Sydney, Australia, and Manila, promptly became the first American newsboy in Japan and distributed 2,400 copies to the special service officer of the 8th army, who promised to see that they reached every 8th army unit on the island of Honshu.

Starr, enroute to Yokohama with the papers, also stopped whenever he saw Yanks on the street and handed copies to them on the theory that every branch of the service should see Dick Tracy.

Waitresses Distribute Copies

This evening, to add a thoroly international touch, Starr had 200 copies distributed in the grill room of the Daiichi hotel to newsmen and press officers—the distributors being Japanese waitresses.

The first copy of today's edition was autographed by Gen. MacArthur and the second by Gen. Eichelberger, commander in chief of the 8th army, and both will be sent as souvenirs to the Chicago Tribune office.

Starr began searching for newsprint and presses as soon as Tokyo was occupied Sept. 8 and found both at the Toppan press, once one of the largest printers in Tokyo. Jap workmen under Starr's pantomime direction made the plates from photographic reproductions of the pages and printed the issue in five days.

Will Fly Plates to Tokyo

The photographs, in miniature size, were flown by airmail from the United States—the trip taking about 10 days—but future weekly issues will hit the streets approximately on the issue date, since the army has granted a special air priority enabling the plates to be flown directly to Tokyo.

The army has taken over the Imperial hotel in Tokyo where The Chicago Tribune's former reading room is to be reopened soon. Weekly copies of the Overseas, as well as copies of the daily Tribune, when available, will be placed in the reading room.

Death Rides the Rails as GIs Fight Looting by Russians

BY HENRY WALES
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BERLIN, Sept. 14—Danger and death ride the rails with American soldiers guarding the supply trains thru the Red army zone to Berlin. Today I visited a group of four GI's who convoyed a gasoline train from the United States railhead at Helmstedt 150 miles over a single track Russian line to the Tempelhof switching yards.

"We didn't have any excitement this trip," said Pvt. Samuel Opipara, of Pittsburgh, Pa. "There's never any trouble with carrying gas—it's food and post exchange stuff—cigarets, chocolate, and candy—that make the trouble. Everybody along the line seems to know when we have PX stuff aboard and that is when we have got to watch the Russkies."

Russian Kills Yank

The railway guards are selected from the 379th anti-aircraft battalion stationed at Helmstedt and the boys still talk about the death of T/Sgt. Carfaglia, of Cleveland, O., from D battery, who was killed by a Red soldier when he tried to prevent the man from breaking open a boxcar door.

Pvt. Owen Davis of Washington, Pa., related the incident. "They were kicking along with 40 boxcars jammed with PX supplies—cigarets and candy—and the Russkies set a red light at some ham bone town and they stopped," he said. "Then a bunch of Russian soldiers ran out with sledge hammers and began smashing open the cars. Carfaglia warned them, then shot over their heads and a big Russian dropped his sledge and pulled his automatic and let him have it. They did not find Carfaglia's body for a couple of days and then they discovered it in a ditch."

Negro Slays Eight Reds

"A big American Negro from Arkansas killed eight Russians a couple of weeks ago," said William Lewis of Parkersburg, W. Va. "The Russians stopped a train and broke into a boxcar where a lot of Negro quartermaster corps men were riding. I guess the Russians never saw colored men before because they started to drag them out of the car to look them over. This big black fellow pulled his gun and shot four of them, then pulled a knife and cut down four more and they say all eight of them are dead."

"We had to give a bunch of Russians a burst a couple of days ago," said Pvt. Clifford Daily of Florence, Ala. "They stopped a train and got tough and wanted to climb aboard so we pumped a tommy gun at the ground about 20 feet in front of them and I saw a couple of them get hit in the feet and legs."

"Yeh, the army gave us these babies a few days ago," said Victor Dennis of Manchester, N. H., as he patted the slotted barreled tommy gun. "Those Garands [M-1 rifles] weren't fast enough if you got jumped by a bunch of Russkies."

Germans Cause No Trouble

"The Germans don't give us any trouble but hitch-hiking," said John Dzien, 1039 N. Wood st., Chicago. "They climb right on top of the axles and you gotta use a flashlight to find them but they never make any trouble."

"Some Russians took pot shots at a train carrying ammunition and blew up one car," said Pvt. Roy Schmidt, 8356 S. Wabash av., Chicago. "I guess the exploding shells scared the Russkies to death because we saw them running and dodging fragments."

Col. Leonard Boyer, Kirkwood, Mo., in charge of railway operations into the Berlin area, said that the American railway men could move four times as many trains over the one track line as the Russians.

RED BID REPORTED

Russia has asked the Big Five foreign ministers for a share of Italy's possessions, possibly the Dodecanese Islands, it was reported in London last night. Story on page 5.

Report Havoc 'Colossal' on Isle in Indies

Miami, Fla., Sept. 14 (AP)—A tropical hurricane described as relatively small but extremely dangerous, roared toward the Florida Keys tonight after reportedly creating "colossal" havoc in Turks' islands, British West Indies, with winds in excess of 150 miles an hour.

A Turks Island observer reported to weather officials that the 150 mile wind felt there was a "conservative estimate." No other information came out of the stricken island at the eastern fringe of the Bahamas.

The storm at 10 p. m. Chicago time was centered about 310 miles southeast of Miami, moving west-northwestward, and gave no indication at that hour of a recurve toward the north which would bring it closer to populous cities on Florida's "Gold Coast."

Fly Thu Center

Six army men who flew thru the storm to its very eye reported its velocity was so great that it threatened a potential major disaster to any big city it might strike.

The federal storm warning service estimated that squalls would be felt in this area tomorrow morning, building up to gales and then howling hurricane winds as the center passed probably over the Florida Keys Saturday afternoon. The Keys were ravaged by a terrific hurricane on Labor day, 1935, in which more than 500 persons died.

Thousands Flee

Thousands of persons in exposed areas fled to safety. Downtown hotels and garages filled up as persons drove in from outlying areas. Army buses were dispatched to the keys to move out residents.

Schools, police stations and other public buildings thruout south Florida were thrown open to refugees.

Several hundred combat casualties at big army hospitals in the Miami area, including the Biltmore hospital at Coral Gables, waited expectantly as windows were boarded up, extra mattresses placed in handy spots, medical supplies and cases of field rations were stored on each floor. The building is considered safe from winds of any velocity.

Fishing Boats Warned

Other hundreds of combat men at redistribution stations on Miami Beach were ordered to remain in their stormproof hotels.

More than 2,000 coast guardsmen with 200 auxiliary life saving vessels and 500 Red Cross volunteers were standing by.

Army, navy, and commercial airplanes sped out of the danger zone, and coast guard planes hedgehopped along isolated beaches and to fishing boats at sea dropping warnings for all to seek safety.

The navy evacuated 4,000 men from its Banana river air base at Cocoa, Fla., and air transport command men in field kit were ordered to shelter under the big steel and concrete grandstand at Hialeah park at midnight.

All along the south Florida "Gold coast," winter time paradise for vacationists, buildings and houses were being battened down, loose signs removed, and refuse bins tucked away.

NOW IT'S EASIER TO FORECAST WORLD WEATHER

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—The biggest blank spaces in the world's weather map were filled in today. Now it is easier to guess on Monday what conditions will be next Saturday on the other side of the globe.

The information became available by the taking over of Japanese meteorological operations by the United States, and thru the exchange of weather data between Russia and America.

A Moscow announcement revealed that Russia is exchanging weather reports with the United States nearly 1,000 times a day.

As for long range forecasts, I. R. Tannehill, chief of synoptic reports and forecasts, said predictions are now being made twice a week for five days in advance.

"At the end of the fifth day," he said, "our chances for success are about 50-50."

C-47 TRANSPORT CRASHES, BURNS; 2 OF 24 RESCUED

Kansas City, Kas., Sept. 15 [Saturday]—(AP)—A C-47 army plane carrying 24 men crashed in flames early today a few miles north of the Fairfax airport from which it had just taken off. Two men were taken from the burning plane to the General hospital in Kansas City, Mo. The plane had a crew of three men and 21 passengers.

Labor Blockade Decreed to Force Wage Boosts

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 14 [Special]—In an effort to force a 30 per cent wage increase, the CIO United Automobile Workers today adopted a revolutionary strike plan to single out and wreck one large corporation with a blockade of strikes while aiding the victim's competitors.

A short time later it was announced that the huge General Motors corporation had been selected as the target for the initial test of the devastating weapon, unless G. M. submits to the union's demands.

"Submit or Be Ruined"

This practical application of the vertical union, thru which strikes would be called in every department of one corporation until it is put out of business, was unveiled in the outlining of the union's post-war plans at the quarterly meeting of the CIO-UAW international executive board in Flint.

The "submit or be ruined" strategy will be used, union leaders said, to compel the automobile industry to negotiate on an industry-wide basis the union's demands for an average 30 per cent wage increase for all automotive workers.

Locals Notified

In serving the ultimatum on industry for a general boost in wage benefits it was explained that the total increase would be shared equally but be partly in sick and death benefits as well as providing a substantial raise in wages.

Walter Reuther, international vice president of the union, disclosed to representatives of UAW locals at General Motors plants at a meeting in Detroit, that their company had been selected for the inauguration of the blockade plan if it did not induce industry to submit to union demands.

Others "To go Along"

"We'll take on General Motors because it sets the wage policy for the entire industry," Reuther said. "Ford and Chrysler will go along with General Motors; I have learned that by experience.

"We'll strike at the time General Motors is the weakest and we are the strongest. If there is a strike it will probably be early in November or late in October. That is when the General Motors economic competitive setup would be least able to stand the strain because volume automobile production will be just getting underway and millions of people will be wanting automobiles."

George Romney, managing director of the automotive council for war production, said the principal objective of the CIO post-war plan is usurpation of the authority and functions of management.

Outlining the strategy to be used, Reuther said union representatives would first go to General Motors and ask that company to call an industry-wide conference on wages. He added that "if General Motors declines to do that, and I think they will, then the UAW will act."

"Not Just Another Grab"

"We have to get the case before the public before the facts can be challenged," Reuther declared. "We have to convince the public this is not just another grab.

"The present is the greatest opportunity ever offered for millions of workers to achieve better living conditions. The alternative is another war."

Explaining the union's new policy, R. J. Thomas, president of the union, said:

"If industry refuses to negotiate on an industry-wide basis, we will deal with individual companies on the following basis:

"First, we will pick out a company to close down. We will not just strike in one department or in one plant. We will call everybody out in every department in every city in which the company operates.

Will Aid Competitors

"Then we will see that its competitors get full 100 per cent production.

"We are informing our membership that the international union will not tolerate strikes of any kind during the campaign. We are planning to hold regional conferences in the west, middlewest, and east within the next month to explain the program to local representatives."

Strikes Against Suppliers Blamed for Shutdowns

OTHER STRIKE NEWS

Nearly 163,000 persons thruout the country were idle yesterday as the result of strikes outside the automobile industry. In Chicago more than 5,000 who were out on strike at the International Harvester company tractor works agreed to return to work today. Stories on page 2.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 14 [Special]—All automobile production by the Ford Motor company was halted late today by a company order that laid off 50,000 workers because of "crippling and unauthorized strikes" against its suppliers.

Henry Ford II. said the action forced upon the big firm would adversely affect every city and town in the country because all Ford suppliers will have to curtail work. He said 6,000 dealers will be hard hit and that more than 125,000 persons in addition to those laid off will be made to suffer.

"I am afraid it will be another year at least, perhaps even longer," he said in an interview, "before the average automobile owner will be able to buy a new car."

80,000 Now Idle

The Ford layoffs brought to approximately 80,000 the number of auto workers idle here and in neighboring Windsor, Ont., where a Ford strike is in its third day. Total Ford employment prior to the new layoff was 109,000 in all company branch plants thruout the country. Most of the remaining 59,000 are employed on maintenance or reconversion work.

In a statement issued over the name of Henry Ford II., executive vice president of the company, "irresponsible labor groups" were blamed for the cessation of production but were not identified by name. However, the CIO United Automobile Workers union has been involved in a number of strikes against Ford suppliers, one of which caused the temporary discharge of 30,000 Ford workers last week.

Forced to Halt Production

"After several weeks operations in the face of crippling and unauthorized strikes against many of our suppliers," Ford's statement said, "the Ford Motor company is being forced to halt virtually all of its production operations late today.

"We have considered all angles of the situation. We wanted to keep men at work. We had hoped that by this time we would be hiring more men. Instead, we are telling 50,000 of our employes to stay off their job indefinitely.

Impeding Reconversion

"In two and one-half months we have produced less automobiles than we could in three hours of normal production and the major reason is that these continued outbreaks by irresponsible labor groups are impeding the regular progress of reconversion.

"It is time that the country as a whole recognizes the seriousness of the situation. There can be no return to peace time production so long as this condition exists. Every day without a full day's work delays the industrial comeback of this nation.

125,000 to Suffer

"There isn't a city or town in the country that won't be adversely affected because all our other suppliers will have to curtail work. Our dealers—more than 6,000 of them—are hit hard. It means that with our 50,000 men more than 125,000 people in this country will suffer.

"We don't know when we can reopen our plants.

"It's difficult to admit that a company like Ford must be closed because labor insists on selfish politics when every one's economic future is at stake. But it's true!"

The company's decision to shut down its far flung operations came on the very day that the CIO-UAW proclaimed plans to demand an industry wide wage increase of 30 per cent and to enforce it with a blockade strike plan to wreck the business of one company as an example to the industry.

When Ford was asked his opinion of the union's revolutionary strike weapon, he said:

"I haven't had time to digest that news fully, but it sounds as tho they will impede the reconversion program and the ultimate job of reemploying as many people as possible.

"It's too bad these fellows are taking this time to strike. They are only cutting their own throats. They should see that industry is spending its money to increase production facilities which will make for fuller employment."

Ford said his company is spending more than $175,000,000 to increase production facilities which will include four new assembly plants. He added that "we of the Ford Motor company are confident that this country is on the threshold of the greatest industrial boom in its history."

Officers Put on Trial

The Ford layoffs were announced as the international executive board of the CIO-UAW, meeting in quarterly session at Flint, conducted a "trial" for officers of the union's local 174 which caused the strike—unsanctioned by the union's top leadership—resulting in a big Ford layoff last week.

This strike, of more than three weeks' duration, is at the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company in Detroit, which supplies Ford with parts. More than 30,000 Ford workers had to be laid off because of the interruption of supplies but were later returned to work when Ford found other sources of supply.

A trial of the local 174 leaders was called this afternoon when a deadline set by the CIO-UAW's board for the return of 4,500 Kelsey, Hayes strikers passed without a resumption of work. Results of the "trial" were not disclosed.

NO EFFECT HERE YET

E. M. Buell, superintendent for the Ford Chicago assembly plant at 12600 S. Torrence av., said the Detroit action would have no effect here for several days since his plant is still in the process of reconversion.

"We'd planned, however, on starting truck production next week," Buell said, "and car production in the middle of November. Unless this thing is settled we'll be unable to stick to schedule."

He said most of the supplies used in the reconversion are purchased locally and that deliveries have been good. About 850 persons are employed in the plant now, while at peak production 3,000 men are carried on the pay roll.

G. O. P. KICKS OFF DRIVE TO WIN 1946 ELECTIONS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—House Republicans today pooled their ideas for a program they hope will win the 1946 congressional elections.

Floor Leader Martin of Massachusetts told reporters the two-hour caucus was the first step toward the drafting of a "positive program" of legislation. Martin said he will appoint five or six members of the Republican steering committee to coördinate the resulting ideas and boil them down.

"It will be a short program," Martin said. "We don't want the people to go to sleep while they're reading it."

Emphasis was placed at the caucus on ending war time controls quickly and reducing taxes. President Truman's program came in for considerable discussion, members said privately. Martin said only that Mr. Truman "was mentioned."

BLAME DISPUTE IN STEEL PLANT LAYOFF OF 500

Five hundred employes were laid off by the Inland Steel Container company, 6532 S. Menard av., yesterday because, company spokesmen announced, the plant was obliged to suspend fabricating operations in a dispute with members of local 1422, United Steel Workers union (CIO).

Local members were accused of engaging in strikes without first submitting disputes to grievance procedure stipulated by their contract. On Aug. 28 several workers were suspended for violation of this clause and were discharged when they refused to pledge a fulfillment of it in future disputes.

On Wednesday the company hired two new employes to supplant the discharged workers. Fifty other employes refused to work with the newcomers, however, and were discharged.

TUG HANDS QUIT IN PHILADELPHIA; SHIPPING TIED UP

30,000 Strike in Ohio; Movies Closed

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—Most shipping in the port of Philadelphia was halted tonight by a walkout of more than 500 tugboat hands, members of the harbor workers' union in what a union spokesman said was a dispute over back wages.

Ships moving up from Delaware bay were stopped and loading of frate on outgoing vessels was halted.

William Collier, business agent of the union, an affiliate of the United Mine Workers of America, said tug owners had been "stalling" on a war labor board decision of July 5 granting workers an eight hour day and overtime pay retroactive to May 1, 1944.

30,000 Out in Ohio

Cleveland, O., Sept. 14 (AP)—Two new strikes flared up in Ohio today only hours after a pair of others had been settled.

Nearly 30,000 workers were idle in 10 strikes involving seven Ohio cities.

The latest disturbance occurred here, where a walkout of 150 projectionists closed 70 theaters, and at Barberton, where 1,200 employes of the Columbia chemical division of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company were idle.

Quit During Negotiations

The Barberton strike was precipitated by a dispute over wages and working conditions. The walkout was by members of the chemical workers' union, district 50 of the United Mine workers. A company spokesman contended the stoppage occurred while the dispute was being negotiated.

The strike of AFL motion picture operators at Cleveland closed 66 neighborhood theaters and four in the downtown section.

47,000 Out at Westinghouse

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—With nearly 47,000 employes in six eastern states already idle, no hope was seen by union leaders today for quick end of the five day old strike of Westinghouse Electric corporation office workers.

Reporting failure of strike peace talks in Washington, officials of the federation of Westinghouse independent salaried unions advised members to prepare for a "long siege" and apply for unemployment compensation.

The company said the federation's wage adjustment demands would increase the pay roll $10,000,000 to $13,000,000 a year, based on war time employment figures. Base pay of office workers would be increased 16 to 18 per cent.

Strikers Defy Union

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 14. (AP)—Some 4,500 employes of the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company continued their three week strike today despite an ultimatum from their international union officers to return to work by 3 p. m.

The executive board of the CIO united automobile workers announced it would proceed with disciplinary action against the strikers.

Also closed in Detroit were two plants of the Murray corporation, where 8,000 members of UAW local 2 are seeking restoration of war time wages, and three branches of the Hudson Motor company where a strike of 500 foremen has idled 6,000 production workers.

Offer 10 Per Cent Pay Hike

Moline, Ill., Sept. 14 [Special]—Deere & Co. today announced that the 40 hour work week will be resumed at its eight plants in Moline and East Moline Oct. 28 and said it was offering a 10 per cent increase in hourly and piece work rates. Meanwhile, some 3,000 workers at three of the company's plants remained on strike as negotiations between officials of the CIO unions and the company continued. These unions are asking a 30 per cent boost in hourly and piece rates.

10,000 Painters Out in N. Y.

New York, Sept. 14 — New York City's first formal strike since the war's end kept 10,000 Manhattan and Bronx painters idle today. It followed a breakdown in contract negotiations between the AFL Brotherhood of Painters, Paperhangers, and Decorators and the Association of Master Painters and Decorators of New York City, a contractors' organization. Union demands included a 2½ per cent wage increase, job security, and paid vacations.

The threatened strike of 25,000 workers of the Consolidated Edison company was averted today when the firm agreed to recognize the CIO Brotherhood of Consolidated Edison Employes as interim bargaining medium pending a labor board election, which the union has asked for Nov. 1. The company also agreed to check off union dues from wages.

As for the strike which two unions have threatened next month against 16 New York milk companies, a plan was agreed on today to allow some milk to reach hospitals and babies in the event mediation of the dispute proves unsuccessful.

Coal Haulers Strike

Galesburg, Ill., Sept. 14 (AP)—This city has been without coal deliveries since Monday, when coal haulers of Teamsters' union, local No. 15, struck because a new wage contract had not become effective. Two laundries have closed for lack of fuel and other industries claim they have only enough fuel for this week.

Lumber Workers to Strike

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—The national labor relations board disclosed today that members of the AFL lumber and sawmill workers in the Pacific northwest had voted, 16,054 to 3,613, in favor of striking in support of wage demands. Labor Secy. Schwellenbach has appointed a commission to attempt to settle the issues.

SETTLE STRIKE AT HARVESTER'S TRACTOR WORKS

A one day strike by 400 members of local 182 of the Office Employes union [CIO], which brought support from 5,000 other workers and tied up the International Harvester company's tractor plant at 2600 W. 31st st., ended last night after a conference between company and union officials.

The strikers agreed to return to work this morning. The 5,000 others, all engaged in production, were expected to do likewise automatically.

Layoffs Cause Trouble

The trouble began last Tuesday when three timekeepers were asked to work overtime. They agreed to do so, but a union steward instructed them not to work overtime. The timekeepers obeyed, and went home without informing their superiors.

The three were discharged Wednesday for disobeying orders, and the steward also was fired for infringing on management. Next day, however, Charles Lawson, vice president of the United Farm Equipment and Metal Workers' union, with which local 182 is affiliated, induced the company to modify the dismissals to one week disciplinary layoffs.

This did not satisfy the local union members and they struck yesterday and established a picket line around the tractor works. The line proved effective, for the bulk of the production workers refused to cross it, and thus production was halted.

Victory for Company

The company branded the strike a clear violation of the local's contract. Later in the day George Hodge, labor relations manager for the Harvester company, met with Lawson. After long conferences the dispute was settled. The victory appeared to be entirely the company's, inasmuch as the disciplinary lay-offs for the four employes affected are to stand as ordered after the Thursday meeting with Lawson.

Meanwhile 11 other Chicago companies which have sought to resume normal operations in producing civilian goods still found their efforts curbed by strikes of 3,495 employes.

U. S. AID SITS IN ON UNION TALKS WITH NBC, ABC

New York, Sept. 14 [Special] — Officials of the National Broadcasting company and the American Broadcasting company today concluded the first day of negotiations for a new contract with the National Association of Broadcasting Engineers and Technicians. Five hundred members of that union staged a 25 hour strike which ended Thursday after tying up many programs.

The closed sessions were attended by a United States conciliator. A spokesman for one of the companies said he believed the negotiations would last at least a week.

Among the issues in the new contract, which would replace one that expired in June, 1944, are overtime pay, wage increases, hours, working conditions, and travel pay.

A 30 day notice of intention to strike, issued just before the nationwide walkout Wednesday, still is in effect.

158TH BIRTHDAY OF CONSTITUTION TO BE OBSERVED

Constitution day Monday will be celebrated in several special meetings and by the opening of a new exhibit at the Chicago Historical society. Speakers will have the occasion to point out that the Constitution has guarded the people's rights thru another great war.

Featured in the exhibit at Clark st. and North av. will be letters and documents signed by the 40 signers of the Constitution of the United States on Sept. 17, 1787. Also on view will be portraits of the signers and a first edition of "The Federalist," containing the arguments of Madison, Hamilton, and Jay in favor of the adoption of the Constitution.

The Advertising Men's post of the American Legion will mark the 158th birthday of the Constitution with a luncheon program in Hotel Sherman. Walter F. Dodd, attorney and authority on constitutional subjects, will speak.

The Iroquois club will hold its annual Constitution day luncheon Tuesday at the Morrison hotel. Corporation Counsel Hodes will speak on "Protection of Civil Liberties in War Times."

SOLDIER GAINS CHILD'S CUSTODY FROM EX-WIFE

Mrs. Hazel Potter Victor of Fayetteville, N. C., tearfully surrendered her daughter, Patricia, 3, to her former husband and the child's father, Lt. Charles Victor, 27, of 6647 Maryland av., before Judge Frank M. Padden in Superior court yesterday.

Custody of the child was granted to Victor by Judge Padden after the officer testified his former wife had given birth to a child Dec. 31, 1944, when he was a prisoner of war in Germany. Victor left the United States Sept. 7, 1942, his attorney, Thomas Fitzgerald, told Judge Padden.

Victor, twice wounded, told the court he had been unaware of the birth of the child when he obtained a divorce June 4 on charges of desertion. At that time custody of Patricia and a settlement of $1,000 had been given to Mrs. Victor.

TRUMANS REACH MISSOURI HOME AFTER AIR TRIP

BY WILLARD EDWARDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Independence, Mo., Sept. 14—President Truman reached here tonight to spend a quiet week-end with his home folks. He will return to the capital Sunday night.

He drove to Independence from Kansas City, Mo. He had flown from Washington, D. C., to Kansas City in his special presidential plane.

The plane, bucking a 40 mile head wind all the way, made the trip in six hours, 23 minutes.

Just a "Family Trip"

The journey was described as simply a "family trip," but an accompanying plane carried 14 newspapermen and photographers and 11 secret servicemen. It was said to be the first "mass coverage" of a presidential trip by plane. Three press association men only have been previously permitted to follow Mr. Truman's flights by plane.

This "coverage" proved to be purely nominal in character. The press plane flew nonstop to Kansas City, arriving 40 minutes ahead of the President who made two stops en route. At Paducah, Ky., the Truman plane discharged Senate Majority Leader Barkley [D., Ky.] and Rep. Gregory [D., Ky.].

Stop at Scott Field

A second stop was made at Scott Field, East St. Louis, Ill., where Miss Reathel Odum, Mrs. Truman's secretary, and Col. Howard Rusk, deputy surgeon general of the air forces, a last minute passenger alighted. Miss Odum will visit her mother, Mrs. Myrtle Odum at Benton, Ill.

It was noted that the group of newspapermen assigned to follow the President would have been without knowledge of any mishap to the Presidential plane. Both the press corps and the secret service have complained about this situation caused by Mr. Truman's insistence upon plane flights but he has thus far refused to consider these protests seriously.

Members of Party

The President was accompanied by Mrs. Truman, Miss Rose Conway, his personal secretary, and Mrs. Alvin J. Accola, of Pelham Manor, N. Y., formerly of Independence. They were met at the Municipal Airport in Kansas City by Margaret Truman, daughter, Vivian Truman, a brother, Mrs. Frank Wallace and Mrs. George Wallace, sisters-in-law to Mrs. Truman.

Mrs. Truman will stay here about two weeks.

Main purpose of the trip, the President said, is to visit his mother, Mrs. Martha Truman, 92, in her home at Grandview, Mo., 20 miles from here.

A small crowd gathered across the street from the modest white Truman residence on Delaware street. It quickly dispersed after mild hand clapping.

RAIL MEN TO ASK 36 HOUR WEEK AT 48 HOUR PAY

Union representatives of 400,000 railroad shop workers announced yesterday that they will demand a 36 hour work week in place of the present 48 hour week without any reduction in present straight time weekly compensation.

B. M. Jewell, president of the AFL Railway Employes department, embracing seven unions covering the country, said that formal notice of the demand will be served Sept. 25 on all railroads with which the department has contracts. The union has contracts with all the nation's lines except the Pennsylvania and Western Maryland roads.

The work week sought will be divided evenly into six work days of six hours each, Jewell said. He added that all other interstate commerce industries have been on a 40 hour week since 1938. Unions involved are machinists, boilermakers and iron shipbuilders, blacksmiths and dropforgers, sheet metal, electrical, car men, and firemen, oilers, helpers, roundhouse and shop laborers.

OPA TO MERGE 3 MORE SUBURBAN RATION BOARDS

Three more war price and rationing boards will go out of business Sept. 30, James F. Riley, Chicago metropolitan area office of price administration director, said yesterday.

The East Gary, Ind., board will consolidate with the Gary board; the Deerfield board with the Highland Park board, and the Bloomingdale board with the West Chicago board.

Closing of 34 other boards previously had been announced by the OPA. Volunteer members of all 37 boards will be asked to join boards with which their units have been consolidated, so that all areas may be represented.

BRITISH TRADE UNIONS CALL FOR 40 HOUR WEEK

BLACKPOOL, England, Sept. 14 (AP)—British trade unions called for a general 40 hour week in industry and an energetic government housing program as their 77th congress ended today.

The Trades Union congress proposed to ask for legislation insuring establishment of the 40 hour week and vacations with pay thruout British industry.

A resolution on housing asked the government to publish the national rebuilding plan and requested financial aid to local authorities so that homes lost thru enemy action could be reroofed.

Ask Speedy Demobilization

The 1945 congress challenged the labor government on only one issue—demobilization. It said that program must be "vigorously accelerated" if Britain's civilian economy was to be restored.

The sensation of the congress was caused Wednesday by George Meany, fraternal delegate from the AFL, who attacked the soviet trade union movement as a "government controled, government fostered, and government dominated labor front."

Russian Protests

M. P. Tarasov, representing the Central Council of Soviet Trades Unions, protested formally in a letter to the congress.

Tarasov said Meany's remarks would "provoke in the ranks of workers of my country the deepest resentment." Convention rules prevened him from replying from the platform.

U. S. NOT TAKING SIDES, TRUMAN TELLS SLAV KING

[By cable to the New York Times and the Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, Sept. 14—That the United States government is seeking to "concert action with a view to implementation of the Yalta declaration" with specific reference to Yugoslavia was disclosed today in a letter sent by President Truman to King Peter II. of Yugoslavia, dated July 2. This letter, written from the White House not long before the Potsdam conference, says in part:

"I no less than my predecessor, the late Franklin Roosevelt, am fully conscious of the heroic sacrifices endured in the cause of freedom by the gallant people of Yugoslavia, and am equally anxious that in accordance with the principles of the Crimea declaration on Yugoslavia and liberated Europe, free representative institutions shall be established there by democratic processes.

"You are, no doubt, aware that it has consistently been the policy of the government of the United States not to favor one faction in the political life of Yugoslavia to the exclusion of another."

WHO CUT DOWN BRITISH FLAG? CANADIAN ASKS

Labor Progressives Join Nationality Drive

BY FRANK HUGHES
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 14—Who hauled down the British Union Jack from the towers of the Canadian parliament building? This question and five others like it were entered in the order of the day of the Canadian house of commons today by a pro-British member as the drive for a separate nationality and a separate flag for Canada gained momentum.

The Liberal government of Prime Minister King, which proudly announced that there would be a distinctive Canadian flag and a separate Canadian citizenship in a speech from the throne Sept. 6, presumably will have to answer the questions in public debate Monday, when commons convenes.

Government Guilty

King's government already has pleaded guilty to hauling down the Union Jack and substituting the red Canadian ensign. The speech from the throne, which is in effect a statement of government policy, said:

"The government has directed that, pending approval by parliament of a particular design, the Canadian red ensign which was the flag carried into battle by the Canadian army . . . may be displayed wherever place or occasion makes it desirable to fly a distinctive Canadian flag." The government holds that parliament is such a place and occasion.

The questions were presented by T. L. Church, Toronto Progressive Conservative. Church asked who gave the orders to fly the new flag, whether anybody asked parliament's permission, who is in charge of the building, whether the same instructions were issued for other government buildings, and why parliament wasn't consulted.

The Ottawa Journal today described Church as "long an advocate of closer imperial relations." Parliamentarians here said, however, that younger and more numerous members of the Progressive Conservative party have shelved the pro-British issue and generally will support a separate nationality and flag for Canada.

Support for Canadian autonomy came from another quarter in the house of commons debates last night when Fred Rose, a Labor Progressive member from Montreal, said "I fully indorse the idea of a Canadian flag and of a Canadian citizenship, and have so expressed myself in the house on other occasions."

50 Per Cent Not British

Rose's statement brought all of Canada's major parties, except the Progressive-Conservative, whose leader, John Bracken, hasn't specifically opposed the idea, behind the drive to make Canada an autonomous nation. Members of the Canadian Commonwealth Federation and Social Credit parties voiced their indorsement in previous debates.

Sen. Wishart McL. Robertson, Liberal [government] leader, in supporting his party's demand for a new flag and a new nationality, said in the senate, "Today more than 50 per cent of the people of Canada are descended from racial origins other than those of the British Isles."

Soong Reports Problems Settled in Truman Talks

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—Chinese Premier T. V. Soong ended one week's round of discussions with President Truman today and reported substantial settlement of all problems taken up. The conversations covered a wide field of political, military and economic questions, as well as trials of Japanese war criminals, Dr. Soong told reporters. The premier expects to leave for China soon by way of London and Paris.

Talk Over a Mixed-Up Marriage

FLYER RETURNS FROM 'DEAD' TO SEE REWED WIFE

Waits for Her to Pick One of 2 Husbands

Oakland, Calif., Sept. 14 (AP)—Navy Lt. James H. Cales Jr., came back from the "dead" aboard a plane from Japan today, but it was several hours before he met his wife, Mrs. Laurie Cales-Bernstein, who remarried after he was shot down in flames at Okinawa.

Cales located her at the home of relatives.

"We met alone," she told reporters there. "He broke down and cried."

He Couldn't Wait

Cales took their infant son in his arms and held him while he told reporters:

"I couldn't wait to see the baby. 'Snuffy' is wonderful. This is one of those things you can't explain.

"I think this is going to work out all right. I love Laurie, and I want to stay married to her."

Mrs. Cales-Bernstein said Cales "looked grand," and was "just wonderful in the fine way he took the news" of her remarriage to a wounded veteran of St. Lo.

Laurie has indicated that her decision between Navy Lt. Cales and Army Lt. Ethan P. Bernstein must await a talk between the three of them. Lt. Bernstein has filed suit for annulment of the second marriage.

If She Choose the Other

If Laurie will have him, Cales said, he will apply for immediate discharge from the navy. If she chooses Lt. Bernstein, Cales reported he expects to stay in the navy "the rest of my life—even if that's 30 years more."

"I read about my wife's marriage in the service newspaper, Stars and Stripes, in Manila. I went right thru the overhead [naval term for ceiling]," Cales said. "I did not know what to do. I've got to get this mess straightened out."

Asks Congress Fix Sept. 2 as Date the War Ended

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—Congress was called upon today to declare Sept. 2, 1945, as the official date of termination of hostilities. That date was set in a resolution introduced by Rep. Boren [D., Okla.].

PROPOSE ALLOCATION OF 4 MILLIONS FOR PUBLIC WORKS JOBS

The Illinois post-war planning commission recommended yesterday, at a meeting in Chicago, that Gov. Green allocate about four million dollars as a start toward the building and improvement program of public works authorized by the last general assembly. This program's total cost has been fixed at 100 million dollars, to be taken from the state's surplus of 130 millions piled up during the war years.

First priorities were given to improvements on the state's 22 hospitals and other institutions, to cost an estimated $1,524,000. Both planning and construction are to be cared for in this project.

The total approved for spending immediately at the University of Illinois is $491,000, most of it for architects' fees and other phases of planning. In all, the university projects are to cost at least 16 millions. The institution is to have a new power plant, two dormitories to cost one and a half millions, a chemistry building, and other facilities.

NEW DAM SITE FINDS PROFS A BIT RATTLED

Pierre, S. D., Sept. 14 (AP)—A group of visiting professors were examining the site of a proposed Missouri river dam north of here when it happened.

"Now at this point, gentlemen," began Lt. Col. Delbert B. Freeman, Omaha district army engineer. He was interrupted by a buzz.

Francis Slichter, an engineer, grabbed a geologist's hammer and killed a rattlesnake coiled at the feet of Prof. L. C. Glynn of Vanderbilt university.

Col. Freeman made a fresh start, only to be interrupted again. A second rattler was close to Dr. Arthur Casegrande of Harvard. Slichter killed it.

Moments later Slichter killed snake No. 3 at the heels of Prof. C. P. Berkey of Columbia.

DU PAGE COUNTY HOSPITAL COSTS UNDER CHICAGO'S

BY ORVILLE DWYER

Operating under the same state law that controls Chicago's Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, DuPage county provides treatment in private institutions at substantially less cost. DuPage county pays $21 to $31 a week per patient.

It costs Chicago taxpayers $35 to $40 a week per patient, and at the city's politically controled 1,300 bed sanitarium, patients, nurses, attendants, and guards charge they subsist principally on provisions brought in by relatives or friends because the institution food is so unpalatable they can't eat it.

Diagnosis at Dispensary

Dr. A. S. Webb, DuPage county's tuberculosis controler, operates an eight room public dispensary at 526 Crescent blvd., Glen Ellyn, where any doctor in the county may send patients for diagnosis. The dispensary is equipped with a laboratory and X-ray machines. Those who need institution treatment are sent to one of four private sanitariums—three in DuPage and one in Lake county. Dr. Webb has one nurse and one technician assisting him.

Each month the county, under the direction of the sanitarium board, sends checks for the patients' care to the sanitariums.

"Thru this system we have saved the taxpayers at least $400,000 it would have cost to build a public sanitarium," Dr. Webb said. "And we find it costs us somewhat less per patient than it would to keep the sick in a public institution. This has been proved over a period of six years."

Politics Out, He Says

Politics is out in the handling of patients in DuPage, Dr. Webb said.

"Any doctor may send a patient to the dispensary for diagnosis and if we find institutional care is needed the patient gets it," he explained. "That goes whether he's rich or poor and regardless of creed, color or politics."

The county sends an average of 90 a year to the sanitariums. There have been 515 cases since 1939. Patients are kept under observation at stated periods as long as may be necessary. In 1943, when 86 were cared for in institutions, the appropriation was $93,000. This covered operation of the public dispensary, all salaries, and payments to sanitariums.

Hugh Dugan of Hinsdale, an insurance man, is president of the DuPage county sanitarium board of directors. The Rev. Richard Lee, also of Hinsdale, an Episcopal minister, and Dr. L. H. Hills of Elmhurst, are the two other members.

Judge Borrelli's Wife, Deserted, Gets Divorce

Mrs. Elizabeth Borrelli was granted a divorce from Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli yesterday in the Superior court of Judge Frank M. Padden. Mrs. Borrelli testified under questioning by her attorney, Anthony S. Bruno, that her husband deserted her in February, 1944. They were married Jan. 23, 1943. Altho Mrs. Borrelli waived alimony, it was understood that she has received $6,500 and will get $1,200 more in an out of court settlement.

DAYLIGHT SAVING BALLOT

Mayor Kelly has asked the newspapers of Chicago to conduct an informal poll to determine whether Chicagoans favor his proposal that year-around daylight saving time be adopted for Chicago. Record your vote below and mail it to Daylight Editor, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago 11, to be turned over to the mayor.

☐ I favor year-around daylight saving time for Chicago.

☐ I favor retention of the present ordinance which provides for daylight saving time for Chicago from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October.

EARLY DARKNESS HIKES CAR TOLL, HAYES ASSERTS

Warns City as It Votes on Daylight Saving

Traffic hazards increase with the advent of fall, particularly for pedestrians, Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, said yesterday in cautioning all persons to be alert to the seasonal risks.

"During October, November, and December," said Hayes, "darkness adds to walking risks in hours when shoppers and workers are homeward bound. The record shows that deaths per accident are higher in these months than in any others. This is due to the large percentage of accidents in which a vehicle collides with a pedestrian."

Traffic engineers have said that year-around daylight saving time is a deterrent to the rise in the accident rate in the early dusk of fall months. War time, by which clocks thruout the nation were advanced one hour ahead of standard time, was invoked by the federal government early in 1942.

War Time Curbs Also Factor

A variety of other factors complicates study of the subsequent ups and downs of the traffic toll. Tire rationing was begun Jan. 4, 1942, and local authorities began to enforce a 35 mile an hour speed limit. Gasoline rationing went into effect May 15 of that year in the east, but not until Dec. 1 elsewhere. Meanwhile, new cars were becoming scarce and old cars were finding it harder to get into repair shops.

The year 1943 showed the most marked decrease in accidents. In Chicago the number of accidents dropped 25.7 per cent below 1942, while a reduction in long distance driving helped the state to effect a 50 per cent cut.

Sharp Increases in 1944

In 1944 there were sharp increases thruout the nation. The National Safety council blamed "victory vertigo" and "war nerves" for the sudden advance despite favorable factors. Chicago had 12,171 accidents, compared with 12,135 in 1943.

Readers of THE TRIBUNE interested in voting in the informal poll on year-around daylight saving time, which was suggested by Mayor Kelly, will find another ballot in today's issue. If a number of persons in a family or office desire to vote, a list of names may be attached to a single ballot, indicating how each one wishes to be counted.

Tried in Slaying

[Associated Press Wirephoto]

MRS. ADALINE M'KINNEY

Warren, Pa., Sept. 14 [Special]—The case of Mrs. Adaline McKinney, 25, Youngsville, Pa., attractive mother of two children who is charged with slaying her husband, will go to the jury tomorrow after final instructions by the court.

Mrs. McKinney, who collapsed on the stand during the week long trial, has pleaded justifiable homicide. She said her husband, Wendell, 29, a sandlot baseball player, abused her and while taking a bath threatened to blow her brains out. She went to a bedroom, got a .22 caliber revolver, and shot him thru the lungs as he came out of the bathroom.

W. Earl Biddle, a psychiatrist from the Warren State hospital, a defense witness, said Mrs. McKinney was a victim of "spotty amnesia" and not accountable for her actions at the time of the slaying.

PREDICTS EARLY LINKS TO LOOP VIA CANAL ROAD

BY ROBERT HOWARD

Public sentiment will insist upon early completion of the Illinois and Michigan canal superhighway across Chicago's southwest side, Maj. George A. Quinlan, county highway superintendent, yesterday told a legislative commission studying future utilization of the old waterway.

The commission commended Quinlan's plans to construct a four lane divided superhighway along the canal for the 2.2 miles from Kedzie av. to Cicero av. Gov. Green has approved the county project, which is expected to be the first superhighway constructed in Chicago.

Will Connect with Loop

Robert Kingery, general manager of the Chicago regional planning commission, joined Quinlan in telling the commission that the express way will be completed with connections to the central business district.

The express way's downstream terminal should be at Lawndale av. in Summit, there connecting with U. S. route 66 and other major downstate routes, Kingery recommended. The superhighway will relieve surface streets of 50,000 automobiles a day, based on 1941 traffic volume.

State Aid Pledged

Gov. Green has pledged state participation in the financing and construction of Chicago superhighways, including the northwest route to the Douglas airport. All the expressways, which eventually will radiate thru the city, will be joined into one system and will be connected with the downtown business district, including the rapidly growing area between the river and Oak st.

Rep. J. Ward Smith [R., Ottawa] was reelected chairman and Rep. William Finucane [R., Chicago] was reelected secretary when the commission met in the Palmer House. A subcommittee was authorized to consult with attorneys as to what federal legislation is needed and whether a court test is essential to establish the state's title to 90 foot reserve strips adjoining the canal in the even numbered sections. In the odd numbered sections, the state has established ownership.

Some commissioners disagreed with a report from Interior Secretary Ickes that a bill now before congress would be insufficient.

48,000 IN BRITISH NAVY LOSE LIVES DURING THE WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Sept. 14—Forty eight thousand officers and men of the British navy and the marine were killed, and 14,000 were wounded during the war, Adm. Charles Kennedy Purvis, deputy sea lord, said today. Merchant navy casualties were more than 30,000 killed, 4,000 missing and 5,00 wounded. Purvis said 550 naval ships were lost.

Britain started the war with between 21 and 22 million tons of shipping, he said. Twelve million tons were sunk and 5,000,000 tons of replacements were built. In the battle of the Atlantic 574 merchant ships were lost, an average of one for every 131 that sailed.

HOMMA, DEATH MARCH GENERAL, TO SURRENDER

Murder Doctor Handed Over to 8th Army

ated Press Correspondent Russell Brines, in a story two days ago, disclosed Homma's whereabouts.

After a friend told him he was wanted he gathered with him his family and started back to Tokyo.

Always Pro-Jap

Arriving in Tokyo he went by automobile to his home here where he changed to a gray suit and planned to rest for a time before proceeding to Yokohama.

Hhe walked freely and said that some people in Japan had considered him pro-American and pro-British.

He denied this, insisting that he was always "pro-Japanese."

MacArthur, who assured the American people in a statement that when his army is adequately deployed and the Japanese forces sufficiently demobilized he will crack down on the surrendered nation, announced the suspension of Domei news agency.

Prepares to Resume

Today, however, after a conference with general headquarters press division officers, Domei officials told key executives to prepare to resume operations at noon.

There was no statement from the army on this.

[Tokyo broadcasts said Domei has been told it can supply domestic news within the home islands under "100 per cent censorship" of the army, but that its foreign service is terminated. There are 3,000 Domei employes overseas.]

While the hunt proceeded for suspected war criminals, three more high militarists died by their own hand.

Lt. Gen. Eichelberger, whose 8th army led the occupation forces into Japan, said "if the Japs continue acting as they are now, within a year this thing should be washed up."

"When an insular country loses its land, sea, and air power and is without raw materials and has big countries sitting on its flanks it can't be much of a threat," he told a press conference.

MacArthur Notes Criticism

Gen. MacArthur in another statement agreed with the view of Japan's thoroly beaten position, but said nothing about such an early termination of the occupation—far earlier than most previous reports had calculated.

The supreme commander took note of "some impatience in the press based upon the assumption of a so-called soft policy in Japan," and said this was "an erroneous concept of what is occurring."

MacArthur said the first phase of the occupation—which some critics have called "soft"—was based on military consideration of safety and security, while occupation troops were being deployed and war prisoners and internees were being liberated.

Japan Completely Exhausted

He said "over half of the enemy's force in Japan proper is now demobilized" and disarming of the 3,000,000 or more soldiers in the empire's home army would be nearly complete by mid-October.

"Economically and industrially as well as militarily," MacArthur asserted, "Japan is completely exhausted and depleted. She is in a condition of utter collapse. Her governmental structure is controlled completely by occupation forces and is operating only to the extent necessary to insure such an orderly and controled procedure as will prevent social chaos, disease and starvation."

When the first phase is completed, MacArthur continued, Japan will then be required to take other steps and "no one need have any doubt about prompt, complete, entire fulfilment of the terms of surrender."

Two Commit Hara-Kiri

The Japanese government notified MacArthur that it was ready to turn over most of those on his list who may face courts martial as war guilty. Whether these included Cabinet Secretary Taketora Ogata, who enjoys ministerial rank, was not known. MacArthur has ordered him into custody.

Lt. Gen. Chikahito Koizumi, minister of welfare in former Premier Tojo's "Pearl Harbor" cabinet, committed hara-kiri Thursday in his home.

Another on MacArthur's list, Kunihiko Hashida, who was Tojo's education minister, committed suicide by taking poison when Japanese police called at his home yesterday to take him in custody.

Hashida died at 4:15 p. m., 20 minutes after taking the poison, as he was stoopng to put on his shoes to accompany police officers.

Gen. Teiichi Yoshimoto, not on MacArthur's list, also committed hara-kiri. He had been commander of the northeast army district on Honshu.

Occupation Goes On

The occupation of Japan was spreading smoothly, and Gen. Eichelberger estimated that possibly 100,000 of the 400,000-man occupation army now are ashore.

Navy medical officers warned that American forces scheduled to move into the northern tip of Honshu were heading for a pest hole. They found appalling conditions of filth ashore, only one doctor in the entire district, and such contagions as typhus, typhoid, smallpox, spinal meningitis, and tuberculosis.

They were considering placing two cities out of bounds, Tanabu and Ominato, both northern ports.

GI Joe in the Pacific

By ARTHUR VEYSEY

SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 14 — The alumnae of Ewah college, pre-war Christian girls' school, threw a liberation dinner and what a feed it was! Sitting on pads around an 8 inch high table, the ladies, their four newspaper men guests [including me] stuffed themselves for two hours with Korean delicacies which even most of the women hadn't had for two or three years because of food shortages.

The menu included tiny meat balls, a vegetable dish somewhat like chop suey but much better; meat fried inside of egg batter; three varieties of egg cake; soup with big chunks of meat and vegetables; fried chicken; roast beef, chicken steamed in honey, and cake—all deliciously seasoned with spices, seeds, and garlic. The food was washed down with a clear, powerful wine.

Thirty women, all Ewah graduates and most of them doctors of philosophy from American universities, spent one evening and all the next morning preparing the meal.

* *

Most Korean men wear western clothes and are clean shaven. Once in a while you see an old timer with long, whispish mustache and beard and wearing a white cloak similar to a priest's gown. He usually wears a small but tall stovepipe hat. The women wear high waisted, loose skirts that reach to the ground, and a vest-like blouse and a short bolero which buttons at the neck. Peasant women omit the blouse. In contrast to Japan, almost every one has shoes.

* *

The poor Koreans live in hovels, a one room thatched hut with a platform for a bed, a pile of bricks for a stove, and holes in the floor for a bathroom. Rich Koreans, however, live in fancy doll houses, story book affairs with highly polished floors—you leave your shoes outside—sliding circular doors, and panels of windows. They are heated by flues that run beneath the floors. Two inch cotton pads serve as mattresses and chairs. Koreans, who are not Christians, have two houses, separated by a garden and wall. One is reserved for the man of the house only. That is where he keeps his concubines.

* *

Many Korean flags, now flying for the first time in almost 40 years, are made from Jap banners. The Korean flag is white with a half blue and half red circle, indicating unity of heaven and earth. A series of lines in each corner indicates heaven, earth, sun, and moon. "Auld Lang Syne" is the melody for the Korean national anthem.

* *

Money changers are doing a rushing business in the street, exchanging Bank of Korea notes and Bank of Japan notes. Today's rate was 10 Korean for 13 Japanese. Korea is a wonderful place for poor spellers. Each city has three names, Korean, Japanese, and Chinese, and every person and every map spells each differently. You take your choice. Many Koreans come and say in perfect English, "I am glad to see you." You stop to talk and discover that's the extent of their English.

* *

The Russian and French legations had the only foreign diplomats in Korea during the war. The Russians had a short wave radio so they were virtually locked up. The French consul preferred freedom to listening to foreign broadcasts. The Japs said they could have one or the other.

Allied war prisoners tell how Jap guards kept a prisoner's violin under lock and key. It seems they feared the prisoners would use the strings to make a radio.

GEN. M'AULIFFE GIVES CHRISTMAS GIFT TIPS FOR YANKS OVERSEAS

Slippers, small leather gifts, airmail stationery, and sports material are preferred by overseas service men, Maj. Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, Washington, D. C., said yesterday. He listed tennis balls and fishing tackle as some of the most popular sports equipment for shipping.

Gen. McAuliffe met with Chicago Postmaster Kruetgen and Elmer T. Stevens, director of the State St. council, at the council's offices. Several overseas packages and individual gifts were assembled for his inspection. Because of revised shipping courses and additional space, the general said virtually all packages mailed within the overseas Christmas shipping time, starting today and extending thru Oct. 15, should be delivered in time.

Earlier in the day, Gen. McAuliffe visited in Vaughan General hospital 19 wounded enlisted men who had been members of his 101st and 103d air borne infantry divisions in Europe. Last night the general addressed the Chicago premiere of "The True Glory," an official army film of scenes between D-day and V-E day, at the Garrick theater.

JAP GUNBOAT SEIZED; 190 ON BOARD QUIZZED

SHANGHAI, China, Sept. 14 (AP)—The Japanese gunboat Ataki, suspected of carrying important personages to Tokyo from China, was stopped by the United States destroyer Robinson off the mouth of the Yangtse river and brought to the harbor here today for questioning of all aboard.

The gunboat carried 190 Japanese at least three times her normal complement.

SHANGHAI, China, Sept. 14 [Reuters]—Disarming of Japanese forces began in Shanghai today, and Chinese troops took over Japanese military establishments.

JAPS JUST DON'T UNDERSTAND US, SAYS ACHESON

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson said today the suggestion of Japanese Premier Higashi-Kuni to Americans "to forget Pearl Harbor" shows failure of the Japanese to understand either themselves or Americans.

"Nothing could show more clearly than this statement the failure of the Japanese to understand the nature of their own conduct or the mind of the American people," Acheson said. "Peal Harbor is not a symbol of hate for Japan, but a symbol of Japanese perfidy. We are determined that there shall be no opportunity for such perfidy again."

FORGET PEARL HARBOR! URGES JAPS' PREMIER

TOKYO, Sept. 14 (AP)—Premier Prince Higashi-Kuni today asked America to forget Pearl Harbor while Nippon forgets the atomic bomb.

The prince, in an exclusive statement to the Associated Press, declared his belief "that the new Japan which will emerge will be shorn of militarism and will be as peace loving as the United States."

Higashi-Kuni pictured a long and difficult period of internal readjustment before the emergence of a completely new and peaceful Japan of high moral principles and culture.

Answers Nine Questions

The prince, cousin to Emperor Hirohito and uncle of his empress, recently solicited letters of criticism and suggestion from the people. It was an unprecedented request. The Associated Press sent him nine questions, and in 24 hours received a nine page reply.

"People of America, won't you forget Pearl Harbor?" he asked. "We Japanese people will forget the picture of devastation wrought by the atomic bomb and will start entirely anew as a peace loving nation.

"America has won and Japan has lost. The war is ended. Let us now bury hate. This has been my policy since organization of the present cabinet."

Three Major Problems

The premier listed these major problems needing immediate solution:

"1. How to carry out faithfully the provisions of the Potsdam declaration in an orderly and systematic fashion while maintaining general order and not throwing the country into confusion.

"2. Food, clothing, and shelter for the people.

"3. Unemployment which will total an estimated 15,000,000 persons.

"The attitude of the American army of occupation is really admirable and very commendable," the premier said, observing that he thought "strict observance of military discipline is becoming to a victorious army."

"New Japan Will Be Born"

"Freed from the strongarm leadership of the militarist," said the prince, who himself wears the army uniform, "the Japanese will once more regain their original peaceful intentions."

Other points emphasized in the premier's letter were as follows:

"We intend to build a completely new and peaceful Japan; we intend to build a country of high moral principles and culture. I think it will require years for us to complete the task.

"All our internal inconsistencies will be brought to light as a result of Japan's defeat. The conflict between the old and the new may take the form of a struggle among political parties or of strikes, but I do not think such conflicts should be avoided.

"It is my firm belief that a new Japan, progressive and just, will be born as the result of these conflicts."

TRUMAN GIVES M'NUTT HIS OLD POWERS BACK

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—President Truman issued an order today restoring certain powers of the United States high commissioner to the Philippines which were turned over to the secretary of the interior Sept. 16, 1942, because of the Japanese occupation of the islands.

Paul V. McNutt, recently renamed high commissioner, was confirmed by the senate today to that post, which he had held before the war.

The senate also confirmed the appointments of Donald S. Russell of South Carolina and William Benton of Connecticut as assistant secretaries of state, Benjamin V. Cohen of New York as state department counselor, and Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, former veterans administrator, as ambassador to Panama.

Arizona GI to Get House Free, and $14,011 to Boot

Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 14 (AP)—When Pvt. Sylvestra Herrera, Arizona's congressional medal of honor winner, gets his new home he can furnish it and still have a nice bank account left. Arizona residents contributed $14,011 to purchase a home for their hero today. Phoenix contractors announced he can have the house built free.

EX-PRISONERS IN CHINA TELL OF JAP CRUELTY

HONG KONG, Sept. 13 [Delayed]—(AP)—The first liberated prisoners from Hainan arrived here today aboard the British destroyer Queenborough with stories of mass killings of Chinese, fatal beatings of Dutch, and continual abuse of Australians and Indians. All had suffered from a starvation diet.

The group included 30 each of Australian, Dutch, and Indian prisoners. The Hainan camp housed 300 Australians and an equal number of Dutch who were taken prisoner on Amboina Island in February, 1943. The Indians were from the Hong Kong garrison.

Lt. Col. W. J. R. Scott of Melbourne, commander of the Australians, said the Japanese were particularly vengeful against Americans who were shot down and that Chinese there had reported they had seen five of the Yank flyers executed. There were no Americans at the camp.

IN DEATH I WILL GUARD NATION, SAYS TOJO NOTE

TOKYO, Sept. 14 (AP)—Hideki Tojo, Japan's war making prime minister, was improving in the Yokohama military hospital today from his self-inflicted bullet wound and his condition was described as good.

Tojo left a carefully worded statement saying "in death I shall become a guardian of my nation" before he attempted to kill himself. The statement was intended to become a part of the philosophical "last words" of the famed men of Japan, which is the backbone of the Bushido code.

The statement, described as a masterpiece of calligraphy written with a brush on silk paper, read:

"Rather than expose my shame to the world by living, in death I shall become a guardian of my nation. [Signed] Hideki." The not was addressed to "Muira," presumably a member of the imperial household.

TEN SELECTED TO OPEN QUIZ ON PEARL HARBOR

nominees for the Pearl Harbor committee with the argument that their respective memberships on the house military and naval groups might lead to favoritism for one branch of the service against the other. Short and Mott have both insisted that the facts about Pearl Harbor be brought to light.

Martin backed down in the face of Rayburn's request and substituted the names of Keefe and Gearhart.

Walsh's name was significantly absent from the senate list, but the Republicans' choice of Brewster, a member of the senate naval committee was accepted by the senate Democratic leadership.

Picked "the Best Men"

Rayburn told reporters he selected "the best men I could find" regardless of committee affiliations.

"I hope there won't be any politics in this investigation and I hope the committee will get the biggest men it can find for committee counsel," the house speaker said.

Republican members of the joint group said they will insist that forthcoming hearings be open to the press and public, but explained that such hearings may be preceded by several closed sessions. The purpose of the latter, they said, will be to select a counsel and staff, and to study reports already made on the disaster.

All 10 members of the joint group are lawyers. Ferguson won fame as Detroit's "one man grand jury," prior to his senate election in 1942 when he obtained more than 200 convictions in a cleanup of municipal corruption. Brewster, a former congressman who entered the senate in 1941, is regarded by his colleagues as an able investigator.

Record of Other Members

George, a veteran of 22 years in the senate, is chairman of the powerful finance committee, and is noted for voting his convictions, regardless of politics. Lucas has long been active in Illinois politics. He was elected to the senate in 1938 after serving two terms in congress.

The three house Democrats—Cooper, Clark, and Murphy—are regarded as down-the-line New Dealers. Cooper is expected to be vice chairman of the group. Murphy is serving only his second term in congress. Of the two house G. O. P. members, Keefe is serving his seventh year in congress and is a member of the appropriations committee, and Gearhart, elected in 1937, is on the ways and means committee.

STILWELL'S SON 'KNOWS' ARMY; HE JOINS NAVY

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 14 (AP)—Benjamin Watson Stilwell, 18, son of Lt. Gen. Stilwell, arrived at the naval training center today to become a sailor, shattering family tradition.

"I'm the first member of the family to wear a sailor suit," he remarked, "and I don't know how the Stilwells are going to like it.." He said neither his father nor his mother knew he planned to enter the navy.

"I've a pretty fair idea of army life, and I guess I just wanted to see how the other half lives," the son of the famed American general explained.

DEVEREUX, WAKE CHIEF, RETURNS FROM JAP PRISON

ABOARD CARRIER HOGGATT BAY, OMINATO ANCHORAGE, Japan, Sept. 15 [Saturday]—(AP)—Lt. Col. James P. S. Devereux, who was the marine commander during the brilliant delaying action on Wake Island in December, 1941, arrived here today from Japanese imprisonment.

One of the first things Devereux did was to repeat his denial—first made in a radio message several days ago—that the marines on Wake had radioed: "Send us more Japs." "Anybody who is scratching dirt," he said, "is a fool to ask for more Japs."

Three ships of the North Pacific fleet were dispatched yesterday to Hakodate, 120 miles north of Ominato, to evacuate 350 allied prisoners of war from central Hokkaido camps. They were to return today.

INDIA CONGRESS TO FIGHT ON FOR INDEPENDENCE

POONA, India, Sept. 14 (AP)—The All-India Congress party working committee rededicated itself to the goal of independence tonight on the eve of the return of Viceroy Wavell and voted to contest all elections in India.

In resolutions issued after four days of formal sessions the committee also voted to continue its program of negotiation and coöperation in seeking independence. The vote to participate in elections followed debate on a proposal to boycott the forthcoming general elections because of dissatisfaction with electoral procedures.

The party leaders indicated that no other political status than self-government would be acceptable.

Yanks in Germany Find 500 Mile an Hour Plane

PARIS, Sept. 14—The 9th air force reported from its Bad Kissingen headquarters that air disarmament officers have discovered a German Focke Wulf 190 capable of flying 500 miles an hour—the fastest conventionally gasoline powered aircraft of the war. Capt. Ray S. Bartholomew of Tulsa, Okla., who located the plane, its blueprints, and its German test pilot, said that Daimler Benz engineers were now completing two more such planes to be sent to the United States.

NAZI LEADERS PONDER FATE IN PRISON ORCHARD

Write of Others' Misdeeds to Shield Themselves

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

WIESBADEN, Germany, Sept. 14—Many of the leaders in Hitler's preparations for World War II. are imprisoned at a camp in Ober Ursel, near Frankfort, where they are being questioned.

In the days of peace the buildings now used as a prison housed the national school for settlers, which was an agricultural school for farmers the nazis expected to settle on the vast lands they planned to conquer.

During the war the Ober Ursel school was turned into a prison camp. Many American flyers were held there. Now 184 lesser nazi leaders are imprisoned behind the bars and barbed wire. The cells they occupy contain just a bed and a radiator. In the days of the Nazis the jailers could turn on these radiators from the outside, heating them to such a degree that the prisoners were nearly suffocated, making them easy prey to their nazi interrogators.

M. P.s Guard Barracks

Each wing of the barracks also has two closets which are so small no man can lie down in them. Days and nights in them, without light or water and just the air that filters thru the cracks, broke the spirit of many a prisoner.

Today military police stand guard in the corridors but the torture devices the nazis left in readiness are not being used.

In a near-by villa 35 more important prisoners are housed and when this camp was visited they were taking their afternoon walk in the orchard. Their hands clasped behind their backs, Gen. Von Kesselring, Count Ludwig Schwerin von Krosigk, Hitler's former finance minister, and Dr. Otto Meissner, the fuehrer's minister in the chancellery, were strolling under the cherry trees deep in conversation.

They looked as if they hadn't a care in the world, but they walked carefully to avoid barbed wire laid in the grass and never went quite to the fence where M. P.s stood guard.

Knows Hitler's Methods

Meissner, who has said he was merely an official taking orders from Hitler as he did while serving under Presidents Ebert and Von Hindenburg, is one of the men who knows the real truth about Hitler's rise to power in 1932. His silence at the time of Hindenburg's death enabled the nazis to make millions of Germans believe that Hindenburg, whom they had trusted, left a testament urging them to follow Hitler. Only two weeks ago, Meissner's wife, interviewed in Bavaria, had assured me her husband knew there had been no such political will. When Meissner recognized me he stopped a second, stared at me, then moved on.

In the villa, German war prisoners serve as orderlies. In the dining room the table was set with an orange at the side of each plate and the prisoners, from Adm. Nicholas Horthy, former regent of Hungary, to Hitler's financial controler, Franz Xavier Schwarz, shared the meal. Men who claim not to have been Nazis stay together to avoid sitting beside those who admit their allegiance to the nazi cause.

Many of the prisoners carried large sums of money when captured. Hitler's economic expert, Walter Funk, had $27,000, mostly in dollars and Swiss francs.

The main concern of the prisoners is to attempt to avoid transfer to Nuerenberg as war criminals and to achieve that goal many of them are preparing detailed reports exonerating themselves and incriminating other Nazis. The papers they write shed light on the past and it is hoped they will help to safeguard the future peace.

TRUMAN ASKED TO CALL PEACE PARLEY QUICKLY

Urged to 'See All the Itching Palms'

BY WALTER TROHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14—A resolution calling on President Truman to call a peace conference in Washington at the earliest possible date was introduced in congress today by Rep. Shafer (R., Mich.).

The resolution, which is charged with diplomatic dynamite, was dropped into the house hopper as the Big Five council of foreign ministers was meeting in London and as British and American fiscal experts here were pondering Britain's request for a grant of 3 to 6 billion dollars for economic and commercial rehabilitation.

Wants U. S. to Take Lead

Shafer said the people of the world desire that a firm and lasting peace be established as quickly as possible and that such a peace can be established only upon the adoption of set rules as promulgated at a conference. He insisted that the United States take the lead in establishing peace, as nations of the world expect this country to do so.

"Peace cannot be established by a Big Three or a Big Five sitting around nibbling caviar and sipping champagne in a Persian garden on the shores of the Black sea, or even in the heart of a defeated nation," Shafer said. "It is, perhaps, dearer to the hearts of small nations than it is to the large, who are confident they can take care of themselves.

Full Publicity Asked

"Therefore the small nations should be permitted to get their feet under a council table and tell what their hopes are for the post-war world. And the deliberations should be carried on in the full light of publicity so that every man may know what his stake is in the peace."

Shafer said the peace conference would give this country an opportunity to know what financial aid the other nations expect from the United States.

"Let's look at all the open palms at once and see what the world expects from this country," Shafer said. "I do not say that we should reject all these requests, nor do I say we should fill all the itching palms. But, it may be that if we see the whole picture, we can steer the world to a lasting peace by exacting promises in return for our assistance. Not promises of commercial advantage, but promises to abide by the rules."

AIR PRIORITIES DROP; CIVILIANS GET MOST SEATS

Harold Crary, vice president of United Air lines in charge of traffic, yesterday reported a rush for non-priority air line seats with the approach of relaxed requirements which became effective at 12:01 a. m. today. At that time four classes of air priorities formerly in effect were replaced with one class and approximately 90 per cent of available passenger space became available to civilian air travelers. All priorities will be abolished on Oct. 15, when civilian air travel will go back on a full pre-war basis.

REPORT RUSSIA WINS TREATY ON AUSTRIAN OIL

VIENNA, Austria, Sept. 14 (AP)—Russia was reported tonight to be near an agreement with Dr. Karl Renner's provisional Austrian government calling for soviet development of some Austrian oil resources.

An informant said signatures were expected to be affixed to the agreement tonight or tomorrow. The deal was said to involve the Zisteradorf oil fields, 28 miles northeast of Vienna. Russia was reported to have completed the arrangement without consulting the United States, Britain, or France which share control of Austria with the soviet union. It was believed that the British had protested to Moscow on the grounds that the Russians were dealing unilaterally with an unrecognized Austrian government.

(In London well informed quarters said the British government was concerned over the reported Russian-Austrian agreement but had made no protest as yet.)

SPANISH POLICE JAIL COMMUNIST PARTY LEADERS

MADRID, Spain, Sept. 14 [Reuters]—Members of the central committee of the Spanish Communist party have been arrested in Madrid, it was learned here tonight.

The police are reported to have arrested 70 persons, including Santiago Alvarez, political commissar in the 5th army corps during the Spanish Civil war, and Sebastian Zapirain, a prominent party leader. Alvarez claims Cuban nationality. Police said both men had left Spain by the end of the civil war, but returned some time ago with false passports.

REPORT RUSSIA ASKS SHARE OF ROME COLONIES

LONDON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Russia was reported on good authority tonight to have entered a claim before the Big Five council of foreign ministers for a share of Italy's Mediterranean possessions — possibly the strategic Dodecanese Islands off the Turkish coast.

Earlier it was announced the council had invited the 32 nations which had been at war with Italy to submit their "views in writing" on the drafting of the Italian peace treaty.

Observers said that the Dodecanese Islands possibly attracted strong Russian interest since they cover the southern approach to the Dardanelles, linking the Black sea and the Mediterranean. Historically Russia has shown a desire to control the Dardanelles.

Asked by Greeks

The Greeks already have made strong demands for the Dodecanese.

Altho there were no details of the Russian claim, observers expressed the belief that Russia also may have asked for a share in the control of any trusteeships which may be set up for some Italian colonies.

In addition to the invitation to all of Italy's former foes to submit written suggestions on the peace treaty, the council extended an invitation to seven smaller countries to attend a council meeting Monday, at which they could express the attitude of their governments on the settlement of the Yugoslav-Italian frontier.

The action opened the door to all territorial demands which have been made by neighboring countries upon Italy and her colonies.

Italy Gets Invitation

At the suggestion of the Chinese minister, Dr. Wang Shi-chieh, invitations were sent to Yugoslavia, Italy, Australia, Canada, India, New Zealand, and South Africa to nominate representatives to attend next Monday's council meeting.

Thus both Italy and Yugoslavia would be given an opportunity to present their divergent viewpoints on the port of Trieste and the Istrian peninsula at the head of the Adriatic. Both have been claimed by the government of Marshal Tito.

Russia was understood to be supporting Tito's claims to Trieste and Istria. The American-British view seemed to be that Italy should retain Trieste, with its port under international control.

The invitation to the smaller nations for Monday's session was not extended to Greece, Ethiopia, or Egypt. Egypt has presented a note to the council asking for control of the eastern part of the Italian colony of Cirenaica.

Evatt Makes Objections

Ethiopia and Greece have also made claims against Italy. They will be privileged to present their claims in writing.

The invitations left uncertain whether they would meet the objection of Foreign Minister Evatt of Australia. He said that the Big Five should permit "all active and principal belligerents in the war, such as the British dominions" to be more closely associated with the council's deliberations.

Evatt said the five-power discussions "may well constitute the main peace-making process." He suggested that the participation in the discussions was "obviously of the highest concern to the other belligerent nations who have made very substantial contributions to final victory."

ITALIANS URGED TO PAY PRICE TO SAVE COLONIES

BY P. E. BRIQUET
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, Sept. 14—The newspaper Corriere Informazione of Milan, Italy, said today that to "enlist French support to save some of her colonies," such as Libya's bare shore line of Tripolitania, Italy must smilingly give up some of her home territory to French claims in the Tende Riviera region.

The Milan press at the same time published a scheme, presumably suggested by inhabitants along the Franco-Italian boundary in the Riviera, to create an autonomous boundary buffer state, containing 30-odd townships.

Vice Premier Pietro Nenni has an article entitled "Italy in the Criminal's Box" in the Avanti, in which he pleads that the united nations' foreign ministers, in finding the basis for peace at their current meeting in London, should not forget that the Atlantic Charter should also be applied to Italy.

HIGH POINT GIs CALL DISCHARGE SYSTEM UNFAIR

BY JAMES SLOAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Sept. 14—Many of America's fighting men do not like the demobilization system, a group of Chicagoland Yanks who, for months, have been sweating out their return home for discharge, said today.

More than 160 GIs in the former headquarters squadron of the 9th troop carrier command signed a letter to The Stars and Stripes demanding that it reveal how the GIs feel about the demobilization plan, but could not get it printed because The Stars and Stripes is barred from publishing letters from soldiers in England unless they have been approved by the army authorities in charge of The Stars and Stripes, who are in Paris.

List Some Chicago Signers

Chicago signers of the letter included:

Staff Sgt. George E. Rothlisberg, 656 Wrightwood av., who has been in the army five years and overseas 20 months; Pvt. 1st Class Edward J. Kalita, 2425 N. Spaulding av., in two years and nine months, overseas 17 months; Sgt. Joseph M. Nelson, 4249 Addison st., in three years, overseas two years; Sgt. Alfred N. Malero, 2512 N. Cicero av., in three and a half years, overseas 20 months, and Pvt. 1st Class John W. Fkster, 944 W. 73d st.

There are many other Chicagoland Yanks in this unit, said their spokesman, who are being kept in the army despite the fact that they have sufficient points for discharge.

"So Much Propaganda"

Their letter charged that the statements on speedy demobilization plans "by war department sources are so much propaganda issued at necessary intervals to quell the home front and the GI demand for prompt and efficient action." It added that the majority of the GIs claim that the point system is grossly unfair, with few of them polled on it when it was set up.

"To citizen and soldier it would seem the war department and a disgusting number of our civil leaders are more concerned with continuing military appropriations and the draft than with establishing or promoting a peace," the letter continued, adding that a sizable army of occupation could be raised by voluntary enlistment, which apparently is being discouraged while "the proponents of might are beating louder and louder the drums of peace time conscription."

The letter charged that the latest excuse for peace time conscription was that "at the start more men must be drafted to free those eligible for release.

"We resent being used as hostages for such an infringement on democratic rights," the petitioners said.

Paper for Drive

Marguerite McDonnell looking at bales of waste paper given by The Tribune for collection.

Seven hundred trucks manned by Boy Scouts will move thru Chicago today seeking 6 million pounds of waste paper in the city's final city-wide curb collection.

Bundles of paper began appearing in front of hotels and business establishments yesterday in preparation for the drive, including a large bale in front of Tribune Tower. Money obtained from the sale of the paper collected today will be used for service men's centers and the welfare of war veterans.

Fifty army trucks will be held in reserve to make calls where the collection trucks fail to pick up paper. The office of Commissioner of Streets Lloyd M. Johnson will be open all day today to take reports and dispatch trucks.

WARN LANDLORD ABOUT EVICTION FOR REMODELING

A landlord in the Chicago rental area who wants to evict a tenant to remodel his house now must file an eviction petition giving the amount of remodeling to be done and certifying it will be done immediately and cannot be done with the tenant in possession, John J Ryan, rent executive of the office of price administration, advised yesterday.

Beginning today the purchaser of a home who wishes to occupy the dwelling must give the tenant six months' notice instead of three months, Ryan said. The three month minimum may be resumed later if it is found desirable in this area, Ryan said.

The six months' eviction notice may be waived by the OPA if the buyer has been in the military services and wants the home for himself and family.

PLEDGE BATTLE AGAINST 12c 'L' FARE IN CHICAGO

Members of the city council committee on local transportation were informed yesterday that the city will do everything in its power to prevent the elevated lines from increasing fares from 10 cents to 12 cents. The Illinois Supreme court has ordered the Circuit court to issue an order upholding a higher rate.

Ald. Young [46th], committee chairman, said he had been assured by William H. Sexton, special traction counsel, that the case would be fought "to the bitter end and in any court we can get into." Philip Harrington, chairman of the Metropolitan transit board, pledged his opposition to the raise. Atty. Gen. Barrett said Thursday he believed a new court hearing would show the increase is not warranted. He promised an unrelenting fight to that end.

V. E. Gunlock, who succeeded Harrington as commissioner of subways and superhighways, told the committee that the State st. subway, 4.88 miles long, cost $30,097,731. His figures and complete plans of the tubes were ordered placed in the city's permanent files.

BAR OVERSEAS DUTY IF MARINES HAVE 40 POINTS

Army Will Free 13,000 Doctors This Year

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 [Special]—Two new developments in the demobilization program were announced today by the marine corps and the army. They were:

1. No marine having 40 or more points toward the 70 necessary for discharge will be sent overseas.

2. The army medical corps strength will be cut by 70 per cent by next July.

The marine corps order applies to officers and enlisted men, but no estimate was given as to the number affected.

Rules Eased Twice

Previously the limitation on overseas service was fixed at 70 points when the total required for discharge was 85. Recently the critical score was reduced from 85 to 70, and at the same time the marine corps ruled that any member over 35 years of age would be released at his own request.

Sen. Revercomb [R., W. Va.] proposed in the senate today that the army be opened to one year enlistments. He said he would urge the senate military committee to act on his proposal next Tuesday.

An administration supported bill [illegible] the committee, which is de[illegible] to make enlistments in the more attractive, calls for [illegible] year periods.

In making public its plans for reducing its medical corps personnel, the war department said 30,000 doctors, 10,000 dentists, and 40,000 nurses will be returned to civilian life within the next 10 months thru point system reductions and changes in age and service requirements.

The revised system, which is effective at once, is expected to result in the discharge of 13,000 doctors, 25,000 nurses, and 3,500 dentists before the end of this year. Others affected are veterinarians, dietitians, physiotherapists, and administrators.

45,000 Doctors at Peak

At its peak strength, records show, the army had in service at home and abroad 45,000 doctors, 52,000 nurses, and 14,620 dentists. It also had 2,000 veterinarians, 2,000 sanitary officers, 1,500 dieticians, 1,000 physiotherapists, and 18,700 medical administrative officers.

Under the new plan an army doctor or dentist is now eligible for release if he meets one of the following conditions:

1. Was in service before Pearl Harbor.

2. Is 48 years old or over.

3. Has 80 or more discharge points.

Heretofore it has been almost impossible for doctors and dentists to get out of uniform, despite complaints from various sections of the country that civilian protection against disease and epidemics had been reduced to a dangerously slim margin.

Until today doctors and dentists needed 100 points unless they were deemed scarce specialists, in which case they needed 120.

Nurses will be released if they have 35 points, or if they are 35 years old, or if they are married, or if they have a dependent younger than 14. Previously they had to have 65 points or had to be 40 years old to be released.

Points for Veterinaries

Veterinary officers now need 80 points for discharge instead of the previously required 110 points. They also are eligible for return to civilian practice if they are 42 years old instead of 50, or if they joined the army before Jan. 1, 1942.

Administrative and sanitary officers now need 70 points instead of 90 to be released from service. They also may be released if they are 42 instead of 45 years old, or if they have served since before Pearl Harbor.

Physiotherapists and dieticians will be released if they have 40 points, or if they are 40 years old, or if they have dependents under 14.

GARDENERS IN 4 STATES TO SHOW 3,500 DAHLIAS

More than 3,500 dahlias will be exhibited by gardeners from four states in the 14th annual show of the Central States Dahlia society today and tomorrow in the Garfield park conservatory, Central Park blvd. and Lake st. Chicago growers will have competition from downstate Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Michigan gardeners.

The flowers will range in size from tiny pompoms less than an inch in diameter to formal decorative specimens measuring 12 to 14 inches in diameter and 8 inches in depth. There will be classes for pompom, miniature, semi-cactus, cactus, informal decorative, and formal decorative specimens.

The show hours will be from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. both days. Visitors may see the exhibits free.

TRUMAN URGES 16 BILLION CUT IN NAVY SPENDING

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—President Truman asked congress today to cut the navy's spending authority by nearly $17,000,000,000.

He also recommended that congress consider "a complete review of existing legislation authorizing the construction of naval vessels."

The reductions in navy funds proposed by Mr. Truman would apply to appropriations and spending authorizations for the present fiscal year, which began July 1, and to some appropriations which would carry over into the next fiscal year under existing legislation.

Cut Shipbuilding Program

Savings were permitted in part, the President explained in a letter to congress, because of discharges of enlisted personnel, the cutting down of the shipbuilding program, and reduced expenses for maintaining and operating ships and navy yards, keeping up naval aviation and providing naval ordnance.

"In making these recommendations for reductions," Mr. Truman said, "consideration has been given to the tremendous problem of demobilization and the yet undetermined requirements for a peace time navy.

"As indicated in my letter of Sept. 5, 1945, I plan a continuing review of naval appropriations with the view to recommending further adjustments as conditions warrant."

Would Cut Air Outlay

The exact figure of the slashing proposed today was $16,824,553,927. Of this, $11,518,301,253 would be in current appropriations and authorizations and $5,306,252,674 would be in now unneeded balances of appropriations left over from prior years.

Total navy appropriations of $25,808,930,859 are provided for in the present fiscal year. The President recommended cancellation of $8,305,859,122.

In addition, a further cut of $3,212,442,131 would be applied to contract authorizations for the current fiscal year.

Trimming ship construction will allow a saving of $1,047,366,607, the President said. Other major savings would include $1,372,183,000 on the aviation program, $1,404,300,000 on aviation, and $2,550,451,000 on ordnance.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Sept. 15—Harper's Ferry Surrender

On the morning of Sept. 15, 1862, the 11,000 men garrisoning Harper's Ferry, W. Va., found themselves in a desperate position. During the night the Confederate troops of tireless Gen. Stonewall Jackson had placed seven batteries of artillery on a commanding height above the town and had moved 10 big guns to a point where they could throw an enfilading fire into the Union position.

Moreover, the Confederates still held other heights which they had occupied two days previously. In man power, they were overwhelmingly superior to the Union force.

The guns roared into action and for an hour the garrison defended itself. Then a white flag was raised. Gen. White, the Union commander, surrendered the position with vast amounts of ordnance and other stores. The entire garrison became pedition to Harper's Ferry had been launched. Moreover, by an almost incredible accident, McClellan had come into possession of an order of Gen. Lee which detailed the Confederate plan and revealed that Lee's army was to be divided.

McClellan, instead of acting immediately on the information which he thus had received, allowed his troops a good night's sleep before proceeding. By the time he reached Lee's position the Confederate army had been reassembled. The result was the battle of Antietam, which resulted in the Confederates' withdrawal south of the Potomac.

The reverend Mr. Hall said that Mrs. Rychlik had told him that Dubravec had threatened to kill her if she left him. She left him after 24 years of marriage and he blamed Mrs. Rychlik, her sister, for the separation. Dubravec testified he had not intended to harm his sister-in-law but that when he met her by chance at the street car "something in my head kept telling me 'Now is your chance to get even.'"

CONVICT KILLER OF WIFE'S SISTER; VOTE LIFE TERM

A jury in Criminal court last night found George Dubravec, 55, of 2944 W. 27th st., guilty of murdering his sister-in-law, Mrs. Mildred Rychlik, 1532 S. Kenneth av., and fixed his punishment at life imprisonment.

The verdict was reached in four hours by a jury of seven women and five men. The jurors rejected a plea for the death penalty made by Assistant State's Atty. John Philip Reed. Dubravec seemed oblivious to the fact his life was spared until after Chief Justice Harold G. Ward had set Sept. 21 for the hearing of a motion wor a new trial.

Dubravec shot Mrs. Rychlik and wounded her husband, Edward, as they boarded a street car at 16th st. and Kenneth av. July 7. His wife, Anne, had left him after 24 years

5 MILLION VALUE PUT ON WORK OF NAZI PRISONERS

Work performed by German prisoners of war under supervision of the base camp at Fort Sheridan was valued at nearly 5 million dollars in the first eight months of 1945, Brig. Gen. John T. Pierce, commanding general of the fort, said yesterday. Private contractors paid $2,998,809.61 for prisoner of war work, and the value of work performed at government installations was placed at $1,871,000. From July 28 to Sept. 1 prisoner of war labor produced $963,809.61 in cash and $286,000 in work at government installations.

North Chicago Burglars Get $868, Safe, Clothing

Burglars stole $868 in cash and $3,200 worth of clothing early yesterday in a burglary of Kaplan's Men's store, 1728 Sheridan rd., North Chicago. Their loot included 70 pairs of trousers, but the matching coats were left. Thirty-four overcoats also were stolen. The thieves carted away an 800 pound safe, which later was found abandoned on the Lester Armour estate on Sheridan rd., north of Lake Bluff. The safe was opened and looted.

SWEDISH GENERAL TO VISIT U. S.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 14 [Reuters]—Gen. Bengt Nordenskjoeld, commander in chief of the Swedish air force, today said that he will leave by air tomorrow for the United States to study the American aircraft industry.

THREE ROBBERS CURB CAR, STEAL $15,250 PAY ROLL

Three robbers took a $15,250 pay roll from a guard and a woman messenger for the Agar Packing company, after curbing their car about half a block from the company plant at 4057 S. Union av.

The messenger, Mrs. Regina Wojdyla, 24, and the guard, Ben Catanzaro, were driving to the plant from a bank at 47th st. and Ashland av., when a maroon sedan drove out of an alley into their path.

Catanzaro said two men standing on the sidewalk jumped on the running board of the car, displayed revolvers, and took the money. The two robbers then fled in the car driven by a third man. Police said the car had been stolen earlier in the day from Dr. Basil S. Jones of Flossmoor.

UNITS OF FAMED 45TH DIVISION RETURN TO U. S.

30,000 Arrive at 3 East Coast Ports

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—Units of the famous Thunderbird division—the 45th—which suffered 100 per cent casualties from Sicily to Munich, came home today on the British liner Aquitania, one of 13 ships carrying more than 30,000 troops to three east coast ports. The division, consisting of approximately 15,000 men, lost 3,747 dead, 4,404 missing, and 19,403 wounded, including replacements.

The men, wearing the arm insignia of a golden bird with outstretched wings, which in Indian lore means "sacred bearer of unlimited happiness," were members of the 179th and 180th infantry regiments.

309 WACs Are on Board

Also aboard were 309 WACs, the largest contingent yet returned to the United States. Seven ships docked in New York, two in Boston, and four in Newport News, Va.

Arriving in New York were the Aquitania, with 7,370 aboard, including the 179th and 180th infantry regiments of the 45th division, and nearly 200 nurses and 309 WACs; the Santa Rosa, 3,248 troops; Monterey, 50 troops; Calvin Coolidge, 654; Peden, 25; Belgian Equality, 18, and Henry L. Hoyt, 43.

Arriving in Boston were the Wakefield, with 8,155 troops; Costa Rica Victory, 1,958.

Four Dock in Newport News

Arriving at Newport News were the Squier, 3,944; McAndrew, 2,442; Eltinge, 3,206; Yeager, 20.

Ten troop ships, bringing home more than 16,500 service men from the European and Pacific theaters, are scheduled to arrive at four east and west coast ports tomorrow.

Ships and troops arriving include:

AT NEW YORK—[Aboard Gen. Stewart] 3,261 troops including 3d General hospital; 333d engineer combat battalion; 566th, 667th, 848th, and 569th transportation corps port companies; 3516th quartermaster truck company; headquarters and headquarters detachment of 159th quartermaster battalion; 63d military police company; 469th engineer maintenance company; 982d signal service company; headquarters and headquarters company of 40th engineer combat group; 82d financial disbursing section; 4624d medical dental prosthetic detachment; 3660th quartermaster gas supply company; 1722d, 1790th engineer utility detachment; 303d medical service detachment. Two Warships Return

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 14 (AP)—Home from far eastern waters, the battleship Massachusetts and the aircraft carrier Essex reached Puget sound today, the first big warships to return to the Pacific northwest since the war's end. The navy took 1,400 officers and enlisted men off one ship and brought them to the naval station here for reprocessing to speed their movement homeward tomorrow for their discharges.

1,500 Arrive at San Diego

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 14 (AP)—The battleship Maryland, pressed into service as a troop transport, arrived here today from Pearl Harbor with 1,500 overseas veterans home for discharge, leave, medical treatment, or transfer to new duty. Most surprised passenger aboard the ship was Allen Hansen, 30, of Chicago, who had an unexpected reunion with his sister, Wave Alice Welker, on duty here.

7,000 Return from Pacific

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 14—A small fleet of combat and transport vessels steamed triumphantly under the Golden Gate bridge today, bringing approximately 7,000 army and navy men from Pacific zones.

PURSE AND BONDS STOLEN

Two Others Returned

Three more probation violators were sent to prison yesterday by Chief Justice Harold G. Ward in Criminal court. The judge, who has revoked probation in 34 cases during August and so far this month, said such offenders could expect no leniency from the courts.

The latest to be sent to prison were Howard Ayers, 24, 1 year to 18 months for auto larceny, and Anthony Busch, 23, and Henry Pastuszka, 19, both sentenced to 1 to 2 years for assault to rob.

Ayers earlier in the day paid a $25 fine in Felony court for assaulting a policeman and resisting arrest. Police said Busch and Pastuszka had been in trouble on several occasions since they were granted probation two years ago.

CANADIAN MEAT RATIONING HIT; STRIKE NEARS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 14—Unless meat rationing is abolished or adjusted, butchers in many Canadian centers today threatened to strike or close up shop within the next week or 10 days. Petitions demanding abolition of rationing will be available by Monday in most Toronto butcher shops, it was announced by John King, president of the Toronto Retail Meat Dealers' association.

Representatives of meat dealers from every Canadian province will meet Tuesday in Ottawa to correlate their various recommendations urging changes in the rationing system. They will submit their joint plan to the war time prices and trade board at a conference in Ottawa Wednesday. Toronto dealers said they believed rationing regulations will be changed as a result of the nation-wide protests.

ASKS FREE MAIL FOR YANKS IN VET HOSPITALS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14—Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] today introduced a bill extending free mail privileges to men and women veterans confined to veterans' administration hospitals. Brooks is the author of the present law giving free mail service to persons in service.

"To many who will leave the service," Brooks told the senate, "that free mail privilege will come to an end, but those who carry the marks and effects of war who will in the future, because of their service, be confined to hospitals, the war will not truly be over."

He said he believed the free mail privilege would help boost the morale of hospitalized veterans.

COUNTY POLICE RAIDERS FIND GAMBLING TOOLS

Conny Tuffanelli, 1200 W. 127th st., Blue Island, was arrested yesterday by Chief John McGinnis and Lt. Otto Jelinek of the county highway police in a raid on a warehouse at 12021 Vincennes av., in the suburb. The police found nine slot machines a chuck-a-luck cage, one dice table, and other gambling paraphernalia, some of it broken. Tuffanelli was charged with possession of the equipment and released on $200 bond. He will appear Sept. 19 before Police Magistrate William Kane in Homewood Police court.

BRADLEY ORDERS SHAKEUP OF VET ADMINISTRATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14—Gen. Bradley today announced broad reorganization of the veterans administration, after the pattern of army forces in the field, and promised rapid decentralization of the administration's authority to speed the handling of veterans affairs.

At the same time, Bradley, who led American ground forces in the invasion of Europe, announced he had named several of his top assistants to serve under the new system. Maj. Gen. Paul R. Hawley, a veteran of nearly 30 years in the army medical corps, will be the organization's acting surgeon general. Col. Eldon L. Bailey, who has served with the veterans administration and its predecessors since 1919, has been made executive assistant to the administrator.

Bailey's is a new post which Bradley likened to the job of chief of staff to a general in the field. Continuing the parallel, he said he will shortly begin establishing 13 district branch offices comparable roughly to army service commands. These will supervise the work of 53 existing regional offices, hospitals, and other facilities, he explained, as army divisions are supervised by corps and corps by army headquarters, and so on.

Key to New System

He said that when he took office a month ago, the veterans administration was functioning satisfactorily for 5 million ex-soldiers, but that a reorganization was necessary to meet an anticipated load of 20 million men upon completion of the army and navy demobilization programs.

The new branch offices, which will be established in 13 cities, including Chicago, are the key to the new system. Each will be a branch of the central headquarters in Washington, and as rapidly as possible will assume the responsibilities for their respective areas heretofore handled exclusively in the capital.

The Chicago office will supervise veteran affairs in Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin. This will include veteran hospitals, rehabilitation centers and the work of the regional offices in these states that previously had to take their problems direct to Washington.

Among the first functions to be transferred to the branches will be the handling of death benefit and death pension claims, now being adjudicated solely in Washington and New York City. The regional offices already are handling the disability pension claims. This system will continue, Bradley said, except that the regional offices will seek guidance in unusual cases from their branch office instead of from Washington as in the past.

Seeks Speed, Efficiency

The general said the new organization would strive for speed and efficient handling of individual veterans' problems.

The plan calls for 11 assistants with clearly defined jobs covering all phases of the ex-soldiers' relations with the government. These will replace a miscelany of officers under the old setup who had overlapping functions and frequently shared responsibility in a number of fields.

Each of the new assistants will receive $10,000 a year pay. Deputy administrators heading the branch offices also are expected to be in the $10,000 bracket.

The administration's post-war plans also include drastic revision of many of the policies relating to veterans' hospitals, Bradley disclosed. No longer will these institutions be placed in isolated locations and at long distances from population centers. In the past veterans have complained bitterly over the locating of their hospitals in out of the way places, often far from the medical centers of the various areas.

Other Aims Revealed

In the future, Bradley said, hospitals will be located where possible in or near towns and will be operated in conjunction with the nearest medical centers. He added he also seeks to make research institutions of veterans' hospitals, offering internships that will attract young doctors, as is done in civilian institutions.

Concessionares, he said, will be replaced by army post exchange systems thru which the government expects to permit patients to buy a wider variety of supplies at lower cost than has been possible where outside interests have controled the concessions.

"Why, it's no job to take care of our kids. I just gave 'em some money and sent 'em to the movies."

IKE SAYS MOST GIs WILL SPEND HOLIDAYS IN U. S.

PARIS, Sept. 14 (AP)—The soldiers' dream of "home by Christmas" will come true this year for the great majority of GIs in the European theater of operations, Gen. Eisenhower said today. The general predicted that only 700,000 of the 3,100,000 troops in ETO would be left there by New Year's day.

"We are exerting every effort to get the greatest number of soldiers home or on their way home by Christmas," he said in a statement, urging service men's families to hold up Christmas parcels "if it appears the soldiers will be on their way home by Christmas."

"Last year approximately 30,000,000 parcels — an average of 12 per man — were handled in the Christmas mails in this theater," his statement said. "Getting that mail to Europe was a comparatively simple matter. Getting it back—following the trail of a redeployed soldier—will be a complicated task requiring the service of thousands of army postal troops who also want to go home."

Ex-Seaman Naps; Blonde and His $2,300 Vanish

Ted Jarosewski of Torrington, Conn., a discharged merchant seaman, told police yesterday that a blonde woman he met on a Chicago bound bus in Peoria had robbed him of $2,300. He said he went to sleep sitting beside the girl and that when he awakened at the Randolph st. station the girl and his wallet were gone.

PUBLIC ATTITUDE WORST HANDICAP OF MAIMED GIs

'Better Off Dead' View Discourages Them

BY NORMA LEE BROWNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Menlo Park, Cal., Sept. 14—Over 300,000 men in military hospitals have yet to win their toughest fight.

Their enemy is you, Mr. and Mrs. Public.

Hundreds of times in the last few weeks, civilians, shocked by reports of the horribly wounded, have asked me:

"Wouldn't they be better off dead?"

Restored to Near Normal

In order to realize the importance of rehabilitating, not the soldier but the public, one needs only to come here to the 3,000 bed Dibble General hospital, 30 miles south of San Francisco.

Dibble is one of the army's two blind centers and one of eight plastic surgery centers.

Here, in one of the most tremendous tasks confronting any hospital, youngsters who have lost not only their eyes but parts of faces, ears, noses, and jaws are being restored to as near normal as possible by some of the army's top plastic and eye surgeons.

Sometimes, as in the case of the boy whose optic nerve was severed when a bullet went in one side of his head and out the other, there are no facial scars.

But more often the same mortar fire, mine, or hand grenade that left a man sightless also ripped up his face.

Important to Blind, Too

Dibble surgeons do as careful a job of plastic reconstruction on the blind as they do for the sighted.

"Regardless of whether a man can see or not," said Maj. W. B. Macomber, chief of the plastic service, "his sense of touch is very important. In the blind it is greatly increased. If he reaches up and feels a defect in his face, his morale is lowered.

"We cannot rebuild faces to look entirely like the original. But no patient is released from the hospital until we have done everything possible to be done for him."

Many patients require several operations and Col. Paul H. Streit, commanding officer, predicts that the hospital, with its 13 main operating pavilions, will be just as busy for some time to come as it is today.

Try to Keep Real Eyes

When possible, corneal transplants are made on eye patients, tho according to Lt. Col. N. L. Cutler, supervisor of the program for the blind, it is impossible to transplant a whole eye. For psychological reasons, the patient's real eye, the sightless, is never removed unless absolutely necessary.

Custom made plastic eyes, unbreakable and softer in appearance than old-fashioned glass eyes, are made in the hospital's own eye laboratory, under the supervision of Maj. Stanley Erpf.

These doctors are giving their best in the hospitals to the boys who gave theirs at the front. But with all the miracles of modern medicine and surgery, the fight is only half won.

"I don't even want to go home," said a 21 year old private from Bloomington, Ill., who lost his left leg and left eye in Germany. "I can't stand people looking at me and whispering, 'My God.'"

This One Went Home

"I did go home," said 20 year old Pvt. 1st Class Charles Thibodo from the Red River Valley of Minnesota. "And all I heard was how shameful it was to take a good man like me and ruin me for life."

Chuck lost both eyes—and his girl friend. "It's hard at first," he said, "to get used to the darkness. You feel lost and afraid. Then you realize there's nothing to be afraid of. Nothing except those people out there who are more afraid of us than we are of the darkness."

When Chuck's plastic surgery is finished and he has his new eyes, he will be sent on to the army's Old Farms Convalescent Home for the Blind, where he plans to begin training in radio engineering. After that he is going to college.

His courage is typical of most of the blind patients in this hospital, none of whom consider themselves helpless or ruined for life.

Lucky to Have Fingers

"I'm not worried," said Tech. 5th Grade Edward Buczek of Plainfield, N. J., who was with the 713th flame thrower tank battalion on Okinawa. "I know how darn lucky I am to still have my fingers."

Both of Eddie's arms were bandaged. Only the tips of his blackened fingers were showing, and in his darkness he kept feeling those finger tips, and repeating with a smile on his shell burned face, "Jeez, but I'm lucky to have those fingers."

All he'd lost was both legs above the knees, and both eyes.

Pvt. 1st Class John Garcia of Sherman, Tex., sat in a wheel chair with his left leg in a cast. His toe nails were painted red and on his big toe he wore a blue bow-ribbon.

"For Victory!" he grinned. "Just wait till I get my new leg. There's a lot of things a blind man can do with one arm."

Nineteen year old Johnny had lost both eyes, his right arm, and leg.

Plan for Future

Most of these boys are making plans for the future. Some, like Pvt. Ray Gingras and Chuck Thibodo, will begin training at Avon. Many are going to college. One, who was a farmer, will now study for the ministry. One was an artist. He is now taking tap dancing in the hospital and plans to become a professional entertainer.

The hospital has completely rebuilt hopes that were shattered when the lights went out. Brick by brick, army doctors and nurses have miraculously laid the foundation for a brave, new world of strength and self-confidence for the blind.

But it's a world that crumbles like match sticks when the cab driver lifts him inside like a baby, when friends push or pull him as if he were helpless, when girl friends go back on him and women sniffle and old fools whisper as if he were deaf. "My God, I'd rather be dead."

He wouldn't, mister, so next time keep your tears out of hearing distance.

NAZIS ARE DUG IN IN ARGENTINA, U. S. ENVOY SAYS

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 14 (AP) — Spruille Braden, United States ambassador, speaking at the Argentine Social institute today, said that except for "one of the neutral countries adjacent to the struggle, there is no country in the world where the Nazis find themselves in such a strong position as they hold in Argentina."

The ambassador, who departs Sept. 21 to become assistant secretary of state in Washington, said the war "will not be over for the American republics until the Nazis, their agents, and collaborators have been ejected from their strongholds, where they are hiding and growing powerful in countries of the Americas."

Security Menaced

He said the Nazis' position in Argentina "menaces the security of American nations, our democratic way of life, and above all the principles commonly supported by Argentina and all the other American peoples."

"I hope and trust that the Argentine people will soon eliminate this menace," said Braden.

Peron Charges Plot

Meanwhile Col. Juan Peron, Argentine vice president and minister of war, struck out at "vile, mean propaganda" which he said was designed in a hope to "overthrow the government."

A general order to army officers said "fraudulent politicians, avaricious and unchristian men of affairs and the venal press" were in league, on the eve of national elections, to defeat the ends of the 1943 revolution.

Peron traced what he called "vile, mean propaganda aimed at provoking disorders and anarchy for the benefit of an interest which is strange to this nation," and asserted its instigators "hope with it to overthrow the government."

Switches Services

The navy gained a new fighter yesterday when Laurence T. Coffey, 24, of 1421 E. 55th st., an ex-army sergeant and veteran of five battles and 39 months of overseas service, enlisted for four years. He was sworn in by Lt. [j. g.] E. M. Johnson, a 25 year veteran of the regular navy. Ex-Sgt. Coffey enlisted as an apprentice seaman and will go to Great Lakes for training. He fought in Normandy, Northern France, the Ardennes, the Rhineland, and in central Europe. He was honorably discharged from the army June 20, this year. Coffey has a brother in the navy in the Pacific, and navy recruiting officials think that maybe the navy brother has been boosting navy service to the ex-army brother.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by BEN MARKLAND

Sept. 14, 1945.

THE Chicago Natural History [Field] Museum recently gathered Jerusalem artichoke specimens from an experimental plot on the Wheaton farm. Llewelyn Williams, the museum's curator of economic botany, plans to use the farm plants for making cellulose molds to be mounted in the museum hall of plant life. Tubers from the plants also will be shown when the display is completed.

The museum's interest in the Jerusalem artichoke brings to mind some of the history of this intriguing plant. The wild specimen, which may be seen now on midwest roadsides, is a relative of the sunflower and bears small yellow flowers on stems that commonly reach a height of 8 feet.

Rejected as Farm Food

The cultivated Jerusalem artichoke—the species being collected for museum display—was developed from the wild species, and for a time agriculturists thought it would become valuable as an ensilage crop. Farmers, however, never accepted the crop on any large scale.

Neither the wild nor cultivated Jerusalem artichoke is used for human consumption, the American variety sold in stores for table use being the globe artichoke grown in California.

Indians Lead the Way

The American Indian was the first user of Jerusalem artichokes, digging the wild tubers to be cooked as potato substitutes. French explorers of the early 17th century noted the Indians' use of the roots and sent specimens back to France to be cultivated. Later, the Italians grew the crop extensively and called it girasole articiocco, which means sunflower artichoke. When the English began cultivating the crop, they altered the Italian word girasole to Jerusalem, this accounting for the species name.

Both the cultivated and wild species of Jerusalem artichoke are perennial, and the planting on the Wheaton farm was made about eight years ago, when there was some agitation for use of the crop for feeding livestock. The forage may be cut and used for silage, and in this form yields from five to nine tons per acre. The tubers make a good hog feed, but the crop has not been practical for this use because of the labor involved in digging the roots.

★ The GARDEN ★

A COMMON complaint of almost all midwest gardeners this season points to lateness and low yield of tomato production. Plants in the farm's sample gardens hold an average of 15 to 20 fruits, but they are slow in ripening. Unseasonably cool summer weather has delayed maturity and continuation of this weather presages heavy damage if the fruits are still green when frost comes.

The only steps taken by the farm gardeners to hasten ripening are to cut away most of the leaf growth and remove all new blossoms. Some gardeners also are destroying the smallest green tomatoes on each vine. Elimination of leaf growth, particularly that which shades the largest fruit clusters, will expose the most advanced tomatoes to the sun and speed up ripening. This step is particularly advisable on plants left on the ground, but also is practical for staked plants.

URGES SUPER FBI TO FERRET OUT FOREIGN SECRETS

Wiley Seeks Bureau to Aid Defense

BY PHILIP DODD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14—An American intelligence service to cover international military, aerial, naval, technological, and commercial activities was recommended today by Sen. Wiley [R., Wis.] in a senate speech.

"It is shocking to note," said Wiley, "that we do not now and never have had a single coördinated intelligence service. . . . We can no longer allow this state of affairs to continue. At this moment there may very well be occurring foreign developments with regard to the atomic bomb which, were they known to our military officials, might seriously affect our defense plans."

Wiley acknowledged that the "cloak and dagger" office of strategic services performed intelligence functions during the war with regard to enemy affairs, but charged that coördination by the OSS, army, navy, state department, and federal bureau of investigation "left much to be desired."

Could Reduce Troops

In an interview following his speech, Wiley said that coördinated American intelligence in Germany and Japan during the occupation period would permit a 75 per cent cut in our occupation troops.

"We don't need to have nearly a million boys acting as policemen in the conquered territories," Wiley said. "But we do need to have a coördinated intelligence service to keep an eye on military, technological, and commercial developments in those areas."

Army officials testifying before the senate military committee this week have asserted 900,000 occupation troops are needed in the Pacific and 500,000 in European areas and have used those figures as a basis for their demand for a post-war army of 2½ million.

In his speech, Wiley said the proposed intelligence service should be a part of a "department of the armed forces" with a single cabinet officer as head.

Suggests Hoover as Head

It would include the army, the navy, and a section for research and technology under which the intelligence service would function. He suggested FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover as intelligence chief.

Following Wiley's speech, senators continued their attacks on army demobilization policies and on the proposed size of the post-war army. Senators Hill [D., Ala.] and Hoey [D., N. C.], both administration stalwarts, asserted congress should compel the speedy release of soldiers.

Sen. Connally [D., Tex.] said committees of congress should "stay on the necks" of the army and navy until they "act with some sense." He suggested the army screen its personnel to find young men desiring adventure and use them for occupation armies, rather than to keep men with long service overseas.

"I notice that three or four bills to make permanent generals and admirals are pending," said Connally. "The army and navy have time to do that, but they do not have time to go thru the rolls and select those to be released."

Connally ridiculed the work of congressional committees which call high army and navy officials before them, listen to the high officers' explanations, and go no further.

"I am of the opinion," said the Texan, "that we shall have to do more than say, 'Good morning, General. We are delighted to see you. We wish to congratulate you on your fine service at that desk down at the war department where you have been ever since Pearl Harbor.'"

British Cruisers Bring Aid to Prisoners in Java

ABOARD H. M. S. AWE EN ROUTE TO BATAVIA, Sept. 14 (AP) —A British task force approached Java today bearing swift relief for 60,000 prisoners of war in the Netherlands East Indies, some of whom may be American. The 5th cruiser squadron was moving in as an advance party, and the flagship cruiser Cumberland carried special personnel to aid the prisoners.

WORLD UNION STUDIES CODE ON WAR CRIMINALS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, Sept. 14—Among Geneva's international institutions which have now resumed activity is the International Interparliamentary union, made up of members of all nations parliaments. Its aim is to foster peace. Its last regular sessions were in 1940.

It is now presided over by the Belgian statesman, Henry Carton de Wiart. On the agenda of the union's present conference is a new international code against war criminals, of interest in view of the impending Nuernberg trials.

A delegation from the Swedish Peace society recently visited Geneva to rekindle the activities of the International Peace Office. Among the international agencies which found refuge in Switzerland during the war are the International Education Office in Geneva and the International Diplomatic Academy, which had moved from Paris to Geneva.

FLEECED YANKS; WOMAN, 20, GETS YEAR IN PRISON

Ruth Bowen, 20, accused of fleecing service men after taking them to a hotel room, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Frank E. Donoghue in Women's court to a year in the women's reformatory at Dwight on a charge of petty larceny. She admitted taking a watch and $130 from Chester Ricketts, a sailor, of Marion, Ind., after meeting him in a tavern and taking him to a loop hotel room. Police recovered the watch and the money when they arrested the woman on a similar complaint.

RELIGION TRIAL ENDS; DECISION DUE BY NOV. 29

Plaintiff's Non-Belief Is Cited by Defense

BY GUY GENTRY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Urbana, Ill., Sept. 14 [Special]—With closing of final arguments here late today in the suit to halt religious education in the Champaign city schools, Circuit Judge Franb B. Leonard said the decision by the three judge court, an action that may affect more than a million and a half students in 46 states, will be handed down by Nov. 29.

The attorney for Mrs. Vashti McCollum, who filed the mandamus writ, was given until Oct. 8 to file his brief. Attorneys for the Champaign school board were given until Oct. 22 to file their reply, and the plaintiff attorney's reply must be filed by Oct. 29. Judge Leonard said he and his two fellow judges, Grover W. Watson and Martin E. Morthland, will then hand down their decision within 30 days.

Final arguments in the suit that has gained nation-wide attention since its start last Monday began at 10 a. m. today and ended at 5 p. m. when Mrs. McCollum's attorney, Landon Chapman, concluded his argument and renewed his appeal for a writ to halt the city's religious education program.

Citations by Both Sides

The six hours of courtroom oratory was flavored with citations by both sides of federal and state decisions in cases having similar isues involved.

Arguments ranged from the claim of John Franklin, school board attorney, that because Mrs. McCollum declared on the stand she did not believe in God and therefore, being without religion, could not be deprived of religious freedom, to Chapman's assertion that "There is no such thing as nonsectarian religion."

Opposing attorneys disagreed as to the weight of evidence for or against the social pressure which Mrs. McCollum asserted in her petition was exerted against her son, James Terry, 10.

Defense attorneys cited the testimony of 14 Champaign junior high and grade school students to prove the program was not compulsory and that no distinction or embarrassment resulted from nonenrollment. Chapman insisted that the testimony of the McCollum boy specifically proved that he had been subjected to embarrassment and pressure.

"Biggest in Town"

"They brought in some children from the Methodist and Presbyterian and Christian churches, the biggest and the most popular in town," said Chapman. "Of course, they suffered no embarrassment. Why didn't they bring in Jehovah's witnesses pupils or Seventh Day adventists?"

"You can't teach religion without practicing a certain amount of religion, and that is what happened in these classes," Chapman insisted.

"As to Mr. Franklin's insistence this is a Christian nation, it is also the nation where we have atheists and agnostics, and where there is practiced shintoism and mohammedanism."

Chapman said, "The government protects religion after it has been established but it is not the duty of government either to start or foster any religion."

Cites First Amendment

"Taxpayers of this school district are not required to pay for religious education for any church or all the churches," the attorney said. "Religious education teachers have no more right to go into and take over a classroom in the public schools than a peanut vendor or a clothing salesman."

Citing the 1st amendment of the federal Constitution which prohibits any laws by congress establishing religion, Franklin had insisted that "this does not divorce the state from Christianity or religion generally or exclude any benefit to religion generally."

"This is a Christian nation," he declared. "We have oaths in our courts. Congress opens with a prayer, and so do our legislatures. The Christian religion is incorporated into the warp and woof of our government. Mrs. McCollum has no religion, and so there can be no violation of her religious freedom."

Franklin pointed out that the state purchases Bibles for inmates of the criminal institutions, "but these people here want to stop little children from reading the Bible."

Called a Convenient Handle

In opening the closing arguments for the defendants, Owen Rall, attorney for Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bash, intervenors in the suit, said the frequently used statement "separation of church and state" is a "convenient handle of what some one has in his mind and is without legal significance."

Rall said the evidence showed the Champaign program was a voluntary system, and insisted that "freedom of religious worship is not designed to protect atheists from the consequences of their own free choice, legal or social."

"If this suit is sustained," he warned, "the liberties of the parents who desire this religious education for their children will be infringed upon."

Starting his closing arguments after Rall had outlined the school board's case, Franklin said that "I can not refrain from adverting to the coincidence which results from the fact that just at the time that our nation has achieved a victory in a costly and bloody war against the nations of the world which banded together in their enmity and hatred of Christianity and religion generally, the scene has shifted to this little courtroom in a midwestern county and where again there are arrayed against us the forces of irreligion."

Calls Charge Refuted

Abe Peterson, Chicago attorney, employed by the church council of greater Chicago and the Illinois Church council, in closing for the school board, insisted the evidence had refuted the allegation that Terry had been subjected to religious and social pressure.

"The children demonstrated that the actual purpose of the program was the teaching of tolerance," Peterson said.

Asked by Judge Watson the situation in regard to Jehovah witnesess' classes in the schools, Peterson replied, "That is a matter of school board policy, but, as for myself, if they want to teach even atheism and can find anybody who would listen to them, I say let them teach it."

Chapman said the evidence showed the financial responsibility for the religious education program was divided and sectarian, that the Protestants paid for Protestant teachers, Catholics for the Catholic program and Jewish support paid for the Jewish program. Any other sect wishing to join the course must pay their own way, he added.

Because of this practice, he insisted that the various teachers were interested only in their own religion, and that "this is the beginning of letting the churches feed out of the public trough."

Inquiring Camera Girl

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. Mildred Meinert, Montague, Mich.]

THE QUESTION

WHERE ASKED

At Vaughan General hospital for veterans in Maywood.

THE ANSWERS

Pvt. Carroll Snyder, Cambria, Ia.—I enjoy talking about my home and I like to think about it, too. That's where I want to be. We have a farm, and I can't wait to get back to work on it. There would be nothing I would like better than to get back in time to shuck some of our tall corn this fall. That's the life for me.

Staff Sgt. John Wirthlin, Cincinnati, O.—Sports are my favorite topic, especially football. I played thru high school and for one year at Dayton university before going into the army. I'm going back to school when I get out of the hospital, but I won't be able to play any more. I was wounded in one foot in Germany.

Pvt. Ernest Finn, Gibson City, Ill.—I was a business man before I went into the army and I enjoy talking about post-war retail trade prospects. I have my own firm, which my father is running for me at the present time, but I can't wait to get back home and take over the reins myself. He will retire when I do.

Staff Sgt. Richard Hardman, South Bend, Ind.—I like nothing better than to talk about ways of getting out of the army and how to shorten the time till then. I'm looking forward to the future when I can go into business for myself. At first, however, I'm going to relax for a while and look around.

Tech. 5th Grade Paul F. Zurr, 3611 N. Christiana av.—Over in Europe we used to talk about food until we had ourselves drooling. I still like to talk about home cooked meals. You should taste the apple pie that my mother bakes. It's wonderful. My first meal home is going to be steak and a huge slice of that pie. I can scarcely wait for the time to come.

Pvt. Charles Arduza, 2024 Pierce av.—I have been married for four years and I like to talk about plans for the future. I want to get ahead and go into my own business. My wife and I have long conversations about it. We plan to have children and our own home some day. And believe me, it's not just talk either.

War Refugee Board Is Dissolved by Truman

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—President Truman today dissolved the war refugee board, composed of the secretaries of state and treasury, with William J. O'Dwyer of New York as executive director. The board was established Jan. 22, 1944, to succor the persecuted minorities in Europe. A White House announcement said the defeat of Germany and the liberation of Europe terminated the task assigned to the board.

FOOTBALL ON AIR TODAY; CHAINS PICK SAME GAME

BY LARRY WOLTERS

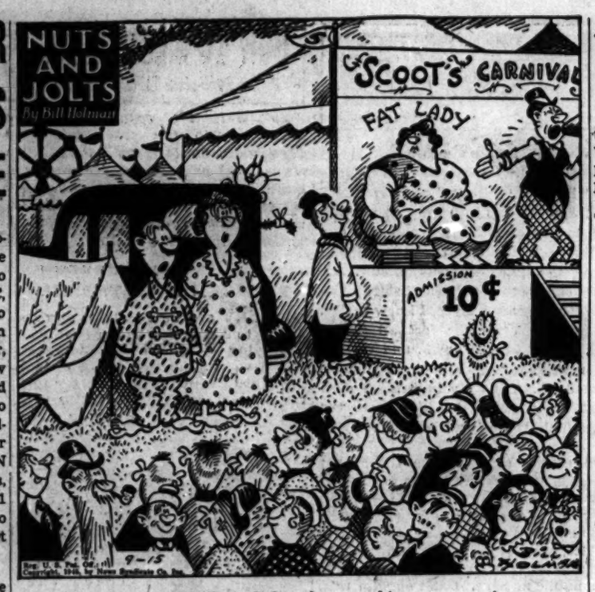
Football broadcasting begins today and, as in other years, the chains are showing a disposition to gang up on the same game. NBC, CBS, and ABC are all scheduled to report the Great Lakes-Michigan game at Ann Arbor. Tom Slater, sports director of Mutual in New York, said that since he believed "three networks are enough to broadcast a single game," he is holding off until the following week for the Minnesota-Missouri game. W-G-N will not carry the Mutual reports, but has arranged a schedule of 11 outstanding midwestern games, to start with the Illinois-Pitt contest on Saturday, Sept. 22.

Harry Creighton will give the play by play reports and Hal Totten is to describe the color and give statistics. Other games scheduled for W-G-N: Sept. 29, Illinois at Notre Dame; Oct. 6, Michigan at Northwestern; Oct. 13, Dartmouth at Notre Dame; Oct. 20, Illinois at Wisconsin; Oct. 27, Michigan at Illinois; Nov. 3, Navy at Notre Dame; Nov. 10, Northwestern at Wisconsin; Nov. 17, Notre Dame at Northwestern; Nov. 24, Illinois at Northwestern; Dec. 1, Notre Dame at Great Lakes.

WBBM has scheduled 11 games to start with Iowa State at Northwestern on Sept. 22. John Harrington will give the play by play. He will be assisted by Tom Foy. WJJD will carry the Notre Dame schedule, except on Nov. 10, when it will report the Northwestern-Wisconsin game. Jack Brickhouse will be the reporter.

Illness is causing two program changes over the week-end. Because Fanny Brice has not entirely recovered from her ailment, Eddie Cantor will take her place when Miss Brice's show returns to the air over CBS at 5:30 p. m. tomorrow. And Maggie Teyte, noted English soprano, will take the place of Oscar Levant, pianist, on the Great Artist series over NBC at 8 p. m. Monday. Levant's mother is critically ill in Pittsburgh.

Dick Tracy, the day time radio serial adapted from THE TRIBUNE's comic strip, will achieve the status of a night time radio show of a half hour, effective Saturday, Oct. 6. It will be aired from 6:30 to 7 p. m. each Saturday. The 15 minute Monday thru Friday shows for kids will continue.



"Good gosh, Bertha! I thought sure this was a tourist camp when we parked here last night."

3d Quarter Income Tax May Be Paid on Monday

The third quarterly payment of income tax due today may be paid Monday without any penalty because the internal revenue offices are closed on Saturdays.

LEADER BACKED IN STAGGERED HOUR CAMPAIGN

The council committee on local transportation, headed by Ald. Young [46th], yesterday approved Mayor Kelly's appointment of Philip Harrington, head of the city transit authority, as chairman of a committee to seek perpetuation of the staggered hour plan. Harrington, present at the committee meeting, said he believed the staggered hour program was one of the constructive features to emerge from the war.

Ald. Merryman [45th] introduced a resolution calling for the setting aside of 300 licenses for use by returning war veterans who want to drive taxicabs. The resolution was referred to a subcommittee for consideration.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph Grossman reported the ordinance limiting cab licenses to 3,000 cannot be repealed.

IT WON'T WORK

The New Dealers are fighting a bitter rear guard action against the truth about Pearl Harbor. They have, thru a clever parliamentary movement by Speaker Rayburn of the house, undertaken to pack the congressional investigating committee and make its inquiry as essentially inadequate as were those of the Roberts commission, and, to a lesser degree, the army and navy boards of inquiry.

It won't work. Too much of the truth is already known. An attempt to suppress the remainder is bound to blow up in the suppressors' faces, to their own vast political damage. They think they can play politics with Pearl Harbor. The nation will damn them for trying.

Mr. Rayburn thought up a very slick trick. He got the senate Democratic leaders to agree to bar from the committee any members of the house or senate naval or military affairs committee. His immediate objective was to disqualify Sen. Walsh of Massachusetts, a Democrat and chairman of the senate naval affairs committee. Walsh, an honest man, would have pursued the investigation with vigor. Rayburn was afraid of him. He has managed to keep him off the committee. The speaker's action amounted to dictating to the minority party whom it should appoint, inasmuch as Minority Leader Martin in the house had expected to name two members of the military and naval affairs committees and was prevented from doing so by Rayburn's phony rule.

The committee, as it is made up, is not too bad, but it necessarily must undertake its labors under a burden of public suspicion that it was appointed to do another whitewash job. From the senate, Mr. Ferguson and Mr. Brewster, the minority members, are, perhaps, the best whom their party could produce. Both are level headed, capable, and impartial. Both have fine records as investigators. Sen. George, of the Democratic group, is a fine and honest gentleman, who lost his flyer son in the war, and for that understandable and emotional reason will find it difficult to take an objective view of the evidence. Senators Barkley and Lucas are party hacks who can be depended upon to make the investigation safely innocuous if they have their way.

Rep. Martin, after his original choices were vetoed by Rayburn, named Rep. Gearhart of California, who naturally shares the feeling of his fellow citizens regarding the peril to which Pearl Harbor subjected them, and Rep. Keefe, an aggressive middle westerner. The three Democrats are nonentities, obviously intended to be the faceless men of the committee, supplying the votes when it is deemed wise for political purposes to suppress evidence and ignore witnesses. Mr. Rayburn overstepped himself here. His failure to pick outstanding members of his own party, some such men as Chairman Hatton Sumners of the judiciary committee, betrays his purpose even more fully than his intrigue against Sen. Walsh.

We say again, it won't work.

Speaker Rayburn acts as if he were a party to a terrible secret, which he is trying to cover up. The Pearl Harbor investigation should be nonpolitical. He and the other Democratic leaders in congress are doing their best to make it political. It won't work.

The survivors of the Roosevelt administration, in both the legislative and the executive branches, are attempting to sit in judgment on their own acts. Previously, they attempted to have subordinates sit in judgment on the acts of their superiors. That didn't work. The public was not taken in.

These Democratic higher ups are trying to protect Roosevelt and the cabinet members who were his stooges. They may think that they are satisfying the demand of personal honor in covering up the man who delighted in calling himself their commander in chief. No man can sell his personal honor by betraying the interest of his country, and that is what these men are doing.

Eventually, the full truth about Pearl Harbor, and the course which Mr. Roosevelt followed to take this country into war in violation of his pledges, will come out. If it does not come out of this investigation it will come out in a subsequent one, forced by public refusal to accept a fixed verdict, just as the public has refused to accept two fixed verdicts. And when the truth comes out Rayburn and all of the rest of the triflers with the truth, with their petty loyalties and their gross disloyalties, will be marked with shame even beyond the span of their own lives.

HOW MUCH DID WE PRODUCE?

Lifting of war time censorship made it possible for THE TRIBUNE to print the other day the first aerial photographs of five of the great war plants built in and about Chicago since 1942. These were the Buick, Studebaker, and Dodge-Chicago plants which made airplane motors, the Douglas plant which made transport planes, and the McCook plant in which the Aluminum Company of America rolled aluminum alloy for airplane and other war time construction.

The existence and appearance of these plants was certainly no surprise to any large proportion of our readers. Hundreds of thousands have driven past these plants since their walls started to rise three years ago. Tens of thousands have worked within their walls. Their products were generally known. What is not known and what is far more important than any airplane pictures of the plants is their production records.

During the war those were a jealously guarded secret on grounds of security. It could have been argued, even then, that publication of the production figures would have helped more than it harmed, because the overall production of the United States for war could only have discouraged our enemies had they known the figures. Any reason for withholding the production figures is now ended. They should be released not only as part of the war record but because they will be a valuable guide in planning for reconversion.

Several of these plants had production troubles. The strikes which interrupted production at the Dodge-Chicago plant became notorious. There were frequent rumors of inefficiency and waste of labor in that and other plants, some of which were sufficiently substantiated to justify publication. It is to the public interest to determine just how good a job these and other war plants thruout the country really did.

TOJO AND THE KANGAROO COURT

The expectation now is that Premier Tojo will recover. We hope he does because we want to see him hanged for murder—the crime with which he should be charged and of which he is unquestionably guilty.

Tojo [and with him other members of his government] sent the Japanese fleet to Pearl Harbor to attack it without a declaration of war. He had given this order to the Japanese navy at least a week before the bombs fell. It will, therefore, do him no good to plead that he had ordered his ambassadors in Washington to sever relations a few minutes before the attack was delivered. In truth, the men who died at Pearl Harbor were the victims of a murder plot as cold blooded and premeditated as any in criminal annals. Tojo and those of his colleagues who shared the responsibility should be made to answer for their offense.

What is true of Tojo is, of course, equally true of the Germans who are responsible for the undeclared wars started by the Nazis. They are properly chargeable with murder in Holland, Belgium, Denmark, Norway, and Poland at least, for they descended upon these countries without troubling to declare war and everybody killed by German bullets in the course of these conquests was the victim of murder.

If the trials of the war criminals were conducted on this basis, sanctioned by conscience and law over the centuries, there could be no possible objection. Men would be charged in regularly constituted courts with violations of laws which existed at the time the crimes were committed and those found guilty would be punished as the laws provided. If this plan were followed not a single responsible Nazi or Jap would escape the hangman and at the same time the world would be spared the spectacle of kangaroo courts trying and convicting men of crimes found in no statute book, crimes whose definitions must be improvised to fit the evidence as the trials proceed. A method more offensive to civilized concepts of justice could hardly be conceived. It is as if we had deliberately set out to show the world that we have no greater respect for law and decency than those whose lawless and indecent acts we propose to punish.

Mr. Francis Biddle has just been appointed the American member of the kangaroo court. It must be said at once that it is a job tailored to order for him, as his record as attorney general shows. He is a great fellow to make up law as he goes along; sadists must have taken particular delight in the legal subtleties he employed to slide past the Constitution and the statutes in his prosecutions and property seizures. The courts often upheld him, but occasionally, as in his attempt to railroad the 30 sedition defendants to the penitentiary, he was defeated to the satisfaction of every friend of constitutional liberty. As a judge in the kangaroo court Mr. Biddle's penchant for improvisation will be unrestrained except by his colleagues on the bench.

And that brings us to the announcement recently made that the Japanese war criminals are to be tried in an international court in which the British, the Chinese, and the Russians will also be represented. To this plan something more than the general objection against improvised law and an improvised court to enforce it can be raised.

What wrong did the Japanese commit in Malaya, for example, that the British had not committed before them everywhere the Japanese replaced the British colonial masters and in many other places as well? What law did the Japanese violate in Manchuria that the Russians had not violated in the Baltic states and many other countries they have seized by force? Even the Chinese, who are now granting concessions of territory and economic rights to the Russians and the British, must feel some hypocrisy in sentencing Japanese to death for demanding the same kind of preferential treatment under threat of force.

The whole war criminal program as it is developing smells of hypocrisy, sadism, and the lust for revenge. All concerned in it will share the infamy. As we have said before, all of this lawlessness in the name of justice can be avoided without sparing a single responsible German or Jap from the punishment he has earned. Men looking back over the record will wonder whether in our day we had so little confidence in the justice of our cause that we resorted to lynch law to punish our defeated enemies.

SOME HELP

[Reno Evening Gazette]

The tremendous costs of war in terms of money are reflected in the official announcement that our government is likely to spend 19 billion dollars less than was estimated before the conflict with Japan ended.

Of course, 19 billion dollars isn't to be "sneezed at," altho our government will still have to spend 66 bilion dolars in the current fiscal year, a major portion of which must still be chalked up against expenses resulting from the war. But from an economy standpoint our government has been doing a very poor job, even when extraordinary war expenses are considered.

During the fiscal year 1945 receipts were only 46 per cent of expenditures. The public debt increased nearly 58 billion dollars during the year, to a little more than $263 billion. The end of the war probably means that congress won't have to boost the present debt limit over the present $300 billion.

MR. PEPYS IS READY

15th Sept.—Think this must have been the week of the "turn of the year," as people say. All of a sudden had to slip into my topcoat, and the next day to put on a slicker, and the day after that I said, "Let's end the agony," and jumped into my medium weight union suit. Am now prepared to brave the equinoctial storms, for altho science says they are a myth, I know better.

Moreover, my perch for the football season at Dyche stadium is pegged down, and when I arrive there next Saturday I hope to find its splinters planed off. Thus my immediate post-war plans are fixed, except for tickets to the world series, which is the prettiest mystery of the year.

Have noted among signs of the times that street cars, buses, and subway trains are not as crowded as they were a few months back, altho the population of the country is larger than it was by several millions, on account of the returning armies. Also, there is more space on the sidewalks, and suitcases carried by dreamers have ceased to be a public menace. Can't explain this, except by the old war word, "conditions." In war or peace, "conditions" are always peculiar.

Am advising the post-war inventors of atomic gadgets to consult my friend Delos Avery, who has been making a deep study of the subject. He intends to explode an atomic bomb over a coal pile and thus make diamonds by the ton. When the South African diamond trust hears of this, Mr. Avery may find himself in serious trouble.

WOODLAND REFUGE

Forgotten completely are fret and annoyance;
Remembered again are God's mercy and love,
As I lie in this fastness here, free of all labor,
The green woods around me, the blue sky above.
From the noise and the heat, from the madness and fury,
Came I for refuge here, seeking the calm
Found in these solitudes. Woodlands and rivers,
Dear is your peace to me, welcome your balm.

Soothed and contented, I hear the soft waters,
And see them flow by, in the silver sun-gleaming,
And I think, while half dozing at peace in the shadows,
How sweet is the season of summer for dreaming.
In the call of the thrush, in the stir of the grasses,
In the solacing song of the tremulous leaf,
I catch the sweet voices of loved ones departed,
And my heart is made glad again, gone is its grief.

O, idle my fancies are now, and as vagrant
And as much without aim as the truant winds are
That hitherward blow to me, bringing the fragrant
Scent of gay woodland blooms growing afar.
Lost to man's busy world, far beyond hearing
Of steps that, in haste, go hurrying by,
I rest on this pleasant bank, lazily dreaming,

Summer Is A-Going Out

The wind blows with the warning that summer has been almost spent. Ten foot giant sunflowers bow low to the winds. Sudden gusts bend them down dangerously to the breaking point, as if they pleaded on bended knees for just a little more time in which to wear their greenery.

Gray clouds boldly step across the sky to hide a fading summer sun which has bronzed the prairies. Wind-driven newspapers, like white pennants of surrender, rush forth and seem to beg for peace.

The steel mill stacks that languidly belched forth ore-colored smoke during the summer now wear wind-driven flowing manes. Fog hazes the horizon, out of which is born hard-driving rains, snows that drift and fly like powdered sugar, and winds chill you to the marrow.

Good-by to summer and the times you felt just too hot and tired to eat.

SPIDER vs. FLY

(A Brookfield Ballad.)

They say that each thing on our earth
Has its own value, use, or worth,
And every bug we class as pest
Is just as worth-while as the rest.
Of course, it takes intensive skill
To find the purpose some fulfill.
The spider, we may dogmatize,
Exists to help in catching flies,
But it's quite hard to classify
The humble, omnipresent fly;
And yet they make the score complete,
For spiders must have them to eat!

Friend of the Yanks

Mrs. D. T. writes: "My husband will be 35 in October. He was inducted into the army last February. We have two children. Is the army going to release fathers soon or will he have to go overseas for occupation duty?"

Under the latest war department regulation, enlisted men are eligible for discharge if they have 80 or more points as of Sept. 3; if they are over 38 years old, or over 35 and have had a minimum of two years of honorable service. An enlisted man 34, 35, or 36 who has had more than one year of honorable service will not be sent overseas. Neither will those 37 or over who had 45 points or more as of last May 12. Enlisted men can be sent overseas only if less than 34 and they have less than 45 points, or if 34, 35, or 36 and have less than a year of service and less than 45 points as of May 12. According to this regulation, it is possible that your husband can be sent overseas for a year or more of occupation duty.

H. S. asks: "Will the government pay the 3 per cent interest on bonus bonds for World War I veterans after the past due date if they have not been cashed? Will the government charge federal income tax on the bonds after they have been cashed?"

No interest will be paid on the bonds after the due date. Income from the bonds, like all other benefits paid by the veterans' administration, are exempt from income taxation.

PINWORM INFESTATION

MANY a child has been driven to distraction because of itching produced by the pinworm. This pest is one of the few worms which man can claim for his own inasmuch as its entire life cycle revolves about humans. Since there are no suitable experimental animals, it has been impossible to trace the complete habits of the invader. Its frequency can only be estimated. Sisk states that between 20 and 35 per cent of the population in certain groups will harbor the crawlers.

To the zoölogist, the little fellow is called "Enterobius vermicularis." The female migrates from the rectum after the victim has retired, to deposit her eggs upon the skin of the surrounding area. As many as 11,000 may be laid at one time. That the eggs may be scattered far and wide is evident from the studies of Cram. She actually found them in 91.7 per cent of the samples of dust collected about various parts of an infected household. All rooms yielded specimens altho the greatest number were found in bedrooms.

Like teething, many symptoms have been blamed on these parasites. There are, however, some definite signs. The travels of the female at night are associated with intense itching. Scratching may be so violent that the skin is broken and infection from other germs takes place. Because of the irritation, sleeping is interfered with and the youngster becomes nervous or listless. Loss of appetite, headache, thumbsucking, or tics may be observed.

The existence of the parasite within the intestine is capable of causing trouble. Pain is not unusual and nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea may result. Now and then the appendix is invaded. Should bleeding be a problem, anemia may follow.

Since the eggs are deposited outside the intestinal tract, examination of the stools may fail to reveal their presence. Recently a special cellophane swab was developed by the National Institute of Health which made possible a more accurate means for obtaining the trespassers. Under the microscope, the culprits are readily identified.

Until the introduction of gentian violet no remedy was too successful. This chemical is given in tablet form and, after a 10 day course, improvement may be expected. Unfortunately, a few individuals encounter discomfort with this form of medication but it usually subsides when the dosage is reduced. Tetrachlorethylene has also been used but is less effective than gentian violet. It does have one advantage, however, in that only one dose need be administered.

Because reinfection is common thru contaminated hands, ammoniated mercury should be applied not only to the fingers but to the rectal region. Meticulous cleanliness and extra precautions are required in this stubborn type of infestation. We can well understand why eradication is difficult unless all infected members of the family are treated.

OXYGEN HELP

R. T. writes: What is oxygen therapy?

REPLY

This gas has been utilized in several ways for treatment purposes. It is most frequently used in relieving shortness of breath occasioned by heart or lung disease. The routes of administration include the tent, mask, nasal catheter, or room. It also has been injected beneath the skin, where it is absorbed.

SCAR

C. M. writes: Is there any treatment for the removal of a scar?

REPLY

This depends on the type. Keloids, for example may require radiation and surgery. When the lesion contracts the skin or is disfiguring, plastic surgery may be indicated. Minor blemishes may be benefited by physiotherapy—massage, heat, etc.

SULFA GUM

T. R. writes: Is sulfa gum effective?

REPLY

Yes, in certain individuals and conditions. The usual precautions apply to the drug—i. e.: it should not be self-prescribed; and the user should make certain that he is not allergic to the chemical.

BLOOD TEST

B. V. writes: After reading your article on hypoglycemia, it struck me that this may be my trouble. How can I be tested to find out if my blood sugar is too low?

REPLY

Mutual Understanding

For all we know Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins, wife of the chancellor of the University of Chicago, may not have been present at the faculty dance at all, but the way we heard it she was asked to dance by a strange gentleman [a stranger, that is, to her]. As they danced along, he began to speak his mind on the subject of Mr. Hutchins. He was not in accord with Mr. Hutchins. Was she? She smiled and asked if he knew who she was. He looked at her closely and said he wasn't sure. She told him. He missed a step or two on the floor. Then he said: "Do you know who I am?" She did not. "Fine," he said. With that he disappeared from the dance floor.

Vacation Note

The 6th graders in a Park Ridge grammar school were asked to draw a picture of their most memorable vacation experience. One named Butch had been very fortunate; he had spent one week on a farm, had gone with his father on a trip to Denver with side trips to Pike's Peak and the Rocky Mountain national park, and had been on a week's boat trip thru the Great Lakes with a visit to Niagara Falls. But he drew a picture of a boy in bed. Underneath it he wrote: "It was best to lie in bed and know you didn't have to get up."

War Time Meeting

One of the tragic little ironies dotting the war was told the other day by Tech. Sgt. Glenn Fitzgerald, marine combat photographer, passing thru on his way home from Okinawa. During the height of the fighting there, when the 1st regiment of the 1st marines was just about to take Shuri castle, he ran into a naval commander, a doctor, who had just come ashore. The doctor asked if he by any chance knew where he could find a Lt. Asquith. Fitzgerald knew very well; Asquith, known as Dee, was with the engineers, having joined the marines after inventing and perfecting a device for distilling sea water into drinking water. He also heard Asquith speak of his stepfather, a navy doctor for 30 years. "Sure," he replied, "he's up in the line. Say, you're not his stepfather, are you?"

He was. Could Fitzgerald take him up to the boy? Fitzgerald couldn't. The field was one sheet of mortars after another, with Jap "freight trains," outsize mortar shells equipped with propellers that caused a sound like 10 screaming babies or one tortured woman, howling overhead, but if all the telephones weren't in use, Fitzgerald could get in touch with him. He did and Asquith came down, thru layers of mud and torrents of rain.

Along came mess time. A mess kitchen had been set up in a broken tomb, its top covered with a tarpaulin. In the field the men [of the marines] eat first, the officers last, each lining up with his mess kit, and perching anywhere along the rocks to eat. The rain stormed down, making rivers of the food, but all ate staunchly. The doctor, accustomed to the comforts of Halsey's flagship, gasped, but followed suit. Pretty soon the son said he had to get back to the line. "I've got 45 men up there," he explained. The father said he planned to stay on Okinawa all night because the flagship, to evade the kamikaze attacks, had gone back to sea. "Know where I could stay?" he asked. "Well," the boy said hesitatingly, "would you like to stay on the line with me?" "I'd love to!" the doctor replied, to the astonishment of all, and off they went.

It was a bad night, but it ended, and around noon the doctor made his way back to the beach to meet the admiral's small boat. He missed it by 15 minutes, but when the ship was 100 miles out, it sent back a scout plane to pick him up. Fitzgerald saw him off.

The doctor was still fuming about the indescribable discomforts the marines fought under. He wanted to alleviate it in some way. The minute he hit the flagship he was going to try to do something about it. "Beer, perhaps," he smiled. He didn't have a chance to. He never made the ship. Having survived one of the worst nights in the line on Okinawa, he stepped confidently into the scout plane, which was never seen again.

RUN FROM LONDON

Monroe, N. C., Sept. 8—The Tribune editorials shine out as diamonds amongst the rubbish in the American newspaper field, and if it weren't for the clarion voice of this paper against the desecrators of the inspired works of our founding fathers, our patriotic zeal and fervent love for peaceful neutrality and individuality would be crushed. Judging by the cowardly role played by practically all the newspaper editors in the nation during the war, we have a right to suspect that the British, through their offices here and abroad, took over the editorial and general publicity functions of the American press. This assumption is sustained by recent events, and is in line with Churchill's request at Boston three years ago when he demanded that the American people be taught to forget the Revolution, and the two democracies become united in the "British United States Empire."

Come to think of it, I have not heard the name of Washington praised from the New Deal throne during the last 12 years. That alone justifies our suspicions that his great works and words have been cowardly repudiated as the first step to our subordination to the British crown.

Encouraged by the late commander in chief, the British, thru surreptitious methods, have got far more loyal service from Americans than from all their hundreds of millions of economic slaves combined. Lincoln hated slavery and stopped it here. The British both cherish and survive by slave labor, and stubbornly perpetuate it, yet they want us to call them noble and "peace loving democrats," motivated by nothing but the grandest humanitarian ideals. The ease with which they slid us into this world government is a sample how American politicians—not statesmen—swallowed it.

Engagement Announced Today

[Nelidoff Photo]

Miss Anita McCahey and Winton Schoonmaker Gray, who will be married next February. Their engagement is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James B. McCahey. Mr. Gray, formerly a lieutenant in the naval reserve, now is on inactive duty.

Anita McCahey Will Be Bride of Former Navy Lieutenant

BY JUDITH CASS

INTERESTING romantic news is contained in the announcement Mr. and Mrs. James B. McCahey of Astor st. are making of the engagement of their daughter, Anita, to Winton Schoonmaker Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Gray of Buhl, Idaho. The wedding will take place in February.

Miss McCahey is a graduate of the Sacred Heart academy in Lake Forest and of Bennett Junior college in Millbrook, N. Y. She was studying at the Art Institute of Chicago when the war started but left her studies in January, 1942, to join the American Red Cross Motor corps. She now is a lieutenant in charge of night motor drivers. Miss McCahey also is active in the Service club, as is her sister, Miss Claire McCahey, and both serve on its board of directors.

Mr. Gray attended the University of Idaho and the University of California at Los Angeles. He was a lieutenant in the naval reserve, serving three years overseas attached to the Seabees. He was at Pearl Harbor in December, 1941. Mr. Gray now is on inactive duty and is at home in Buhl, but is expected to return to Chicago during the Christmas holidays.

It is hoped that Miss McCahey's brothers, Capt. McCahey Jr. of the army and Seaman 1st Class Fred McCahey, will be at home for the wedding. Capt. McCahey is aide de camp to Gen. Harry Collins in Salzburg, Germany, and Seaman McCahey is at Pearl Harbor.

Wedding News

Charles Roy McEldowney of Flossmoor will give his cousin, Miss Margaret Allan Strale, in marriage to Edwin R. Eckersall at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the Church of the Holy Comforter in Kenilworth. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. R. Everett Carr of La Grange, a lifelong friend of the bridegroom. A reception will follow in the Evanston home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Charles Stoddard Williston.

With her wedding ensemble the bride will carry a prayer book covered with heirloom rose pointe lace and white orchids. Mrs. Harold W. McGraw Jr. of Dayton, O., will serve as matron of honor, and Miss Jane Cheney, Miss Jean McEldowney, Mrs. Norman J. Westerhold Jr., and Miss Mary Jane Brummel will be bridesmaids. Raymond A. Eckersall, whose little daughter, Barbara, will be flower girl, will attend his brother as best man. Another brother, Victor H. Eckersall, will usher with Bruce S. Parkhill, Anthony L. Michel, and Leslie Y. Allardyce. Mr. Eckersall, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse B. Eckersall, will take his bride on a wedding trip to the Virginia Hot Springs before they return to live in Evanston.

At 4:30 p. m. today in the Winnetka Congregational church, Miss Barbara Louise Ramser, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harold A. Ramser of Winnetka, will become the bride of Pvt. Edmund H. Reppert Jr., son of Mrs. Reppert of Flemington, W. Va. A reception will follow in the Michigan Shores club. Miss Ramser will have Miss Barbara Bowen as maid of honor and the Misses Marjorie Cassells and Sally Withers as bridesmaids. Alfred Reppert will be his brother's best man, and serving as ushers will be four of the bridegroom's classmates from the Northwestern university medical school and the bride's brother, William Ramser. After a wedding trip Pvt. Reppert and his bride will live in Chicago while he completes his medical studies.

The satin bridal gown and heirloom rose pointe lace veil in which the former Charlene Mork became Mrs. Robert W. Liess will be worn today by her sister, Miss Jane Helen Mork, for her marriage to Lt. David Monfort Carroll of the naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Arthur Carroll of Poland, O. The 4 p. m. ceremony for members of the two families and a larger reception at 4:30 p. m. will be held in the Winnetka home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pelfer Ralph Mork.

Here and There

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Martin have arrived in Winnetka on their first visit in three years and are staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Northrop, before continuing on to Tryon, N. C., for a visit with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs.

Consider Plans for All-Nations Music Meeting

Ambitious plans for an International Music Education congress in 1946 were being discussed as leaders from nine middle western states gathered yesterday in the Edgewater Beach hotel for the first of eight regional meetings of the National Federation of Music Clubs. The conference will continue thru today.

Proposal for the all-nations music meeting will be brought formally before the delegates today by the national president, Mrs. Guy Patterson Gannett of Portland, Me., who said the idea originated with Mme. Olga Samaroff-Stokowski, member of the post-war planning committee. The congress would renew the first international music education event, which was held in Prague, Czechoslovakia, in 1936. Delegates at the meeting here will be unable to take definite action on the suggestion since only a section of the federation is represented, but it may make a recommendation for consideration by other regional assemblies meeting later in other parts of the country.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York has offered its rare collections of musical instruments as a nucleus of exhibits at such a congress, it was disclosed. Mrs. Gannett and her associates on the national board suggested that delegates be invited from as many countries as could be reached. They favor a six day program consisting of lectures and demonstrations in all phases of musical education of concerts and exhibits.

Reporting on war service, the national chairman of that committee, Mrs. Ada Holding Miller of Providence, R. I., told the delegates that $85,000 had been spent on musical equipment for the services. Two million recordings, instruments, and other musical articles were sent to men overseas. Every hospital ship, she said, was equipped with instrument kits and as rapidly as possible these were being provided also for troop transports.

Thru a music-in-hospitals committee set up in 1942, increasing attention has been given to musical therapy, particularly for the mentally ill, it was reported, and 215 hospitals are receiving service. Members contributed almost 4,000 hours of musical therapy programs.

Dr. Ira M. Altshuler, neuropsychiatrist who directs music therapy at the Eloise Mental hospital, came from Detroit to address the meeting in line with the committee's expanding program. Dr. Altshuler spoke earlier in the day to the nurses and therapists at Vaughan General hospital and before returning will address the Illinois Neuropsychiatric institute today.

U. of C. Diplomas Go to 344; 3 Colleges of U. of I. Graduate 222

Degrees were conferred on 344 students at the University of Chicago's 222d convocation yesterday, while 222 graduates in medicine, pharmacy, and dentistry received their degrees at fall commencement exercises of the three Chicago colleges of the University of Illinois.

Discovery of the atomic bomb has projected the professor more deeply into government, Joseph A. Brandt, director of the University of Chicago Press, told the University of Chicago graduates. "When the scholar decided to turn over to the government his knowledge of the atom, he at once assumed responsibility for the kind of government which would use the atomic bomb," he said.

Addressing the graduates of the University of Illinois colleges, Col. Howard W. Doan of the army surgeon general's office said that dental officers made 1½ million sets of false teeth for American service men during the war. "At first men were rejected on account of bad teeth," he added, "but later it was decided that if a man could open his mouth he could be accepted and the dentist could put in the teeth."

New Food Unit for the Home

This is what the new food freezer for the home will look like. Its two large cylinders, to be kept at a temperature of zero, have a capacity for about 335 pounds of perishable foods.

Eagerly Sought Home Freezer Soon Will Be on the Market

BY EDITH WEIGLE

Altho it's just a youngster in the field of household equipment [about 7 years old], the home freezer is one of the most popular of all modern items. Its proven efficiency during war days, when it helped to prevent shortages by storing war garden produce, meats, and fruits, has increased an already country-wide demand for it.

What will the new home freezer units look like, how much will they hold, how will they perform, and how often will they have to be defrosted? We visited the factory of the original product to get the answers to these questions and to see the first post-war unit which American women will be able to inspect at their dealer's in November.

The freezer is a handsome two cylinder affair with top openings and is finished in white except for the lids, which are of shining black plastic. The two cylinders are separated by a center, louvered section thru which air circulates. The temperature inside is maintained at zero automatically. Experts say that this degree of cold is the right one for keeping foods frozen over periods of time. Any higher temperature is not advocated.

Based on the estimate of the National Electrical Manufacturers' association that one cubic foot of freezer space holds an average of 35 pounds of perishable foods, this double unit freezer of more than 9½ cubic feet can take care of approximately 335 pounds of meat, vegetables, fruits, ice cream, pies, soups, salads, and other foods.

Under average conditions it is necessary to defrost only twice a year. Many owners find once a year is sufficient.

Fresh bread may be placed in the freezer today, or a half a cake that's left over from dinner, or a batch of muffins or biscuits or doughnuts, and taken out 10 days or a month from now, just as fresh and flavorful as ever. Cooked foods keep as well as uncooked ones in a home freezer.

The makers of this unit have a reason for keeping it cylindrical in form. "The cold goes 'round and 'round; food is virtually wrapped in a cylinder of cold," they say. And anything put in the center is never more than 9 inches from the source of the zero temperature. In a rectangular unit this would not be the case.

Also, the freezer must stand away from the wall slightly to let the air circulate properly. This cylindrical form and the narrower center section insure the right position.

A few months after the double unit becomes available, a second, smaller freezer of a single cylinder, designed to meet the need in homes with limited space, will be put on the market. It will look much like the other, except that the louvered section will be directly underneath it. And of course its capacity will be just half of the larger unit. It will have the same top opening and black plastic lid.

A valuable war time service was performed by the company making the freezer. It made industrial chilling equipment that literally froze gun breeches and steel airplane parts at a temperature of 120 degrees below zero, thus eliminating the danger of contraction and expansion when in use in great varieties of climates in combat zones. Once the steel came out of the ice box, as it were, it was set for good.

This same principle of freezing is the one you'll find working with equal efficiency in your new home freezer, except that you won't want it quite so cold!

This is the third in a series of articles by Edith Weigle, home furnishings editor of The Tribune, on new post-war household equipment. Miss Weigle is visiting midwest factories now being converted to peace time production to give readers a first hand report of latest inventions.

Smart Parents Loosen Strings on Adolescents

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Are you knotting the apron strings which tie your teen-age children to you, or are you, in wisdom, loosening them?

"I've had to do some tall thinking and changed my attitude toward the children, now that they are as big as I am, and maturing so rapidly. It's not easy—but it's important if my family's going to stay really united, I can see that."

One of the very hardest lessons that loving parents have to learn is to take their big sharp shears in hand and eventually cut the apron strings. Our children must have leading strings, apron strings—call them what you will—when they're little. But those must be loosened and finally cut as the years skim by and they are at last grown up.

Many parents don't even do this when their children go to work or are old enough to go to college. If the apron strings won't quite reach there, they will piece them out with telephone wires, letter paper, or even cables! Yes, actually.

One of the greatest problems confided to their woman adviser by the girl students of a leading college is the enmeshing, the clinging, or the domineering affection and authority that are exercised by parents over their grown daughters.

Nothing at all is gained by these tactics. Girls as well as boys are made restive and rebellious. They frequently feel humiliated, in these days of freedom, by such signs of dependence.

And, to be quite honest, many of the things that we do that keep our children dependent are a form of self-indulgence.

If we look the facts straight in the face we must acknowledge that it is a joy to many of us to feel that our children are not old enough to stand on their feet; we don't want to lose them. We are not thinking of their best good when we continue to guide, guard, and do for them past the time when we should.

General Federation of Women's Clubs to Meet Here in June

The General Federation of Women's Clubs will hold a convention in Chicago next June. Announcement of the meeting was made yesterday by Mrs. Theodore S. Chapman, president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, following a state board meeting.

Because of war time travel restrictions, the 1945 convention was canceled. The general federation's last meeting was in St. Louis.

Mrs. Chapman also announced that Mrs. Walter M. Rennie, immediate past president of the state federation and Illinois director of the national board, would serve as general chairman of the 1946 convention. Mrs. Rennie recently was appointed secretary of the state public welfare department.

Miss Carla Hawley, who will return to the Erskine school Sept. 24, will take part in an amateur models contest Monday in the Key club. She also is helping the Service club with plans for its benefit opening of the Ice Follies Nov. 2 in the Chicago Arena.

Film Graphically Mirrors War; Gene Kelly Stars in a Musical

By Mae Tinée

"THE TRUE GLORY"

Produced by Joint Anglo—American Film Planning Committee, released by Columbia Pictures for Office of War Information, and directed by Capt. Garson Kanin and Carol Reed. Presented at the Garrick.

Quietly, but forcefully and pointedly, as is his wont, Gen. Eisenhower speaks a trenchant introduction to this documentary film which touches briefly on the key battles which took place in Europe from D-day to V-E day. The coöperation of the allies is the keynote of this message from the man who had the gigantic and sorrowful responsibilities of guiding our destiny and sending men into battle, and his sole request to the country he served is that we do for peace what we were eager and willing to do in war.

The film itself is a shining example of coöperation, the work of the American Capt. Garson Kanin and the British Carol Reed as directors, with shots from many sources. Covering the preparation for D day, marching swiftly from battle to battle [Cherbourg, Paris, Bastogne, the Ruhr, and Remagen bridge are only a few], it demonstrates the coördination of all forces—ground, air, service, and naval—of all allied nations who had men, ships, and materials to offer—with a running commentary from those who did the fighting, the GI, the Tommy, the Frenchman.

The comments are straightforward and natural. When the going was tough and bloody, when red tape got all fouled up, when boredom and monotony reigned—there is no hesitation about saying so. Gen. Eisenhower himself refers to the staff of SHAEF as "us brass hats" as he notes that wars are fought by the enlisted men, and the soldiers' comments seem completely unaffected and undirected, with bluntness, humor, and pathos in everyday language and a variety of accents.

There are numerous awesome and moving shots — the colossal amassing of material, the unbelievable armada of ships, the sunken, pain-filled eyes of the weary infantry, the curly head of a young dead soldier, the contorted faces of the wounded, and the piteous condition of the bodies, living and dead, found in the German prison camps, horrible proof of why the forces of fascism had to be stamped out.

It's a wonderful and a terrible and a thought-provoking document, which ends on a dire note of warning that this may be our last chance—if we "let slip the dogs of war" again, all the agony, the bravery of these soldiers has been in vain.

"ANCHORS AWEIGH"

Produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, directed by George Sidney, featuring Frank Sinatra, Kathryn Grayson, Gene Kelly, Jose Iturbi, Dean Stockwell, Pamella Britton, Rags Ragland, Billy Gilbert, Henry O'Neill, Carlos Ramirez, James Flavin, and Edgar Kennedy. Presented at the United Artists.

If Gene Kelly isn't the talk of the town after his performance in "Anchors Aweigh" I will eat some of those "motherless" eggs the soldiers are so sick of.

Frank Sinatra is a nice guy who sings pleasingly and performs unassumingly and likably; Jose Iturbi plays what professionals call "a nice piano" and is a genial gent to boot; but Mr. K. has everything—looks, personality, ease of manner and delivery—and how he can dance! [I take it you'll understand that I think he's good, so I won't rave any longer.]

"Anchors Aweigh" is first rate, if lengthy entertainment. It's all about a girl and two sailors [Sinatra and Kelly] who meet accidentally when the men are pressed into service to dissuade a runaway youngster from joining the navy. The child explains that he lives with his Aunt Susie, and Kelly decides she's not much good as Donald's guardian, and so informs her when they meet.

The fact that Auntie is young and pretty doesn't deter him — for a while. However, his pal [a shy type] has spent most of his pre-navy life as a choirmaster, and would love to have a girl, so Kelly, definitely

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 14—George Jessel will produce two of 20th Century's biggest films this coming year—"The Bandwagon," which will feature "Dancing in the Dark," and "Hello, My Baby," based on the life of Joe E. Howard, who wrote "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now" and many others. They'll both be in technicolor. Georgie takes time out Oct. 19 to be toastmaster at the annual party for newsmen and cameramen in Washington. He'll introduce President Truman. Nobody does that sort of thing better than Jessel. . . . Hal Wallis gets "Desert Town," by Ramona Stewart. It will appear first as a serial in a magazine. Ramona has already arrived in town to work on the script. . . . Rita Hayworth and Glenn Ford have no time for gin rummy on the "Gilda" set. They're too busy discussing and showing each other pictures of their offspring—Rebecca and Peter.

Big Welcome Awaits Her!

Priscilla Lane wants to return to the screen as soon as her Warner contract ends. I believe it has two more months to run. . . . Travis Banton will design Loretta Young's clothes for the Orson Welles picture, which may hold up its starting date until the end of September. . . . Dick Powell is in a Santa Monica hospital for a complete checkup. . . . Harry James will bring 15 major league ball players out to put on some special ball games here for charity. He's a nut about the game. Wonder if he can recite "Casey at the Bat." . . . Reason you haven't seen Fay Helm since "Son of Lassie" is she's having a baby in ten days. Fay has quite a history. As a kid she did ten shows for Murphy's comedians and has some wild and woolly tales to tell about those early days.

He's Got What It Takes

After Xavier Cugat's concert at the Bowl the other night, I don't believe anything can stop him from making a world-wide tour, concertizing Latin American folk songs. His concert was so good he'll repeat it tomorrow night. . . . Artur Rubenstein is crazy to do more pictures since finishing "Concerto." He and Jose Iturbi dined with Harry Cohn, then Harry ran off a preview of "Song to Remember" for them. Artur winked at Jose, turned to Harry, and said, "Sorry, this picture will be a dismal failure." Harry nearly swallowed his Adam's apple, and said, "Why?" "No boogie-woogie," replied Rubenstein. . . . Gracie Fields should startle the natives when she lands in Tokyo to do a show Sept. 30. . . . So much has been written about Tokyo Rose I'd like to say that the boys I've talked to were mighty grateful for the latest records she always played for them. But they could have cut her throat when she'd predict what would happen the following day, just what units would be involved, where the engagements would take place, then end with "We'll be waiting for you boys." Many times she hit the nail on the head.

Hi, There! Nice Seein' You, Matty

Nice to welcome Maj. Matty Fox, vice president of Universal, back. He's done a magnificent war job. . . . What's this about Col. Melvyn Douglas trying to whip up another GI show for Broadway? . . . There's more chit-chat about whether Bing Crosby will continue his Thursday night radio show. The latest idea would put millions in the kitty for musicians, since it would be a half hour show of Bing's Decca records with a little dialog recorded and interlarded. The musicians, who've already made the records, will be paid again when this goes on the air. Mr. Petrillo likes this idea. But I don't know why Bing bothers. He can retire and let his kids carry on. I hope you didn't miss them with Frank Sinatra the other night. With all that good dialog written by Glen Wheaton, plus Martha Tilton and the Pied Pipers, looks as tho Frankie has the right type show at last. . . . Since Irene Selznick joined her mother at the Plaza hotel in New York Jennifer Jones and David Selznick are very much at home at the Mocambo. . . . Also Peggy Ryan, with her brother, Michael, just back from Germany. . . . Diana Lynn gave Mona Freeman a honey of a shower. . . . Jane Withers has left for a New York vacation. . . . Chinese Weaver Levy plays a Jap in Pine and Thomas' "Tokyo Rose."

Thru the Looking Glass

Perfume is one of the finest of all aids to glamor. It is also an invaluable asset as a bolsterer of feminine morale.

But there are dos and don'ts about using it. And the first is a don't: Please, please don't use too much. You defeat your own purpose when you do.

It's rather easy to fall into the habit of this, because as you use a scent consistently you become so tolerant of it that to get a whiff of it on your own person you have to use quite a lot. No matter how much you love a fragrance, use it with restraint.

Be especially careful in hot weather, or when you're going to be in hot, crowded places, such as a dance floor. Body heat inevitably intensifies the odor of a perfume. Perspiration conflicts with it.

Use perfume only on an immaculately clean skin surface right after you've bathed. And never, never dab it on fabric that isn't launderable. As fabrics soil, especially some of the synthetics, they invariably acquire some odor; perfume on top of this can't be beautiful, since its true fragrance is counteracted, and unpleasantly at that. A bit on your handkerchief or on your lingerie or on furs—provided the furs have no even slightly offensive, leathery smell—is all right.

As for hair—watch out here. Right after a shampoo, yes, but after that, emphatically no! A bit of toilet water brushed into the hair can be used to scent it occasionally, but concentrated perfume must be used with the utmost discretion, and then only when the hair is freshly washed.

White Collar GIRL

This Way, Please

I have no fear that he'll be changed
Now that he's coming home,
Or that he can not bridge the gap
To Illinois—from Rome.

There'll be no reckoning with nerves
Or readjustment throes,
Or how to act around the girls,

I know he's sure what job he wants
And where his home will be,
But of one thing I'm much in doubt—
Will he come back to ME?

New Slippers Combine Style with Comfort

BY REA SEEGER

Fashioning a snug haven for chilly feet is a footnote project lounging slipper designers have done well. Timed for the first chill mornings and the lounging hours after a wild day careering or shopping, the slippers combine comfort with color and eye-catching pattern. Newest and most plentiful are those of leopard printed fleece, lined with either green or scarlet. These are the old fashioned slippers with the toe cut out. Scuffs, made with the twin cross-straps over the instep of the same fleece in rose red and emerald green, are gay, young, and bright enough to change any dismal viewpoint.

The oriental looking slippers colorfully embroidered in flowers, hearts, and leaves have a thick sole that assures comfort, plenty of bright color, and the occidental outline with the toe cut out. The lipstick red numbers will spike up the darkest housecoat or robe, slacks, or lounging pajamas. Dark, unobtrusive shades such as black, plum, deep blue, and dark old gold have the same embroidery and the same contrasting pipings of brilliant color.

The little felt slippers are going again. They come in delightful pastels, neutrals such as beige and gray, and high colors. Tiny realistic roses are fastened to each instep, the toes are squared off, and they are still the last word in fabric comfort and decorative beauty. Boudoir scuffs of velvet with bands of marabou over the instep are feminine and dainty, ideal gifts for a bride-to-be as they come in delicate pastels and are easily matched to pastel tinted trousseau negligees and lingerie.

"Rumor Had It"

By Christopher Hale

(Copyright: 1945: By Mrs. Frances Stephens)

SYNOPSIS: It was expected that Erica Pomeroy, whose parents had died and left her a fortune, would marry Huntley Price, whom she had known all her life. Returning from Boston, Erica brings a fiance, Toby Newcomb. Huntley asks Mr. Izenga to help him win back Erica. Mr. Izenga had been in love with Erica's mother and had shared with her grandmother the upbringing of the girl. He dislikes Toby's mocking air and is horrified to learn his last job was as a waiter. They would have been married in Boston but Erica couldn't hurt him and her grandmother like that. She wants to feel Mr. Izenga is on her side when she breaks the news to her grandmother. Mrs. Pomeroy's brother, Ridge Dawson, drops into Mr. Izenga's for cocktails before his sister's birthday dinner. Ridge is charming, unreliable, has had several wives, and is always in debt. He wants Mr. Izenga to put in a good word for him with Letty, as he is asking for a loan of $50,000. Letty and Ridge had been left equal shares of their father's fortune. Everything Letty touches turns to money. Arriving at Pomeroys they find Hester Pomeroy Duke and her husband, Harry, whom Mrs. Pomeroy has established in business and to whom she gives unceasing advice, Erica, and Toby, and Huntley. Bennet, her son, is late. His car broke down. He arrives after the dinner, with Lucianne Dupree, a woman he is willing to escort but refuses to marry. Lucianne is blaming Mrs. Pomeroy as she has just cause for a breach of promise suit. Mrs. Pomeroy's threat to cut Erica off without a cent if she marries against her wishes falls on deaf ears.

INSTALMENT VI

STRANGLED

"I suppose," Mrs. Pomeroy blazed, "young Mr. Newcomb thought he'd get credit for his noble sentiments and that I wouldn't be able to leave my money away from Erica because I'm such a doting fool. Well, he will see. I'm going to talk to Mr. Ellinger, tomorrow, about changing my will."

"Now Letitia, don't act hastily."

"I shan't. There are several changes I've in mind. I shall probably want to talk to you about it, when I decide what to do. I hate to go into all that again, but I don't see how I can avoid it." Mr. Izenga stood up.

"Very well, Letitia. Call me when you're ready. Uh . . . I presume you know Ridge is in difficulties again? He needs money, very badly."

She sighed. "That's how he always needs it. He laid it on thick, to me, half an hour ago. Pure fiction, of course. But don't bother, I'll take care of him."

Mr. Izenga was relieved. Usually she did not capitulate so easily. He took his leave.

Four hours later he struggled out of the smothering embrace of slumber. The telephone was ringing insistently. Who could want him at this hour. Three o'clock.

His hand shook a little as he picked up the bar. Harrison said urgently:

"Mr. Izenga? This call sounds important."

Erica's voice cried, "Mr. Izenga?" He swung his feet out of bed. "Yes, Erica?" He was shivering.

"Now please don't ask a lot of questions. "Something too terrible has happened out here. I need you."

"But, my dear . . ."

"O, please hurry."

"But if you tell me what is wrong, I can be thinking how to help you, on the way over."

"O. O, yes. It's . . . well . . . Grandmother insists that Toby has just tried to kill her. It's some ghastly mistake. But come quick . . . before she . . . does something."

The last word cracked in two and the receiver banged down.

In fumbling haste Mr. Izenga got into a suit and slippers. By the time he reached the front door, Harrison had the car waiting.

Mr. Izenga reminded himself that he must be fair, tolerant. He mustn't judge the fellow without knowing the facts.

"Well, at least we've beat the police here," Harrison said as he swung the car up the curving drive. Only the Duke's long Packard coupe was parked there.

All the upstairs windows were ablaze with light. The front door stood open. Erica was on the porch. She dashed down the steps and almost dragged Mr. Izenga from his seat.

"Look, darling Mr. Izenga, you must help me. I know you didn't like Toby when you met him this afternoon. I don't blame you. But he's not really that way. You wouldn't blame him if you knew what he's been thru. But he is wonderful. You must believe me. I am going to marry him, no matter who or what tries to stop me."

Mr. Izenga longed to take her in his arms and comfort her but this was not the moment for it.

Erica raced on, "I'm counting on you to help us. But there isn't time to discuss it. I can hear someone on the stairs. The whole family is against us. You've got to be on our side. Grandmother has made some awful mistake, but you know how she is, she won't back down once she's taken a stand. Don't let her prejudice you. Please, please keep an open mind. That's all I ask."

The last words were rather soggy.

Mr. Izenga gave her a wry smile. This was going to be most unpleasant.

"You haven't promised," she gasped.

"I'll try. I'll do my best."

"Erica! Is that you?" Hester Duke's petulant voice came from the hall. She walked out on the porch in high, tapping heels. The bottoms of pink pajamas flapped under her white wool coat. Evidently she had leaped out of bed and into the car at once, on being summoned.

"Yes," said Erica. "And Mr. Izenga is here."

Mrs. Duke said shrilly, "O! Can't we ever have a private family squabble without dragging him into it?"

Mr. Izenga came up the steps into the light. He eyed Mrs. Duke calmly.

"Apparently not, Hester. And I can think of one in which I was present at your request."

Mrs. Duke drew back a step. A sickly smile tried to stay in place on her mouth.

"O. I was just . . . I mean, it's a shame to drag you out of bed in the middle of night this way." She was stammering.

"No trouble at all my dear." Mr. Izenga said blandly.

As they entered the hall, Mrs. Pomeroy's voice could be heard from upstairs. It was top-heavy with emotion.

"Will you kindly keep still, Harry? I tell you I will not have the police. I know what I'm doing. I'll settle this my own way. Isn't Cornelius here, yet?"

Mr. Izenga paused in the doorway of Mrs. Pomeroy's sitting room.

Toby Newcomb sat near the door, fully dressed in the tweeds in which he arrived. His mouth made a tight line. His eyes were steely points of light.

She wore a white silk Chinese robe, embroidered in great scarlet, purple and gold flowers. Now and then, she thrust thin, sinewy fingers into her disordered hair, and threw back her throat on which were some mauve bruises.

Near her bedroom door lounged Harry Duke. He'd slipped a tan gabardine coat over striped pajamas. On his feet were brown slippers.

"Cornelius!" Mrs. Pomeroy stopped short with a tragic gesture. "Have you heard what happened?"

Mrs. Pomeroy raced on. "This young man, this friend of Erica's tried to strangle me, just a short while ago. And Erica, my own adored granddaugther, seems to think it is nothing to get disturbed about."

"That's not true," Erica cried indignantly. "I'm horribly sorry about it. I hate to have you scared and hurt. But I can't agree that Toby touched you. It wasn't Toby. That's all I say."

"Look at these bruises on my throat," Mrs. Pomeroy raged. "Do you think I dreamed them?"

"Of course not. Someone made them, but it doesn't have to be Toby. It could have been a thief, a burglar. After all, you had thousands of dollars worth of jewelry on, all evening. Some passing tramp might have looked in."

"Passing tramp! Erica, you've got to face this. It was that man!"

This is a sauerkraut year for homemakers for the cabbage crop is abundant. There are two ways to make kraut—in the jar and in the crock. If one wishes only a few jars of this sharp fermented cabbage it's just as well to make it in quart jars, an easy process. Large quantities should be cured in a crock.

Sauerkraut Made in Jars

Select sound, mature heads of cabbage, remove outer leaves, quarter, and shred fine. To each 2 quarts cabbage add 1 tablespoon sugar and 1 tablespoon salt. Mix well and let stand in open bowl overnight so that a brine will form. Pack tightly into clean jars, adjust lids, and leave in warm room until cabbage is well fermented, about two weeks. During this fermentation time it is normal for juice to run down the sides of the jars as the cabbage works. Jars should be placed in a pan to permit this. When fermentation ceases store cured kraut in a cool place until used.

Sauerkraut in the Crock

Wash, quarter, and core firm, mature heads of cabbage, discarding outer leaves. Shred as evenly as possible. Place shredded cabbage and cooking salt in layers in a large crock which has been washed thoroly and scalded. Use salt in the proportion of ½ cup for each 10 pounds of cabbage. Sugar may be added in the proportion of ½ teaspoon per quart of shredded cabbage, if desired. Pack layers of cabbage sprinkled with salt into crock until crock is nearly full. Press down firmly. Cover with a clean cloth, then with a clean board or plate. Place a weight on the cover to keep cabbage under the brine which will form. Store at a temperature of 65 to 70 degrees. Kraut will ferment faster at a higher temperature, but flavor will not be as good. The ideal temperature is between 65 and 70 degrees.

Remove scum from top of crock every three days. Fermentation should be complete in about six weeks. Cabbage should be transparent in appearance, and should have ceased bubbling.

Altho kraut in the crock may be stored in a cool place if well covered, it is more sanitary to can it at the end of the fermentation time. Heat to simmering, pack into sterilized jars, fill jars to within ½ inch of tops with kraut juice, and process in boiling water bath for 25 minutes.

The brine in the curing kraut should cover the cabbage, but not come up over the board or plate. The weight should be adjusted so that the brine remains at this level. Some kraut makers use a gallon jug of water as a weight and pour out some of the water as less weight is needed to keep the cabbage under brine.

The cloth cover should be changed or washed frequently. Scum removal is very important, as scum allowed to develop may spoil the entire batch of kraut.

Exhibit of Paintings of War in the Air to Open Wednesday

An exhibit of oils and water colors portraying American heroes of the air in World War II, will be opened in the Museum of Science and Industry next Wednesday under the sponsorship of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The exhibit, showing combat planes in action, ground operations, and portraits of 40 national heroes, will continue thru Oct. 2.

The paintings were done by professional artists who were members of the army air forces during their regular military assignments in the theaters of war. The group was headed by Lt. Col. Charles Baskerville, official portrait artist of the army air forces.

A luncheon given by the Chicago Association of Commerce on the opening day in the Palmer House will open the exhibit. The luncheon speaker will be Maj. Gen. Roger B. Colton of the army air forces.

Kitchen Pointers

By Mary Meade

"Is alum ever recommended for use in making cucumber pickles?"

No. A few old fashioned recipes call for alum, but it is neither recommended nor needed if pickling directions are followed carefully. Alum may possibly be harmful to health.

"Can you tell me why my home canned pickles are soft?"

Soft or slippery pickles are the result of bacterial action. It's one of the most common forms of spoilage and occurs when pickles are exposed above the brine or when the brine is too weak to prevent the growth of organisms.

"I have mastered the trick of making a flaky, tender pie crust, but cannot keep it from shrinking and forming blisters. Can you help me?"

When lining the pie plate, fit pastry close to the rim of the plate, being careful not to stretch it. Moisten edges with cold water and scallop them with fork tines. To prevent blisters pierce pastry well with fork tines. Some cooks fit a second pie plate on top of the crust or fill the crust with dried beans or uncooked rice.

"Is it safe to allow fruit juices to remain in their original tin container after the tin has been opened?"

Yes. It's just as safe to keep canned juices in their original container as in another container as long as they're kept clean, cool, and covered. A few acid foods may dissolve some iron from the can, but this is not dangerous.

Keep Working on Technique, Girl Is Urged

BY SHEILA DALY

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

Some gals plan their lives in two, setting tea parties for couples and matching off teddy bears, while they're still in the pigtail and pinafore department. And some are in grade school before they begin to borrow fellows' spellers and pair off for a swift game of tag at recess. Still other gals reach their prime in high school, where they're the queen of the prom and the belle of the campus. But there are some gals who don't hit their stride till well after they graduate, who can answer any question about American history but stammer when any boy over 14 asks for the time and talk about as much as a well-trained seal on the few times they're asked on dates. They may be smart and they may be fun, but they're so shy that no one gets a chance to find it out.

on the SOLID side

Here's a letter from one of these young characters, fast on the books but slow on the boy-dates-girl chatter. Her story goes like this:

"To begin with, I have just graduated from high school. I had the highest average in our senior class, and you know how boys avoid the brainy type. The truth is, I'm not an intellectual at all—I hardly ever studied. I have plenty of girl friends, but all during high school I had the grand total of one coke date. I was fine when the fellows wanted help with their physics or English lit, but that's where their interest ended. I can skate, swim, play a fair game of tennis, and even tried batting a ball around a golf course, so I should be as much fun as most gals. I'm not unattractive either, so that can't be the reason. What do you suppose it is?"

Dating isn't like voting; you don't turn a year older and suddenly find yourself besieged by phone calls and young men in plaid sport coats bearing bouquets and Saturday night date offers. So keep on being smart, reading, and having fun, even tho it's only with girls now. When a gal is the smart and smooth young character you're working up to be, fellows will discover you eventually. You may not start dating right away, but you'll be so busy making yourself interesting that you won't even mind waiting!

not shy, makes with the fix. Susie is an aspiring movie extra and coloratura, so the boys glibly promise her an audition with Iturbi, who also works for the same company [M-G-M, of course].

By that time the homesick Sinatra has met a girl from Brooklyn who doesn't abash him as does the soprano, but doesn't dast say so. His shipmate has fallen for the lark in the meantime, and you can imagine the rest of the plot. It's all as smooth as the manipulations of a card sharp, with pensive and frequently draggy tunes interspersed and lines that definitely were not written by a dope.

As a whole the film is beautifully, and humorously, and colorfully turned out, but if you ask me, one soprano solo, one love song with a hum-drum theme and the same sort of lyrics, plus a few other items would never be missed. I like Mr. Iturbi and his piano music, but to have him perform and then about 16 youngsters, undeniably talented tho they may be, play the same number in unison seems to me to be mistaking activity for usefulness.

Volunteer Leaders Sought to Expand Girl Scout Program

Volunteer adult leaders—1,200 of them—are needed by the Girl Scouts of Chicago. A month's city-wide drive to enlist troop leaders will open today with a rally at 3 p. m. in the Wedgwood room at Marshall Field & Co. Forty-four Chicago women who have given 10 or more years' service will be cited at the meeting, receiving awards from Mrs. George O. Bayrd, president of the Chicago organization.

A program of highlights of the history of scouting in Chicago and future aims will be presented, and a rededication ceremony will be conducted.

Chicago has 16,000 Girl Scouts. There are hundreds of names on the waiting list, but these girls will be unable to participate in scouting until there are more troop leaders, committee members, and consultants to assume guidance responsibilities. Women who have any time to give may volunteer at the Girl Scout office, 35 E. Wacker dr., or call Franklin 6588 for complete information.

ARMY'S ACCOUNT OF HOOSIER GI'S MURDER TRIAL

Reveal He Only 'Wanted' to Shoot One Officer

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—The war department today released additional details in the case of Pvt. Robert A. Colby of Geetingsville, Ind., sentenced to death by a court-martial which convicted him of murdering two superior officers in Germany.

Colby was tried by a general court-martial June 23 on a charge of murder in the fatal shooting of Capt. Richard J. Brown of Buffalo, N. Y., and 1st Lt. Donald H. Wade of Woodworth, Wis., on June 10. The death sentence was imposed, approved by a divisional commander, and confirmed by Gen. Eisenhower Aug. 29.

Unit Alerted

Testimony showed that on June 10, Colby's unit was alerted and all men were forbidden to leave the immediate company area. Colby later was found near Wiesbaden, Germany, which was outside the area.

Capt. Brown, his company commander, ordered him punished, the punishment to be four days at hard labor, after training hours.

Colby worked that night until about 10, sat for awhile near a fire and then was observed going to his tent, where he obtained a rifle and later went to the officers' area.

Capt. Brown and Lt. Wade were sitting near a fire in the officers' area. Four shots were fired and both officers died from wounds within an hour.

"Only Way to Fight Back"

"I shot the old man but didn't want to shoot the lieutenant."

Colby's testimony was substantially the same, but he added at the trial that he didn't know why he shot the officers because he had nothing against either and was not angry about the punishment he had received for being out of the company area.

He also was quoted as saying that while he was seated by the fire, "I got the idea of killing the captain, I guess."

The army's account of the case added that the sentence is now under review by the judge advocate general's branch office in Europe.

BULLET TESTS CLEAR SUSPECT IN COPS' KILLING

Ballistics tests yesterday cleared Clement Reagan, 29, paroled convict, of suspicion in connection with the murder of Detectives Charles Brady and George Hellstern at Clark st. and Lunt av. Sept. 2.

Reagan, a fugitive from the jail at Hiawatha, Kas., was seized early this week by police of Houston, Tex., after a gun fight. He was carrying a revolver of the same caliber—.38—used by the murderer of Hellstern and Brady. Test bullets were fired from his gun, sent to Chicago, and examined by Charles M. Wilson, director of the police crime laboratory. Comparison established Reagan's gun was not the one used in the police killings.

Fire yesterday swept the one and two story plant of the Rotary Seal company, 2020 Larrabee st., routed 150 employes, and caused damage estimated by Fire Commissioner Corrigan at $100,000. No one was injured. The company manufactures machine parts.

The fire broke out in a room in the west side of the building containing a supply of oil soaked metal shavings. It spread rapidly thru the plant, which extends 180 feet along Larrabee st. and is 125 feet in depth. Twelve women employes fled safely from the front section of the building, which is two stories in height and houses the offices.

True Bills Reported

MISS DOROTHY EAGER

GLEN MOONEY

Miss Dorothy Eager, former manager of a currency exchange at 1405 W. 63d st., and her ex-sweetheart, Glen Mooney, 29, of 6338 S. Damen av., were reported named in a true bill voted by the grand jury yesterday charging embezzlement of $8,000 from the exchange.

Mooney, who is married, also was reported named in a true bill charging grand larceny. Each true bill contained a habitual criminal count under which Mooney, who in 1942 was put on probation for robbery, faces life imprisonment if convicted.

Miss Eager, who insisted she is 30 and not 40 years old and who blames Mooney for her troubles, was a grand jury witness. She had said Mooney courted her while stealing the exchange's money. Also testifying was Miss Adele Markette, 19, of 915 E. 62d st., who said Mooney had promised to marry her and that she helped him buy an automobile with the currency exchange's money.

TWO DOGS HALT ROBBER BUT HIS PAL GETS AWAY

Two dogs cornered a Negro and held him at bay until police arrived last night after he and a companion had invaded the home of John Oleska Jr., an undertaker, at 1231 Madison st., Gary, and robbed him and his wife of $700.

After the robbery the pair ran into the yard of Tom Roscoe, an ex-policeman, at 1332 Jefferson st., where they were cornered by Roscoe's dogs. Police arrived a few minutes later to find one of the Negroes still cornered. The other, who had the gun and the money, managed to escape.

The prisoner was Archie Emerson, 19, of 1328 Washington st. He confessed the robbery and named his pal, who is being sought.

DUKE WILL VISIT ENGLAND; PLANS TO SEE MOTHER

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—The duke of Windsor, who sails today for France aboard the steamship Argentina, told a press conference today that he intended to visit England.

"I will visit England and I look forward to seeing my mother," the duke said. "It has been nearly nine years since I have seen my mother."

The duke said he planned several short private business trips to England, the first some time during the early part of October. He added that the duchess would not accompany him to England on the first trip.

NEW PLEA FILED TO SAVE DURKIN FROM U. S. PRISON

A motion for probation for Martin Durkin was filed in federal District court yesterday by Atty. Henry L. Balaban in another attempt to save Durkin from serving a 15 year prison term for transporting stolen automobiles across state lines in violation of the Dyer act. Durkin recently completed an 18 year sentence in state prison for the murder of a federal agent in 1926, and contends he should be spared the additional federal prison term.

"Since I've been feedin' Paw Wheaties I don't have to bother about usin' bowls with pictures in the bottom."

HUNT CONTINUES IN 7TH DAY FOR UNION SLUGGER

Altho more than six days have elapsed since Carter Olsen, a mechanic for Greyhound Motor and Supply company, 916 N. Kilbourn av., was slugged in a union dispute by four agents of local 701, Auto Mechanics' union [AFL], police had been unable up to last night to apprehend the assailants.

Meanwhile State's Atty. Tuohy and his first assistant, Wilbert Crowley, assigned to investigate the assault, are waiting to have the four indicted for mayhem, a felony.

The attack on Olsen, 30, of 2500 N. Washtenaw av., occurred in an alley last Saturday after Frank Carroll, business agent of the union, and three companions sought to question him about a statement, signed by 48 employes of the Greyhound company, which turned down the AFL union as their bargaining agent. The union's contract with the company expires in October.

Sgt. Harold Enger of police Capt. George Barnes' labor detail has been keeping a daily vigil with Olsen at the union's headquarters at 113 S. Ashland av., but so far their watch for the assailants has been unsuccessful.

BOY, 15, PRAISED FOR HIS BRAVERY IN FIRE RESCUE

William Coop, 15, of 9713 Merrill av., a Boy Scout, was commended by the Chicago Scout council and Deputy Coroner Frank Harris yesterday for his heroism in removing two small children from a burning home.

One of the children, Betty Hawthorne, 3, suffered burns which caused her death yesterday. Her brother, Robert, 4, was burned severely, and doctors at South Chicago Community hospital said his life still was in danger last night.

At an inquest in the hospital, Harris praised Coop for "a very outstanding feat which took above average nerve and fortitude." W. Arthur McKinney, executive of the Chicago council of the Boy Scouts, said Coop was eligible for the Boy Scout life saving medal.

CIGARET FIRE FATAL TO WOMAN

Mrs. Olivette Hasvold, 35, was burned fatally yesterday when she fell asleep in her flat at 1936 N. Clark st. and her clothing caught fire from a cigaret. She died in Augustana hospital.

CARDS DROP TWO; CUBS AND PHILLIES DIVIDE

SENATORS WIN; TIGERS BEAT A'S, KEEP ½ GAME LEAD

WASHINGTON'S 3-RUN 9TH TOPS CLEVELAND, 6-5

Detroit Defeats Philadelphia, 1-0

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—In a dramatic finish, the Washington Senators tonight rallied to defeat the Cleveland Indians, 6 to 5.

Apparently beaten after Jeff Heath's three run homer in the first inning, the Senators fought back with a three run rally in the seventh and won it with another three run attack in the ninth.

A gathering of 11,255 fans had visions of the Senators falling a game and a half behind Detroit in the heated American league race as they came up in the ninth with the score 5 to 3 against them.

Joe Kuhel Hits Triple

It looked even darker when Buddy Lewis, one of the team's stoutest hitters, bunted and was out. But Joe Kuhel tripled to center against Relief Hurler Ed Klieman. Cecil Travis singled to center, scoring Kuhel. Jose Zardon, fleet Cuban, ran for Travis, and raced to third on George Binks' single to right.

Peter Center, third Cleveland hurler, came in to pitch to Rick Ferrell and walked him, filling the bases. Gil Torres' slow roller to Al Cihocki was fumbled, Zardon scoring the tying run.

Mike Kreevich pinch hit for Alex Carrasquel. Center struck him out only to walk George Case, forcing Binks home with the winning run.

By converting apparent defeat into victory, the Senators go into tomorrow's crucial series with Detroit only a half game back of the Tigers.

SCORE IN SQUEEZE

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—The Tigers protected their one-half game American league lead with a 1 to 0 victory over the Athletics today, shoving across a lucky run on a squeeze play by Bob Maier in the fifth inning just before a rainstorm washed out the game.

As a result, Manager Steve O'Neill's players gained an even break in the four game series and left for Washington assured of the leader's role when they tangle with the speedy Senators tomorrow in the first two of their crucial five game series.

So violently did Catcher Buddy Rosar of the Athletics protest Maier's game winning run that he was thumbed to the showers by Umpire Art Passarella. Also, the official scorer gave Buddy an error for failing to tag Maier.

And patient wait the golden stalks of grain
For harvest. Mottled is the rolling plain
With patterned rows of shocks. The peasants stop
And, leaning on their scythes, watch soldiers clop
Along the road, their eyes as bland as rain
And as impartial. Children seeking gain
Offering wheedling friendship as a sop
The soldiers, touched by thoughts of other lands,
Respond to blandishments they know are false,
Ignore the causes prompting these assaults,
Pat curly heads, and fill small grasping hands,

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 14—The University of Michigan opens the football season in the midwest tomorrow afternoon against the Great Lakes Naval Training Center. The attendance may reach 35,000 if the weather is favorable.

College football thus begins its peace time schedule with every prospect of success on the basis of public interest and with a personnel surprisingly good for the times. Michigan does not have as many experienced players as in 1944, when the Wolverines lost the Western conference championship in the final game with Ohio State, but the team may surprise its followers.

Not Up to Great Lakes Par

The Great Lakes team which provides the opening test for the Wolverines will not be a squad comparable to the naval center's teams of the last three years. There are a few players on the Bluejacket team with previous experience, but the scrimmage with the College All-Stars definitely proved that Lt. (j. g.) Paul Brown, head coach, does not have a balanced group. The All-Stars won from Great Lakes, 35 to 0.

The Great Lakes squad arrived late today and bivouaced at adjacent Dearborn. This long has been the site for over night Ohio State football camps when Lt. Brown led the Buckeyes.

Press, Radio Well Represented

The game will be well reported. Most midwestern cities will be represented in the press box and all major radio circuits have sent their best men. Harry Wismer, who reported the All-Star game with the Green Bay Packers, will be here and Tom Harmon, one-time Michigan star, will resume his broadcasting career at the microphone for WJR of Detroit.

Great Lakes' attack probably will pivot around the line plunging of Marion Motley, 28, who played for the University of Nevada before entering the navy. Outstanding in the line is Ralph Jones, captain of the University of Alabama team which lost to Duke university in the last Sugar bowl game in New Orleans.

Ponsetto Leads Wolverines

Michigan has a starting team with five letter men from last year. Most important is Capt. Joe Ponsetto, quarter back, who is Michigan's best blocker as well as the field general. Ponsetto uses both the T formation and the single wing back style of play. Last year Michigan ran 365 plays from the single wing back setup, approximately 2 to 1 ratio in comparison with the T.

Walter Teninga of Chicago, a freshman from Morgan Park High school, now is listed as the No. 2 left half back behind Jack Weisenburger. Teninga also has competition from Pete Elliott from Bloomington, Ill., a brother of Chalmers [Bumps] Elliott, who played for Purdue on the gridiron and basketball court. Elliott is a navy trainee from Park college, Mo., transferred to Michigan.

Horace Coleman, a Negro athlete from Hamtramck, Mich., is substitute for Warren Bentz, right half back. Bentz is a letter man, but Coleman is a fine prospect. Henry Fonde, Knoxville, Tenn., navy trainee who is 21, is another candidate for the position.

21 ELIGIBLE IN HAWTHORNE'S FEATURE TODAY

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

The Murlogg farm's Fighting Step, Georgie South up, will lead a large field of handicap stars to the post today in the $10,000 added Autumn handicap at Hawthorne. Twenty-one thorobreds remained in the list of probable contenders, tho six are considered doubtful starters having been named for other events on the nine race program.

The mile and one-sixteenth fixture is expected to be the vehicle for Fighting Step's advance into the select circle of $100,000 winners this season. Should 21 go postward the net value to the winner would be $10,200, but a field of 15 still would carry $9,300 for the winner and Fighting Step's earnings so far this year total $93,225.

Daily Trouble Principal Contender

Principal contention for the 3 year old son of Fighting Fox is expected to come from David Straus' Daily Trouble, winner of one division of the $25,000 Equipoise Mile at Washington Park this summer. The Straus colorbearer will carry 117 pounds, three less than the top weighted star of the Evansville, Ind., breeding farm owned by Mrs. Robert J. Murphy and her daughter, Susan Kellogg. Clyde Troutt's veteran campaigner, Take Wing, also gets in at 117 pounds and is bound to find good backing as will the Happy Hour farm's Devalue, conqueror of Louis B. Mayer's Thumbs Up in the $50,000 Stars and Stripes at Washington Park.

$104.40 Daily Double

Geraldine F., owned by Calhoun and Devereaux and ridden by Kempton Knott, and Graham Brown's Petsome, with Steve Brooks up, accounted for the first two races yesterday and provided a $104.40 daily double.

Hollyman, the even money favorite owned by Mrs. G. H. Emick and ridden by Brooks, accounted for the featured sixth race, a $2,500 affair for older horses. He won by two lengths over A. & R. Craig's Tetros Jr. and paid $4. Charles S. Handleman's Peace Again took the show in a field of eight. The crowd was estimated at 7,500 and the mutuel handle for the eight races totaled $908,280.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 14 [Special]—Corporal Joe Ventrano's 17 yard field goal in the last 13 seconds of play gave Lt. Johnny Baker's 4th Air Force Flyers a 17 to 14 triumph over the favorite 2d Air Force eleven before 61,560 fans in the Coliseum tonight.

The game, the first in a series of annual all-charity football contests, was sponsored by the Los Angeles Times.

Deluge Balks Yanks, Sox Final for '45

BY IRVING VAUGHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New York, Sept. 14—It probably is not important enough to warrant mention but, anyway, the White Sox and Yankees today officially closed their joint affairs for 1945 by doing nothing. They were just about ready to dress up for their last scheduled battle of the year when a deluge hit the stadium premises and because there is nothing at stake for either team the Yanks decided not to make any attempt to play it off.

Thus the Sox were provided with an afternoon of leisure before boarding an evening train for Boston where they close their eastern activities for the year with games tomorrow, Sunday, and Monday after which they will return direct to Chicago to spend some off days.

DODGERS DEAL CARDS DOUBLE DEFEAT, 7-3, 6-1

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 14 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals slipped a full notch in their National league pennant race with the Chicago Cubs by losing a double header to the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7 to 3, and 6 to 1, tonight. They now are three and one-half games behind the league leaders.

The games, played in an intermittent drizzle and over the protest of Brooklyn Manager Leo Durocher, dealt a heavy blow to the fading hopes of the world champions for their fourth consecutive league title.

Durocher telephoned Ford Frick, league president, shortly before noon objecting to playing the games which had been postponed from last night. The Dodgers faced the prospects of having to travel all night in day coaches in order to play the Cubs tomorrow.

The Field Is Soft

The field was sodden from almost 36 hours of rain and the temperature was around 60 degrees when the game started.

The Dodgers hammered four Cardinal hurlers for 13 hits and took advantage of St. Louis errors in the late innings of the first game to overcome a one run lead and pull out the victory.

Ken Burkhardt, one of St. Louis' usually dependable rookies with a season record of 16 and 7, got off to a shaky start and was removed in the second inning.

Barrett Is Easy, Too

Charley [Red] Barrett, ace right hander, also ran into trouble at the start of the second game. The Dodgers nicked him for a three run start on two walks and two hits, one a double by Eddie Stevens. They bunched three more hits in the eighth for a pair of runs.

BY EDWARD BURNS

Claude Passeau, who probably will be charged with his seventh loss this afternoon, without casting a single pitch, yesterday fortified his record by beating the Phillies, 6 to 0, in the 5¼ inning second game of a double header in Wrigley field for his 17th success of the season and his second successive shutout of the week. The refreshing outcome ensued after the Phillies twice came from behind to knock out Paul Derringer and score a 4 to 3 victory in the first game. The second game was called on account of darkness after a drizzle had persisted during most of the bobtailed encounter.

The foregoing crack about Passeau being a loser this afternoon without pitching, is based on the fact the Cubs are scheduled to play out the remainder of that nuisance game of July 20, which was suspended after eight innings, with the Dodgers leading, 10 to 4. The he departed that affair in the fifth inning, Passeau will be the losing pitcher of record unless the Cubs tie the score or better in the belated ninth preceding the regularly scheduled game this afternoon.

LINE UP PITCHERS

Manager Charley Grimm is not groping around in the matter of his pitching plans for the impending series between the Cubs and the Dodgers and the Cardinals. After concluding his assignment against the Dodgers this afternoon, Hank Borowy will start resting for the Cardinal series. Tomorrow Ray Prim and Hank Wyse will pitch against the Dodgers and Paul Erickson will get the call in the Brooklyn final Monday. Then it will be Claude Passeau, Borowy, and Prim in St. Louis next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

It's a Crazy Setup

As the July 20 game was suspended Ray Starr and Cy Bucher, who had replaced Tom Seats, were the pitchers. There is supposed to be an approximation of the same lineup that was in there at the time of the suspension, but that's only one of the screwy aspects of one of the screwiest rules ever thought up for the guidance of a major league.

But getting back to yesterday's slightly soggy program. After the first game the Cubs' so-called 2½ game lead faded to two games, not counting the loss which probably will be put in the record early this afternoon. Victory in the second game restored the lead to a spurious 2½ thru the final ignoring of the July 20 gumup game.

As the Cardinals dropped a double header to the Brooklyn Dodgers in St. Louis last night, the North Siders now are three and a half games ahead.

In the first game yesterday the Cubs supplied Paul Derringer with a 1 to 0 lead and later wiped out a 2 to 1 Philly lead with a 3 to 2 Chicago edge, but these things were not of sufficient comfort. The tailenders knocked out Big Paul with a two-run, three-hit onslaught in the seventh to effect the final score, that 4 to 3 Philadelphia victory. It was the fifth triumph of the year for the Phillies in 21 tries and their third over Derringer.

Mulcahy Gets the Credit

Sgt. Hugh Mulcahy, making his second start since his discharge from the army, in which he served longer than any other major league player, was the winning pitcher. Hugh wasn't in at the finish but none of the six hits the Cubs made off his stuff came in the seventh, the inning in which he yielded to Anton Karl.

The run the Cubs made in the fourth inning of the first game was unearned and accompanied by something of a fadeout. Cavarretta reached first when Daniels fumbled his grounder in the grass near first. Pafko beat out a bunt for a single,

IOWA TO BATTLE BERGSTROM AIR BASE SEPT. 29

Game to Open Season on Hawkeye Field

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 14 [Special]—The University of Iowa today scheduled Bergstrom, army air base of Austin, Tex., to open the football schedule here on Sept. 29, E. G. Schroeder, athletic director, announced.

This is the first time Iowa has played a team from Texas since 1931 when the Hawkeyes met Texas A. & M. in Dallas.

BROPHY REJOINS N. U.

Coach Lynn Waldorf was pleasantly surprised yesterday when Bill Brophy, full back on last year's Northwestern football team, reported at Dyche stadium and asked for a uniform. The 210 pound 6 footer who has just received a discharge from the navy will be a welcome addition to the Wildcat ranks. Brophy, whose home is in Duluth, Minn., was a member of the navy V-12 unit last year and saw considerable action during the 1944 campaign.

HOOSIERS EXPECT PASSES

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 14 [Special]—Pass defense was stressed in Indiana's football camp, as Coach Bo McMillin sent the squad thru a double drill today against Michigan's style of aerial attack.

Indiana's starting center position, still very much of a question, rests among three players. Allan Horn, 1944 veteran, may get the call against Michigan next week, Bo said, because of his experience, but he's being pushed hard by Bob Meyer, guard in 1944, and Francis Oleksak, New York frosh.

WELCOME COLD WEATHER

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 14 [Special]—Unseasonably cold weather was welcomed by the members of Purdue's football squad this afternoon as Coach Cecil Isbell increased the tempo of drill in preparation for the season's opener with Marquette one week from Saturday.

BUJAN AT FULL BACK

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 14 [Special]—George Bujan of Christopher, Ill., regular center last year, ran at full back today in a brief signal drill held indoors because of rain.

With him in the back field were Mickey Perkins, quarter, and Tom Zaborac and Jack Pierce, halves.

BADGERS HOLD REHEARSALS

Madison, Wis., Sept. 14 [Special]—Handicapped by a flock of minor injuries and the heavy rains of the last two days, the University of Wisconsin football squad dropped its program of hard work and turned to dress rehearsals for its game scrimmage tomorrow.

The Badgers got another lift in material when Ed Kreick, brother of Ray Kreick, star Badger end in 1939-'40, joined the squad. Ed played at the University of Virginia and his experience at half back should help the Wisconsin squad considerably.

ROE IN BUCKEYE LINES

Columbus, O., Sept. 14 [Special]—The running of Half Back Paul Sarringhaus and Full Back Ollie Cline and the passing of Half Back Doc Daugherty featured today's practice session of Ohio State university's football squad. Coach Carroll Widoes made only one lineup change, shifting Jack Roe, a veteran, to the first team as a replacement for Ernie Santora, a freshman.

METCALF BACK AT U. OF CHICAGO AS SPORT CHIEF

T. Nelson Metcalf

T. Nelson Metcalf, director of athletics at the University of Chicago, will return today to resume his university duties after a three year absence while he served as officer in charge of physical training for the 9th naval district. J. Kyle Anderson, acting director of athletics, will continue as Metcalf's assistant.

Metcalf entered the service in September, 1942, and held the rank of commander when he was discharged last Saturday.

Metcalf succeeded A. A. Stagg as director of athletics in 1933.

STRESS KICKING OF ALL KINDS IN IRISH WORKOUT

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 14 [Special]—An afternoon devoted to all phases of kicking kept the Notre Dame fotball squad busy this afternoon, as the Irish prepared for a game scrimmage tomorrow. The line practiced getting down the field under punts and kick-offs, while backs ran thru their plays.

Bill Fischer, tackle, worked on kick-offs and Ed Stelmaczak, guard, was busy practicing kicking points after touchdowns. Frank Dancewicz and George Ratterman, quarter backs, did most of the punting and Coach Hugh Devore said they probably will share the kicking duties during the season.

BY FRANK MASTRO

The St. Philip High school football team made the dedication of its new $220,000 memorial stadium an artistic success by coming from behind last night to defeat Mount Carmel, 14 to 13, in the opening game. A capacity crowd of 4,000 watched the game and the dedicatory ceremonies, despite unfavorable weather.

Leading star of the contest from a St. Philip viewpoint was Jack Melligan, who scored all of his team's points, making two touchdowns and adding two extra points, after Mount Carmel had taken a 13 to 0 lead.

St. Philip partisans had their first chance to cheer just before the first half ended when Jack Melligan made his first touchdown. He also kicked the extra point and the count at the half was Mount Carmel, 13; St. Philip, 7. It stood at those figures until the fourth quarter, when a 50 yard St. Philip drive ended with Melligan going over from the 2 yard line and then kicking the vital extra point.

Austin Beats Lane

Austin displayed some of its traditional power in defeating Lane Tech, 16 to 0, in a practice game between these two City league members in Lane stadium. In other nonchampionship games involving City league members Amundsen beat Roosevelt, 26 to 0, Gage park and Bowen played a 0 to 0 tie, Crane defeated Steinmetz, 6 to 0, and Phillips beat Marshall, 26 to 6.

KAVANAUGH TO JOIN BEARS ON EASTERN TOUR

Ken Kavanaugh

Capt. Ken. Kavanaugh, star end on the Louisiana State football team and for two years a member of the Chicago Bears, will be released from active duty with the army air forces on Monday after 44 months' service, it was learned last night.

Kavanaugh, who played with the 1940 College All-Star squad, which the Green Bay Packers defeated, 45 to 28, will rejoin the Bears at Bethleham, Pa., Tuesday, Ralph Brizzolara, acting president of the National Football league entry, said.

Since the fleet footed Ken, who is 28 years old, is in good condition as a result of having trained with the Personnel Distribution Command eleven of Greensboro, N. C., he will take his old position at right end when the Bears meet the New York Giants in Buffalo Sept. 23.

RAMS WIN THIRD STRAIGHT; BEAT GIANTS, 38 TO 23

Cleveland, O., Sept. 14 (AP)—Cleveland's Rams defeated the New York Giants, 38 to 23, in a National Football league nonchampionship game tonight before 13,656 at Cleveland stadium.

Bob Waterfield, former back field star at U. C. L. A., tossed three scoring passes, kicked a field goal, and added four extra points to pace the Rams to their third straight exhibition triumph.

In the final minute of play Don Greenwood, former Illinois star, ran 49 yards to score a touchdown.

Duncan Goes After 2d Auto Victory Tonight

Teddy Duncan, Miami speedster, who won the feature midget auto race on Wednesday night, will try to repeat his performance tonight at Raceway park, 130th and Ashland av. Tonight's races start at 8:30 with the time trials beginning at 7.

JUDAISM AWAITS ITS MOST SACRED DAY, YOM KIPPUR

Kol Nidre Chant to Be Heard Tomorrow

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS

The most sacred day on the calendar of Judaism, Yom Kippur, comes in with tomorrow night's setting sun. It is the culmination of 10 penitential days beginning with Rosh Hashana, or New Year's day. Yom Kippur frequently is known as the Sabbath of Sabbaths. Evening synagog services tomorrow night will be preceded by the thrice chanted all vows hymn of singular beauty and meaning known as Kol Nidre.

This hymn is a formal abrogation of all vows made under the influence of great stress and is intended to guard against oaths which may remain unkept thru negligence or forgetfulness. It refers back to days of enslavement of Israel when Jews were forced to take on vows of another faith, but it has no reference to promises involving another person or courts of justice.

Day of Atonement

Replete with petitions of forgivenesses, the day, also known as the Day of Atonement—or at-one-ment with Divine life—seeks pardon for individual transgressions in the name of and in behalf of all Israel. But sins against individuals for which pardon is sought on Yom Kippur are retained unless the petitioner previously rights the wrongs he committed against his fellows.

The day closes with a solemn service before the holy ark which remains open. It ends with the sound of the ram's horn.

Plan Great Lakes Services

Yom Kippur services at the United States Naval Training center, Great Lakes, will be conducted by Chaplain Selwyn D. Ruslander tomorrow night and Monday for officers and men in Building 4. Chaplain Ruslander will deliver the sermon with the liturgical music sung by Jewish Sailors' choir, directed by Sp. [W] 1st Class Reuben A. Barnett. Soloists will be Seaman 1st Class Lawrence Avery and Seaman 1st Class Sidney Berlin. Seaman 1st Class Charles Libove will be heard in violin selections.

Herbert A. Doolittle, 83, Former Bailiff, Is Dead

Herbert A. Doolittle, 83, of 821 James ct., Waukegan, former Lake county deputy sheriff and Circuit court bailiff, died yesterday in St. Therese hospital, in the suburb. He was a son of Leonard Doolittle, who settled on a farm at Avon Center [now Grayslake] in 1840. Two sons, Lawrence A. and Fred D., and two daughters, Mrs. William Green and Mrs. Bert Tompkins, survive. Services will be at 2 p. m. Monday in the chapel at 408 Sheridan rd., Waukegan.

It is printed and distributed from 740 Rush st. . . . The board of publication of American Methodism has just authorized a 1½ million dollar expansion program, including new presses and equipment for its Chicago house and the erection of a five story building at Nashville, Tenn. Dr. Fred D. Stone, publishing agent, and his Nashville colleague, Dr. B. A. Whitmore, reported that in the last fiscal year Methodist publishing interests' book and other sales reached the all-time high of $8,315,232. Of profits on this sum, $400,000 was allocated to retired ministers or their widows.

Archbishop Stritch has appointed the Rev. Thomas J. Grady of Quigley Preparatory seminary as procurator of St. Mary of the Lake seminary, Mundelein, to succeed the Very Rev. Msgr. Patrick J. Hayes, who succeeds the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph P. Morrison as rector of Holy Name cathedral.

ACCUSE FATHER AND GIRL IN WILL COUNTY MURDER

New warrants charging murder were issued in Will county yesterday against John Renzi, 62, a Crete tavern owner, and his daughter, Louise, 24, accused of the fatal shooting of Benny D. Leonardo, 31, a former friend of the girl.

Leonardo was slain in his car in Steger rd., Steger, Aug. 28 by the occupant or occupants of a maroon car. Cook county authorities arrested and held the Renzis until Thursday, when an inquest established that the murder occurred on the Will county side of Steger rd., the boundary between Cook and Will counties. The Renzis were turned over to Will county authorities.

State's Atty. James Burke of Will county obtained the murder warrant from Justice of the Peace John P. Egan, who later held the Renzis to the grand jury without bond. Burke also petitioned Judge James V. Bartley of Will county Circuit court to convene the grand jury in November to hear the case. Meantime, Renzi was taken under guard to St. Joseph's hospital in Joliet for treatment of possible rib fractures suffered in a fall before his arrest.

Services for Seaman Jean Mac Jacquet, 20, of the navy, who was fatally injured Monday in an automobile accident near Camp Farragut, Idaho, will be held at 1 p. m. Monday in the chapel at 79th st. and Phillips av. Seaman Jacquet, who participated in numerous landing operations in the Pacific, returned to the United States last month, and was to have been discharged yesterday. He leaves his mother, Marie, of 1661 E. 79th st.; a brother, Pvt. Warren, now in China, and a sister, Joan.

Dr. Iva Durham Vennard

Services for Dr. Iva Durham Vennard, 73, founder and president of the Chicago Evangelistic institute, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the institute chapel, 1754 Washington blvd. Dr. Vennard died Wednesday in her home at the institute. She was the widow of Thomas Vennard. Survivors are a son, Sgt. William Vennard, now with the 8th army in the Pacific, and two daughters, Mrs. Maylon Waite and Mrs. Oliver Rhea.

Mrs. Esther Dooman Leahey

Mrs. Esther Dooman Leahey, former Chicagoan, died recently in Washington, D. C., Chicago friends learned yesterday. Mrs. Leahey was 68, a native Chicagoan, and the widow of Lt. Michael Leahey of the army medical corps. Surviving are a son, Sheridan, and two daughters, Isabelle and Mrs. Gordon Lindner, all of Washington. Mrs. Leahey was buried in Arlington National cemetery with a military escort in attendance.

Theodore Blech

Theodore Blech, 62, retired sales executive of the Public Service company of Northern Illinois, died yesterday in his apartment in the Sovereign hotel, 6200 Kenmore av. For 25 years, Mr. Blech had been manager of the Waukegan district of the company. He is survived by his widow, Florence, and two sons, Sidney R., and Dalton B. Services will be at 1 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 1300 Devon av.

Ensign Laurence M. Murphy

Services for Ensign Laurence M. Murphy, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Murphy, 103 Woodbine av., Wilmette, will be held at 10 a. m. today in St. Francis Xavier church, Wilmette. Ensign Murphy, a pilot who had been missing on a flight from Wickersham, Wash., since Feb. 24, 1944, was found dead in his wrecked plane in a dense forest near there last Saturday. He also leaves eight brothers.

M. Edgar Mason

M. Edgar Mason, 65, of 512 Fox st., Aurora, died yesterday in his home. He was a chemical engineer who in recent years had been engaged in banking and investment. He was active in Aurora civic affairs and was one of the largest donors to the Y. M. C. A. and other community enterprises. His widow, Laura, survives. Private services will be held in the home at 2 p. m. Monday.

TWO SPEEDERS SEIZED; ADMIT THEFT OF AUTO

Two men who drove past a red light in Hazelcrest at 60 miles an hour were captured yesterday by Lt. Arthur Jelinek and Deputy Jerry Thomas of the Homewood county highway police station.

Lt. Jelinek forced the driver to stop near the Calumet Country club. The driver vaulted a fence and ran into underbrush, but several warning shots fired by Jelinek stopped him. Meanwhile, Thomas caught the driver's companion.

The two speeders are Edward DeVoe, 20, Lynn, Mass., and Pvt. Joseph L. Oliver, 22, Danvers, Mass. They told police they had stolen the automobile at Providence, R. I., and had looted a filling station at Elkhart, Ind., on their way to Chicago, Oliver, on furlough, and DeVoe admitted they are ex-convicts.

VETERAN GIVES BLOOD TO AID ANOTHER; DIES

Corp. Robert M. Mowry, 20, of University City, Mo., a patient in Gardiner General hospital, died of a heart attack Thursday night while surgeons were taking a donation of blood from him, army spokesmen disclosed last night.

Mowry, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas G. Mowry, was injured in a truck accident in France while serving as an ambulance driver. He volunteered as a donor to furnish blood for a patient who was to undergo an operation the next day.

Hospital surgeons who had examined Mowry before blood was taken from him said he was in excellent health.

THEATER OF AIR OFFERS DEBUSSY FANTASY AT 9 P.M.

A "Debussy Fantasy" will be presented on the Chicago Theater of the Air summer hour over W-G-N, WGNB, and the Mutual network from 9 to 10 o'clock tonight. Marion Claire and Angelo Raffaelli will be the vocal soloists.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, will be the speaker. Henry Weber will direct the W-G-N orchestra and chorus.

The program will open with "Carnival Scene" from "Pagliacci" by the orchestra and chorus. The orchestra also will play "Rosenkavalier" waltzes and "Nocturne" from "Matinee Musicales," by Rossini.

The "Debussy Fantasy" will include excerpts from his String Quartet No. 1, by the orchestra; "Receuillement," sung by Miss Claire; "Golliwog's Cakewalk," orchestra and chorus; "Il Pleure dans mon Coeur," a duet by Miss Claire and Raffaelli, and "Scene Lyrique" excerpts from "L'Enfant Prodigue."

Miss Claire also is to sing "If Love Hath Entered My Heart," by Marx, and Raffaelli will sing "Torna a Surriento" by De Curtis.

NOVELIST HAHN TO WED FATHER OF HER CHILD

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 [Special]—Miss Emily Hahn, 40, Chicago novelist, said today she would be married to Maj. Charles Boxer, 41, of the British army as soon as he reaches this country from Japan, where he was a prisoner. Maj. Boxer is the father of her 3½ year old daughter, Carola, who was born in Hong Kong during Miss Hahn's internment.

Miss Hahn, who wrote her first books in Chicago and lived at intervals in Winnetka, said she had not seen Maj. Boxer since 1943 when they met briefly before she left aboard the Gripsholm for repatriation to the United States. She said she had received a letter and a cable yesterday from Maj. Boxer, and expects him to be in this country by Christmas.

Maj. Boxer was divorced last year from his wife, Ursula, who lives in England, after Miss Hahn had told the world about her baby in a book entitled "China to Me." Carola is at the Winnetka home of Miss Hahn's sister, Mrs. Mitchell Dawson.

TWO ACQUITTED IN VAULT CASE ORDERED TRIED

Judge William J. Lindsay ruled in Criminal court yesterday that Willie Niemoth and Patsy Flaherty must stand trial Tuesday under a habitual criminal count in a new robbery indictment for the looting last Jan. 19 of the safety deposit vault in the E. H. Rumbold real estate office, 624 W. 119th st. The new indictment was voted by the grand jury after Niemoth and Flaherty were acquitted by a jury on a charge of burglary in connection with the vault looting.

FIRST NATIONAL PLANS 20 PCT. STOCK DIVIDEND

Annual Rate of $8 to Be Maintained

BY THOMAS FURLONG

Edward E. Brown, chairman of the First National Bank of Chicago, said yesterday a special meeting of stockholders will be held in December to authorize the distribution of a 20 per cent dividend in stock.

Directors plan to maintain the present $8 annual dividend rate on the increased number of shares, Brown said. The bank is now paying cash dividends of 4 million dollars a year and after the distribution has been made the outlay will be $4,800,000. The first cash dividend on the new shares will be paid April 1, 1946, under the plan.

Capital 60 Million Dollars

The action will raise the bank's capital to 60 million dollars from its present 50 millions. Altho the immediate effect will be to reduce the present surplus of 50 million dollars by 10 millions, the surplus at the end of this year will again be 50 millions, Brown said. The bank will also close the year with "several million dollars" of undivided profits and an unspecified amount of "interior reserves."

Brown announced the plans for the stock distribution after a meeting of directors at which preliminary steps to carry out the program were authorized. The directors also declared the regular quarterly dividend of $2 a share, payable Oct. 1, to stockholders of record Sept. 24.

Authorization Is Required

The first step will be obtaining the necessary authorization from the controler of the currency after which the directors are expected to take formal action calling a special meeting of stockholders in December.

The program authorized by the directors is conditional on there being no serious prospect at the time of the stockholders meeting of enactment of legislation making stock dividends taxable in 1945. Such dividends are not taxable under present laws, the Supreme court has held.

A stock dividend of 66⅔ per cent was distributed by the bank Jan. 1, 1944, which resulted in an increase in capital from 30 million dollars to the present 50 million dollars. Ten years earlier the bank had increased its capital by 5 millions thru the sale of stock to shareholders at $200 a share. Yesterday the shares were quoted at $320 bid, $326 asked.

Distribution January, 1946

The stock dividend contemplated would be distributed Jan. 1, 1946. The quarterly cash dividend usually paid on Jan. 1 will accrue to stockholders of a prior date with the first cash payment on the new shares expected to be made April 1.

In reply to questions Brown said that 1945 earnings are running "somewhat ahead" of last year because of a larger volume of loans and investments. Earnings for the full year cannot be estimated until directors determine the amount to be set aside for reserves at the year end, he said.

CONTRACT IS LET FOR ADDITION TO TORPEDO PLANT

A contract for the construction of of a million dollar torpedo storage and service building, 400 by 480 feet, at the navy's big torpedo manufacturing plant in Forest Park has been awarded to Charles B. Johnson & Son, Inc., of Chicago, it was announced yesterday. Designed by Burnham & Hammond, Chicago architects, it will be used for the storage and servicing of returned naval torpedoes.

Lt. Comdr. W. P. Rock, executive officer of the 10 million dollar torpedo plant which was opened Oct. 28, 1942, and closed since Aug. 20, said recently that it would be reopened soon with civil service employes. During the war the navy owned plant was operated by the Amertorp corporation, a subsidiary of the American Can company.

COURT PERMITS COVENANT CLUB LAND PURCHASE

Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg yesterday entered a decree permitting the sale of the land under the 11 story Covenant club, 10-20 N. Dearborn st., to Isadore Goldberg for $450,000 cash. The land fronts 94 feet on Dearborn and is 80 feet deep. Goldberg took title for the Covenant club, thus giving the club ownership of both land and building. The Mark Levy Realty company was broker.

Hotels to Offer Better, Varied Menus Soon

Chicago hotels expect to offer better foods in a larger variety in a few weeks, a survey disclosed yesterday.

Hotel men expressed an optimistic view on menu making because of a general improvement in supplies. More beef and chicken already are available, they said, with the possibility that all meat will be unrationed by Oct. 1.

Other favorable factors include the removal of cheese and canned goods from the ration lists and large crops of potatoes and cabbage, they said. One operator said the removal of red points from meat would permit more points for butter, a scarce item on hotel tables for several months.

Beef Not Aged Enough

The American Dairy association reports that butter already is being served more frequently in hotels, restaurants, dining cars, and other public eating places.

Increased supplies will also result in better quality dishes, the hotel men said. One explained that beef served in recent months had not been aged long enough, presumably because packers had to ship out immediately all available supplies. Another said his hotel had been serving frozen fowl, but recently had resumed serving only the fresh variety.

Meat stocks in cold storage thruout the country on Sept. 1 approximated 566,804,000 pounds, the smallest since June 1 and the least for the date in three years, the department of agriculture reported. Beef holdings, tho the lowest since June 1, were the largest on record for the date. Pork supplies were the lowest on record for Sept. 1.

Chef Can Do His Stuff Again

Several hotels already are serving ice cream of pre-war quality, it was said. Regulations which reduced the cream content from 30 per cent to 18 per cent were revoked recently, and enabled elimination some of the ices which were substituted for ice cream.

The prospect of increased supplies is considered a "blessing" by several hotel men, especially in view of the revocation of the convention ban and probability of a high level of patronage by train and automobile travelers.

"Pretty soon our chef will have something to work on, something he can use his imagination on," one operator said. "Soon he won't have to tear out his hair, if he has any left, trying to get some food on the tables. Now he can really go to work on his job."

UNION REJECTS STANDARD OIL'S PAY HIKE OFFER

The Standard Oil Employes association, an independent union representing 4,500 of 5,500 employes of the Standard Oil company [Indiana] refinery at Whiting, has rejected the company's offer of Thursday for a 15 per cent wage increase for a 40 hour work week, George Shabl, vice president of the union, announced yesterday.

The union had asked a 30 per cent increase so pay for the new 40 hour week would equal earnings for the war time week of 48 hours. Both the company and union agreed to negotiate further.

TEXAS PLANS PAY HIKES

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—The Texas company today said its policy will be to raise basic wage rates and salaries 15 per cent as the various plants now working more than 40 hours a week revert to a 40 hour basis. All salaries below $7,800 a year will be affected.

PART OF RIGHTS TO WILLOW RUN WAIVED BY FORD

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 14 (AP)—The Ford Motor company announced today that it will waive its option and purchase rights to the land and buildings of the giant Willow Run bomber plant, effective Sept. 20, but will retain a six months privilege of matching the best offers obtained by the government for the plant or items of equipment.

H. L. Moekle, secretary of the Ford company, which built 8,685 B-24 bombers in the plant during the war, explained that the relinquished option rights gave Ford the privilege of buying all, but not part, of the bomber facilities at cost less normal depreciation.

Extend 33 Million Credits to Chilean Corporation

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—The export-import bank today announced credits totaling 33 million dollars had been authorized for the Fomento corporation of Chile. Wayne C. Taylor, president, said 28 million would be used to help finance purchases in this country of equipment and services for a steel mill in Concepcion, Chile.

PEOPLE AND EVENTS

Lt. William N. Clark

Lt. William N. Clark, on military leave from the TRIBUNE's business news staff, recently was awarded the bronze star for his part in the Luzon campaign. Lt. Clark, who entered the army as a private and was promoted from the ranks, has been on active service in the Pacific for nearly three years with the 42d infantry division.

Formation of the law firm of McCarthy and Levin was announced yesterday. Partners are John F. McCarthy, former OPA rent director for the Chicago area, and Robert E. Levin, chief enforcement officer of the area rent division. Offices are at 110 S. Dearborn st.

Ziff-Davis Publishing company, Chicago publisher of magazines and trade papers, is shifting its book division from New York to Chicago, announced B. G. Davis, general manager. He said the move will give Chicago its first general book publishing house.

The National Association of Bank Auditors and Comptrollers have elected as president Ben. N. Jenkins, assistant vice president of the First National Bank and Trust company, Oklahoma City.

William E. Zipp, until recently sales manager of the manufacturing division of Ceco Steel Products corporation, Cicero, has been elected vice president in charge of the manufacturing division's sales.

STEEL PAY HIKE INFLATIONARY, MAKERS WARN

Fairless, Ryerson Assail Plan

The $2 a day wage increase to be demanded by the CIO Steel Workers' union could be met only by boosting steel prices, two industry leaders warned yesterday. The pay program was criticized in Chicago by Edward L. Ryerson, chairman of the board of the Inland Steel company, and in New York by Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the United States Steel corporation.

Edward L. Ryerson

Ryerson said a $2 a day increase would be highly inflationary. It would compel the steel industry to boost prices to its customers and the latter would have to add the increased cost of the steel to the prices they charge for their own products. In the ensuing inflation spiral steel workers with the rest of the public would be the victims of rising costs.

Termed Inflation Menace

"The wage situation is terribly dangerous and is entirely out of line with the nation's effort to maintain a sound economy during the reconversion period," Ryerson said. "The situation is especially menacing for its inflation aspects—steel price boosts would automatically be followed by price increases for many other products.

"Recent government pronouncements indicating approval for wage increases come at the same time the government has been issuing warnings about the dangers of inflation. Thus we have the government in a highly contradictory position."

Ryerson estimated the cost of the pay increase to the steel industry at about 275 million dollars annually and to his own company at about $9,600,000 annually. He said the industry is not making a good showing financially in the second half of 1945 and the added cost of increased wages would put it in the red.

Reports Data Sent OPA

Fairless said no matter how much United States Steel may believe in high wages, pay cannot be increased in the steel industry at this time unless prices are hiked materially. The office of price administration has data from the major steel companies which show than on an overall average basis they are losing money on two-thirds the tonnage they produce, Fairless said.

"The reason is simple," he explained. "It is because costs of making steel products, primarily labor costs, went up during the war far more rapidly than they could be absorbed, while, except for minor adjustments, OPA ceiling prices did not advance."

Fairless said the $2 a day increase would mean a 32 per cent increase in the basic labor rate and a 21 per cent increase in the average over-all straight time rate in United States Steel's producing plants. He estimated the increased cost of making steel from this demand alone would be $6 a ton.

Average Placed at $9.20 a Day

Saying that United States Steel on many occasions has declared in favor of high wages, Fairless estimated average steel workers with an average hourly wage rate of $1.15, without consideration for overtime, will take home $9.20 for an 8 hour day. Two steel workers of each three earn more than $1 an hour at present rates without considering overtime, he said.

"The wage dollars which go into pay envelopes do not grow on trees," Fairless said. "They come from the people who buy steel products. The man who buys a washing machine, refrigerator, automobile, house, farm implement, and a host of other things will have to pay any steel worker's wage increase thru increased prices of steel."

N. A. S. D. Fair Practice Rules Put in Effect

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP)—The National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., received the "go ahead" today from the securities and exchange commission to enforce rules making officers and employes of member firms equally responsible with the firms for observance of N. A. S. D. fair practice rules. The new rules become effective tomorrow and will permit member firms to employ as traders, salesmen, and solicitors only those persons registered with the association.

The commission, in its decision "not to disapprove" the proposed rules, said the N. A. S. D. must give assurance that the program "will not be operated oppressively against registered representatives."

Must Not Be Oppressive

"How the program will work out in this regard we cannot tell," the commission said. "Should the program be oppressively administered we would have ample basis for abrogation of the amendments or for requiring additional amendments to N. A. S. D.'s rules."

The commission also announced it has the power, under law, to scrutinize and review the N. A. S. D.'s treatment of registered representatives to the same extent the law permits it to review treatment of N. A. S. D. members.

In answer to the contention of opposing securities dealers that the rules were not in keeping with the securities exchange act, SEC said it had considered both the legislation and the intention of congress in passing it.

View of Commission

"In the light of these considerations we think it abundantly clear that a program such as that proposed by N. A. S. D., is within the scope of its functions under the act," it said.

"In broad outline, the proposed amendments are clearly directed to remedying deficiencies in N. A. S. D.'s procedure for carrying out its statutory functions which have appeared in the course of its experience."

RADIO STATIONS, NETWORKS MAKE REVENUE GAINS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—Net revenues of networks and standard radio stations increased 25.87 per cent in 1944 over 1943, the federal communications commission reported today.

The four major and five regional networks and 875 standard stations in the United States, Hawaii, Alaska, and Puerto Rico had net revenues from the sale of time of $246,339,532 last year, compared with $195,704,153 reported by the nine networks and 841 stations in 1943.

The networks and stations also received $28,959,079 from the sale of talent and other incidental broadcast activities, compared with $19,613,621. Forty-one stations reported losses in 1944, compared with 94 in 1943.

Finish 40 New Oil Wells in Illinois During Week

Centralia, Ill., Sept. 14 (AP)—The Midwest Oil Journal today reported 51 new oil well drilling operations in Illinois in the week ended Thursday, with 40 tests completed as new wells.

AUTOMOBILE FINANCE COMPANIES REDUCE RATES FOR DEALERS

Several major commercial finance companies yesterday reduced to the lowest levels on record the interest rates on funds borrowed by automobile dealers to finance new car purchases from manufacturers.

The reductions generally bring rates down to 3 per cent or lower, compared with 4 per cent before the war. The cuts were made to expedite the flow of new cars to consumers by encouraging larger stocks in dealers' hands. The interest is figured on the time the automobiles remain in dealers' garages.

A 3 per cent rate was announced by General Motors Acceptance corporation, C. I. T. Financial corporation, and the Commercial Credit company. Commercial indicated that a change would be made in consumer financing.

The Bank of America announced a dealer rate of 2½ per cent, and said dealers could set their own credit limits. Associates Investment company said its financing rates to dealers would be reduced "substantially."

Ward's Profit Rises as Sales Set New High

Sewell Avery, chairman of Montgomery Ward & Co., yesterday reported operations in the six months ended July 31, first half of the big merchandising house's fiscal year, resulted in substantially higher net earnings and record sales.

Net profits were $8,401,102, or $1.48 a share, after deducting dividend requirements on the class A stock, compared with $6,846,736, or $1.18 a share, a year earlier, after adjusting federal taxes to the final tax base.

Earnings 6.8 Per Cent of Sales

Earnings before taxes were $19,816,102, or 6.8 per cent of sales, compared with $15,786,736 and 6 per cent of sales in the 1944 period, Avery said.

Sales swelled 9.2 per cent to $289,787,519, a new record for the spring season, exceeding by $5,415,494 the previous high established in the spring of 1943.

The army is holding some Ward properties, which were seized during a labor dispute, but Avery said "company accounting procedures have been maintained in the seized properties without interruption."

WEATHER HOLDS RETAIL BUSINESS TO NARROW GAIN

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—Extremes of weather in different parts of the country this week narrowed the gain in retail business to 3 to 7 per cent over a year ago, Dunn & Bradstreet said today.

"Food supplies rose and the increase was reflected in larger volume," the agency said. "Inventories in several lines remained small but there was some indication of easing."

REED DEMANDS U.S. RETURN JOB RULE TO STATES

Bill Would Abolish WMC in 90 Days

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14—A bill to abolish the war man power commission and transfer federal employment facilities back to the states was introduced today by Sen. Reed [R., Kas.]. He said his purpose was to take the control of "every day local affairs" away from the federal government.

Reed's bill would provide for the return of state employment facilities and personnel which were loaned to the federal government early in the war. War time functions of the WMC would be abolished, but activities transferred to the agency from the labor department would be returned.

Effective in 90 Days

Provisions of the bill would take effect 90 days after its enactment. An amendment to the war agencies appropriations act last June, proposed by Sen. Saltonstall [R., Mass.], provides for the return of employment services to the states six months after the official termination of the war, a date not yet set by congress or the President.

Reed, in a speech introducing his bill, said he was opposed to two propositions which he said the administration has had in mind for 12 years. These are:

1. The evident intention to make the states provinces of the federal government, bearing the same relation to the federal government that counties bear to state governments.

2. Regionalization of the nation into seven or nine areas to be ruled by administrators appointed by the President.

System Blamed for Confusion

Reed said the present system of government control of registration of those seeking jobs and the states' payment of unemployment benefits is producing confusion. He urged that the two functions be combined in one state agency.

Administration supporters of the pending unemployment compensation bill—amended in committee yesterday to provide for federal supplementation of state benefits only at the requests of states—have argued that employment service and unemployment aid should be federal responsibilities.

"The farther from home the administration of every day local affairs is controled," said Reed, "the less chance of the individual's having any rights. I do not admit that we fought this war to the end that the individual shall become the pawn of the all-powerful national state."

WHEAT IS FIRM, ACTIVE; OTHER GRAINS DECLINE

Wheat futures prices were firm, but other grains closed mostly lower yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. September wheat sold at $1.68¼ a bushel early, up ⅝ cent from Thursday on buying induced by prospects of a large European demand and the entrance of the government into the market for 1¾ million sacks of flour for September-November shipment to England.

Closing trades in wheat were unchanged to ½ cent higher. Selling developed in September rye and futures finished 1 cent lower to ¼ higher, oats lost ⅝ to ¾, barley, ¼ to ¾, and corn ¼.

CANADA HIKES EXPORT PRICE

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 14 (AP)—The Canadian wheat board today announced it had increased its export price for wheat from $1.46 to $1.55. The former export price for wheat to Britain and countries receiving mutual aid was 21 cents above the domestic price of $1.25.

Industry Permitted to Use Part of U. S. Zinc Stocks

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—Part of a 187,000 ton government stockpile of zinc will be available to supply deficiencies of industrial reconversion during the next six months, a WPB official said today in disclosing the size of the inventory for the first time. "Barring unseen demands," however, WPB did not expect industry would need to tap the stockpile to any large extent.

Stocks Meet Long Awaited Price Reverse

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—The stock market experienced a long expected reverse today after eleven successive sessions without a single loss in the average, but the reaction was not severe.

The hesitancy which appeared yesterday was evident at the opening, and prices then began to slip. Declines ran to 2 or more points for numerous leaders at the lows. Sales totaled 1,020,000 shares.

Accounts were lightened in most cases on a belief that the succession of eight year highs had made the list vulnerable and possibly had discounted much post-war prosperity.

Aircrafts dipped substantially after a pessimistic statement by Donald Douglas regarding private and military contract cancellations.

BONDS DULL AND MIXED

New York, Sept. 14 (AP).—The bond market was irregular today. The more active rails had as many losers as gainers and in most instances changes were in fractions. The same narrow range held in the utilities, United States government issues, and the foreign department. Sales totaled only $4,470,000.

CHICAGO LIST DIPS

Prices closed mostly lower in slightly reduced turnover of 45,000 shares yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Trading broadened, however, to 132 issues, of which 36 advanced and 60 declined. Among more active issues were Armour, up ⅝ to set a 1945 peak of 10½; Miller and Hart, up ¼; Commonwealth Edison, up ⅛; Peabody Coal, down ¼, and Chicago corporation, down ⅝.

GERMAN MARKET OPEN

FRANKFORT-ON-MAIN, Germany Sept. 14 (AP)—The Frankfort Stock exchange reopened today with prices higher than in the last days of the Nazi regime. Records uncovered by Americans first mention the Frankfort exchange in 1604 when it was in its 19th year.

RFC TO OFFER 5 PIPE LINES SOON FOR SALE, LEASE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14 (AP)—The Reconstruction Finance corporation announced today that operation of five government owned pipe lines will be discontinued within 30 to 60 days. Plans to relinquish two of the five lines had been disclosed recently. A sixth line owned by RFC, from Fostoria to Akron, O., is being operated under lease by a private company.

The five other lines to be sold or leased to commercial interests by the surplus property board are: Big Inch—A 24 inch line from Long View, Tex., to the New York harbor area; Little Big Inch—A 20 inch line from Beaumont, Tex., to New York; Florida Emergency Line—An 8 incher from Carabelle to Jacksonville, Fla.; extension of the Plantation Pipe Line—8 inch line from Greensboro, N. C., to Richmond, Va.; Southwest Emergency—A 14 and 16 inch line from Corpus Christi to Houston, Tex.

The RFC estimated that shipments during its operation of the five lines will have totaled about 327 million barrels of crude and 156 million of petroleum products, principally gasoline and heating oils. Investment in the lines totaled $159,575,000.

PRICES OF LIVE STOCK FIRM THO RECEIPTS GAIN

Farmers increased their shipments of all classes of meat animals to the Chicago stock yards yesterday, but buying demand was strong and prices held at firm levels.

Best steers were bid up to the $18 a hundred pounds ceiling and the majority sold at $16 to $17.85. Sales of inferior grades of cattle ranged downward to $9.

The market for fat lambs held stedy to strong at the highest prices of the month. Top grades sold at $13.75.

Buyers bid in the supply of hogs at the ceiling prices of $14.75 for nearly all barrows and gilts and $14 for all packing sows and stags.

Cook, Du Page County War Plant Layoffs Dip

Manufacturing industries in Cook and Du Page counties laid off only 309 workers this week because of cutbacks in war contracts, the joint program information committee said yesterday. The layoffs were lowest for any week since cutbacks began.

SHORT VERSUS LONG TERM

A question that puzzles me is why short term obligations, maturing in, say, five years, yield less than long term bonds and notes of the same grade. What is the particular value to the investor of the short maturity?—P. C.

If the investor has to wait only five years for his money, obviously the risk is less than if the waiting period is 20 years. Even if payment at maturity is considered equally assured in each case, many investors may wish to sell their holdings in the meantime. The chance that market values might be adversely affected by an advance in interest rates or changes in political, financial, or industrial conditions is increased as the maturity period lengthens.

As a sound issue nears the redemption or maturity date the price is likely to hold near the par value or redemption price, but in the past bonds of distant maturity have had wide price fluctuations, governed mainly by changes in the general level of interest rates.

Banks prefer to have a large part of their assets in loans or securities maturing within relatively short periods because their deposits are largely payable on demand. The enormous bank demand for short term issues is a principal explanation for the lower yields. Price stability is not so important to investors with no liabilities that might require liquidation in times of market unsettlement.

Selection of short term investments requires especial care. Sometimes corporations sell them because they cannot arrange for long term borrowing at a satisfactory interest rate.

SYNTHETIC TIRE GAINS EQUALITY WITH RUBBER

Inner Tubes Rated Far Superior

BY PHILIP HAMPSON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Akron, O., Sept. 14—When the 1946 automobiles are delivered their synthetic rubber tires will give essentially the same excellent performance as that of pre-war natural rubber tires, Akron manufacturers today assured the motoring public. Further, cars equipped with synthetics safely may be driven as fast as those equipped with natural rubber, the experts said.

Dr. Waldo L. Semon

Synthetic rubber tires developed thru war necessity have provided good service and constant improvements are being made as a result of continued research and increased manufacturing experience.

Improve Anti-Skid Qualities

Soon to be announced are new tread designs and tread structures expected to improve greatly the anti-skid qualities of synthetic tires.

When can the former A gasoline card holder walk into a dealer's shop and buy four new tires? Akron manufacturers cannot give the exact date, but hope that by next summer it will be possible for any one to buy a tire or two.

The manufacturers expect tire rationing to end this year. Present passenger tire capacity is at a rate of about 110 million tires a year, compared with a pre-war annual output rate of 65 millions. Production this fall will exceed previous estimates by a wide margin, but will be far short of demand.

Prices Are Stabilized

Prices are stabilized under ceilings based largely on pre-war natural rubber tire figures. Manufacturers will not predict what may happen when the government removes its price controls for GRS rubber produced largely in government owned plants.

Most manufacturers agree that the tires to be made later will be composed partly of natural and partly of synthetic rubber, with possibly a little more natural than synthetic used. This opinion is based on the facts as of today, tho improvements in the synthetics have come so fast that conditions may be changed materially

JUDGES SPLIT AS TO DIVORCE WORK PER DAY

Superior court judges assigned to the divorce calendar yesterday were reported to be in disagreement over the number of cases they should hear each day. The issue reportedly developed at a closed conference Thursday of Judge John P. McGoorty, head of the Superior court's chancery division, with Judges Frank M. Padden, Edwin A. Robson and Peter M. Schwaba.

Judge McGoorty, it was said, suggested that the judges reduce the number of calls to 10 a day. Observers pointed out that this would mean that six years would be required to dispose of the approximately 13,000 cases now pending. New cases, they added, are being filed at the rate of 16,000 a year.

Also reportedly under fire was the assignment of only three of 20 judges to the divorce calendar, and the dearth of divorce filings in Circuit court, where, it was reported, only 800 divorce cases are pending.
